Subject: [EXTERNAL] US v. Rashid Al Malik

Mr. Martin:

I appreciate the opportunity to advocate for the dismissal of the indictment against our client, Rashid Al-Malik. I had engaged earlier with Aakash Singh and, following his guidance, had further dealings with the remaining prosecutor in the EDNY. This email and the corresponding attachments include the information previously provided Mr. Singh with additional information on the recent engagement with EDNY.

As you may know, Rashid was indicted along with the Chairman of President Trump's first Inaugural Committee, Tom Barrack, for allegedly acting as unregistered agents for the UAE in violation of 18 USC § 951, and conspiracy to commit such violation. Mr. Barrack was also charged with seven additional counts of obstruction and false statements related to interviews he gave the FBI and the US Attorney's Office for the EDNY. (Attachment 1)

Rashid, along with Mr. Barrack's personal assistant, Matthews Grimes, were collateral damage amidst the political weaponization of the Department against Mr. Barrack. After a two-month trial, Mr. Barrack and Mr. Grimes were acquitted – with jury deliberations lasting less than 12 hours. Despite these acquittals, and our repeated requests, the Department has not dismissed the case against Rashid.

We met with the prosecutors in EDNY in October of 2023, and followed that meeting with a written request for dismissal and statement of reasons. (Attachment 2)

Having no success with the AUSAs who had prosecuted Mr. Barrack and Mr. Grimes, we subsequently wrote to the EDNY's Chief of the Criminal Division and then-Chief of the DOJ's Counterintelligence and Export Control Section (Attachment 3); followed shortly thereafter with a meeting.

In mid-February of this year, following the issuance of Attorney General Bondi's Memorandum on General Policy Regarding Charging, Plea Negotiations, and Sentencing we emailed the prosecutor in EDNY. We repeated our request for the dismissal of the indictment against Rashid, pointing out the AG's directive that "Recourse to criminal charges under the Foreign Agents Registration Act (FARA) and 18 U.S.C. § 951 shall be limited to instances of alleged conduct similar to more traditional espionage by foreign government actors." (Attachment 4). While dismissal of the case against Rashid is justified on the merits, I note that were the Bondi Memo in place in July of 2021 this case would not have been indicted as it would have violated Department policy.

On April 21, while in New York on another matter, I met with one of the remaining prosecutors, AUSA Ryan Harris, about the status of our request for dismissal. AUSA Harris explained that he had discussed the case with Interim US Attorney John Durham, who requested a written memo on the matter. AUSA Harris explained that he was in the process of preparing the memo and would be back in touch after the memo had been provided to the Interim US Attorney.

Shortly thereafter, the Interim US Attorney was replaced by President Trump's nominee for US Attorney for the EDNY, Judge Joseph Nocella. I wrote AUSA Harris, once again, and he advised that he was not in a position to advise as to when the new US Attorney would be able to address the case (Attachment 5).

Rashid has never been an agent for the UAE. He worked with Tom Barrack and supported President Trump. Since 2010, Rashid has sought to bring economic prosperity to the United States through a variety of real estate projects with investment from our Gulf Allies – exactly what President Trump has been undertaking.

It should be noted that during Mr. Barrack's trial, prosecutors sought to portray the UAE as something less than an ally of the United States. Were a trial to proceed now, the remaining alleged coconspirators would be:

We would welcome the opportunity to discuss this matter further with you and answer any questions you may have. Thank you.

Ed,

Dak Kees, a former US Attorney from the Western District of Arkansas during President Trump's first term, reached out to me yesterday to ask if I knew the right point of contact for him to reach out to in order to submit a pardon request.

I said that by happenstance I actually do.

I've copied him on this email so that if you are inclined to do so, you can point him to the correct point of contact on your staff.

Hope all is well with you in your new roles.

God bless,

Paul, here you go. I kept off Aakash. I know it's a lot but can provide additional materials if necessary.

Hatchet Speed Pardon Issue:
Below is an over view of the conduct and posture at issue in the Speed case, drawn primarily from various court documents (have removed any citation and exhibit references). Additionally, Will Glaser shared the supplemental brief filed in the Fifth Circuit setting forth the government's new position on silencers. (b)(5) per EOUSA The PDF attached is Speed's appellate filing from today arguing the appeal is moot due to pardon, which we anticipate will require us to respond soon(see above).

- Speed came to the attention of the FBI following his participation in the incursion at the United States Capitol Building on January 6, 2021. In the ensuing investigation, law enforcement identified Speed as a naval reservist holding a top-secret security clearance. They further discovered that, in the four months following January 6, 2021, Speed spent over $50,000 on at least twelve firearms and various parts and ammunition because—as he explained to an undercover employee of the FBI ("UCE")—he felt the need to "panic buy[]" firearms during this time. Speed's comments to the UCE glorified convicted domestic terrorists and attempted to rationalize the use of violence to further his expressed anti-government and anti-Semitic beliefs.

- Specifically, as relates to the EDVA case, after learning that it could take up to a year for him to take possession of legally purchased and registered silencers, Speed placed an online order for devices marketed as solvent traps, which were intended to be used as silencers and were the same caliber as the legal silencers he had just purchased. Subsequently, Speed told an undercover agent that he had plans to conduct kidnappings and "wipe out" Jewish people in furtherance of his anti-Semitic ideology (see word document of UC meeting excerpts describing antisemitism and criticism of President Trump). Speed praised the approach of jihadists and suggested their approach would be an effective way to "wipe out the opposition," referring to the Jews. Speed acknowledged his solvent traps would be useful for this purpose. Ultimately, Speed proceeded to trial, where he was convicted of three counts of possession of unregistered silencers.

- Speed has asked for our position on a joint motion to dismiss the case against him, arguing that his EDVA case is covered by the Jan. 6 pardon. (b)(5) per EOUSA (b)(5) per EOUSA

Background

- As briefly related to the events of January 6, 2021, Speed believed that fraud occurred during the 2020 presidential election and the election had been stolen. On January 6, 2021, the defendant participated in the mob at the U.S. Capitol that obstructed Congress's certification of the Electoral College vote, believing that it "'was the last opportunity to stop the steal,'" id. at 8. The defendant predicted ominous consequences arising from the certification of the election.

- A couple of weeks later, the defendant emphasized the need for political violence. On January 23, 2021, just a few days after the presidential inauguration, R.W. emailed the defendant and asked, "What are the PB's saying?" The term "PB's" was a reference to the Proud Boys—an organization that the defendant had been a member of since June 2020. The defendant responded to R.W., "About anything in particular, or just the coup in general?" The defendant stated that the Proud Boys were "lying low, letting all the conservatives who criticized the events of the 6th learn for themselves that surrendering to the communists will only mean more violence." The defendant further stated, "Conservatives need to overcome their aversion to direct action, but we can't take that journey for them. We'll see how much oppression they need to experience before they wake up."

- Against this backdrop, the defendant went on a firearm-buying spree from February 11, 2021, to May 26, 2021. During that period, the defendant purchased at least twelve firearms (rifles, shotguns, and handguns) and spent more than $40,000 at stores that sold firearms, firearm accessories, and ammunition. He later made comments to the UCE and a coworker that he was "panic buying" around that time.

- On February 15, 2021, during the time that he was panic buying, the defendant purchased four silencers from Silencer Shop, a company in Texas, for $4,109.00. Two of the silencers were for a 9mm caliber firearm, and two of the silencers were for a .45 caliber firearm. See Ex. F, at 24-25. The defendant paid for four NFA tax stamps and completed paperwork for the ATF Forms 4.3. The defendant then faced delay in getting the necessary approval for the transfer of the silencers. On March 11, 2021, the defendant received an email from Silencer Shop informing him that his "application was received by the ATF and the payment for [his] tax stamp(s) was cashed." Id. ¶ 21. The email stated that "[f]or many people, the best way to pass the time waiting for their approval is to just forget about it, but we realize that can be hard." The email provided the defendant with resources for tracking approval times for NFA transfers.

- Faced with the delay in obtaining the silencers, the defendant purchased three devices from Hawk Innovative Tech, a company in Georgia, on March 17, 2021. He spent a total of $887.49 to purchase the three devices and two adapters. Like the silencers that he was waiting for the approval to receive from Silencer Shop, one of the devices was for a 9mm caliber firearm and another was for a .45 caliber firearm. The third device was for a .223/5.56 caliber firearm. These devices were not registered to the defendant in the National Firearms Registration and Transfer Record (NFRTR). In sharp contrast to the silencers that he bought and sought to register from Silencer Shop (the transfer of which was still pending approval), the defendant received these unregistered devices from Hawk Innovative Tech on March 23, 2021, less than a week after purchasing them. See Ex. F, at 29. Hawk Innovative Tech marketed the devices as "particulate filters," "solvent traps," and "solvent filters," ostensibly to be used to capture and recycle solvent fluid when cleaning the barrel of a firearm. See PSR ¶ 31; Ex. G, at 59. But as proven at trial, the devices were actually designed to be silencers, not solvent traps. On or about April 14, 2021, less than a month after the defendant's purchase, the ATF seized Hawk Innovative Tech's website. The seizure notice on the website cautioned people that "[t]he possession of a silencer sold by Hawk Innovative Tech may be a violation of federal law" and that "[i]f you are in possession of a silencer sold by Hawk Innovative Tech, you should contact your nearest ATF office."

- In February 2022, a UCE met the defendant for the first time at a coffee shop in Vienna, Virginia, presenting as a like-minded individual. After that initial interaction, the defendant and the UCE got together again on multiple occasions. During two of these meetings, the defendant made comments demonstrating that he knew the Hawk Innovative Tech devices were designed as silencers and that he possessed them for that reason.

- At one point during an April 7 meeting, the defendant confirmed to the UCE that he maintained the solvent traps to potentially use in an act of violence in furtherance of his anti-Semitic ideology. The defendant discussed trying to figure out how to identify potential targets who were "in [his] neighborhood" and "reachable by someone like [him]," even suggesting that he was thinking of Anti-Defamation League people who were "pretty high up." The defendant then suggested using a "mock trial" in which he would "write down the arguments for and against . . . and come to a decision, then say, okay, now this person' . . . 'I can put this person on the list and I know I'm sure.'" At this point of the discussion, the UCE asked the defendant, "You think at that point your . . . solvent traps would come in handy?" The defendant asked, "My what?" Id. The UCE asked again, "your solvent traps would come in handy at that point?" The defendant responded, "Yeah. Yeah, that's the idea." Id. (emphasis added).

- After that exchange, the defendant praised the approach of jihadists and suggested that their methods would be an effective way to "wipe out" the opposition, referring to Jewish people. The defendant explained that because two percent of the U.S. population is Jewish, if just "three percent" of the country took action against the Jewish population, "we can literally win just on the numbers." The defendant told the UCE that "as soon as we pull our trigger against the fucking person, you will succeed" and "have done more than your fair share." He advocated to "just take out one here, one there . . . [m]aybe every few months" and that "[i]t doesn't necessarily have to be a full-time thing," "but we're doing something that's going to have a big impact." In this conversation, the defendant continued by describing how kidnappings would be "harder" but "more effective" than simply killing people.

- Over the course of his meetings with the UCE in early 2022, the defendant made other comments demonstrating a proclivity to use violence in furtherance of his anti-government and anti-Semitic beliefs. Of notable concern, the defendant made comments that he was trying to learn from notorious convicted domestic terrorists Eric Rudolph and Ted Kaczynski (also known as the "Unabomber") by reading their manifestos. He stated that he was "trying to find more books like that," from which he took away "yeah, you're assassinating bad guys, that's cool, but if it's approved . . . you're always killing the small fry, you're never actually going after the people who actually," before trailing off. He stated that "as people who can see their country fall deeper and deeper into wherever we're going, we all know we have to do something[,] so it's useful to see what worked and what didn't work. So, it's useful to get into these people's heads and . . . try and come up with a better game plan than they had."

Search of Residence

- On June 22, 2022, law enforcement searched the defendant's residence and storage unit. In searching his storage unit, the agents seized the three Hawk Innovative Tech silencers, which were still in their original packaging and had not been modified. Also from the storage unit, the agents seized eight firearms, more than 18,000 rounds of ammunition, and numerous firearm accessories, including three silencers that the defendant purchased in June 2020 and various firearm sights, lights, and optics. From the defendant's residence, the agents seized another firearm and ammunition, and the four silencers that the defendant purchased from Silencer Shop in February 2021. The agents did not seize an additional three firearms from his residence and two from his storage unit because they determined the search warrant did not authorize them to seize those weapons.

Charges / Disposition

- In September 2022, Defendant Hatchet Speed was indicted on three counts of unlawful possession of an unregistered silencer, in violation of 26 U.S.C. §§ 5841, 5861, and 5871. Speed's first trial began on December 12, 2022, and resulted in a hung jury. His second trial began on January 17, 2023, and resulted in convictions on all counts.

- On April 13, 2023, Hatchet Speed was sentenced in the Eastern District of Virginia to a term of 36 months incarceration and a three-year term of supervised release, to be served concurrently, for three counts of violating 26. U.S.C. §§ 5841, 5861(d), and 5871 (possession of an unregistered firearm). He was committed to the custody of the BOP. On May 8, 2023, Speed was sentenced in the District of Columbia to 48 months imprisonment for felony and misdemeanor offenses related to January 6, to be served consecutively to his EDVA sentence. Following President Trump's pardon on January 21, 2025, for individuals convicted of January 6 offenses, (b)(5) per EOUSA [redacted]

- On appeal, Speed challenged his convictions on several grounds, asserting that there was insufficient evidence to support his convictions, the district court improperly excluded evidence of his mistake-of-law defense, the district court improperly instructed the jury on the definition of a firearm silencer, the definition of a firearm silencer is unconstitutionally vague, and the prohibition on possessing unregistered silencers violates the Second Amendment. His appeal has been fully briefed since we filed our response brief in January 2024. (Speed did not file a reply.) The Fourth Circuit tentatively calendared the appeal for oral argument during the May 2024 argument session, but then sua sponte placed the appeal in abeyance pending its decision in three Second Amendment appeals the Court heard en banc in March 2024. In November 2024, the Fourth Circuit sua sponte placed the appeal in abeyance pending the Supreme Court's decision in VanDerStok. The appeal remains in abeyance.

Happy to provide more or follow up if you need it.

Very good. Thank you for your forbearance.

I am going to speak to Mr. Martin about whether to add all 90 names in the system, or to treat it as a class pardon. Either way, we cannot make the petition. It has to come organically from the outside.

Hi, Neil. It appears the situation is much better than initially feared.

Jim Byron has assured me he's never mentioned the pardon petition to anyone at DOJ. He was chatting with Diego about Nixon in general, who then urged him to get in touch with Andrew Boutros and Chris Deloren, other big Nixon supporters.

He did talk with Boutros (alone), who told him he'd hosted me for a presentation at the University of Chicago in 2015. The idea at that time was that recently retired Seventh Circuit Judge Richard Posner might take on the case as a Writ of Coram Nobis, but he turned out to be uninterested.

Boutros may be someone to keep in mind for the future.

Hi, Neil --

I have spoken to no one at DOJ, except you and I have copied you on every email to Jim Byron.

The leak, such as it is, came from my asking Jim Byron to write one of the three letters required by your office's form. He is the only one I've spoken to. Near as I can tell, he spoke with Diego Pestana yesterday, who urged him to contact US Atty Andrew Boutros. That call was scheduled for today at 1pm, but I texted Jim to say we couldn't go forward until the Pardon Attorney had approved my petition. Diego also suggested Jim be in touch with Chris DeLorenzo, who is described as the former law clerk to Judge Cannon in Florida who ruled Jeff Smith and Special Prosecution team were operating without constitutional authority. Chris is said to now be working at Main Justice.

I have had ongoing conversations with Mark Paoletta at OMB, stemming back over a decade. We had breakfast in the WH Mess about six weeks ago, when he introduced me to Russ Vought. The idea was that Russ would push the idea of a DOJ investigation of the wrongdoing I've uncovered, but nothing came of it. The idea of a pardon was never discussed.

This morning's text to Jim Byron ended with the idea that I would be coming to DC next week to meet with Ed Martin. I hope that can be arranged.

I had not socialized this idea with people at the White House, yet. I was trying to keep it a close hold, because Ed Martin is the Pardon Attorney, and he has to bring it up to the Pardon Czar Alice Johnson. We have not briefed the Deputy Attorney General.

The people you have read it, might tell the donor kids, who work for Todd Blanche, and who are always looking to scuttle out initiatives.

How many DOJ people did you read in already?

It's really hard to believe developments are coming together on all this. Just imagine the group that's coalescing:

- Niel McCabe, Senior Advisor to the Pardon Attorney, who interviewed me in 2018 when he was with One America News. He's the one who originally contacted me about submitting a pardon petition.
- Ed Martin, his boss, the Pardon Attorney, who we expect will forward the pardon recommendation to President Trump
- Jim Byron, Foundation President who is now Senior Advisor to the Acting National Archivist
- Diego Pestana, Counsel to the Deputy AG, who urged Jim Byron to get in touch with the US Atty in Chicago.
- Andrew Boutros, US Attorney for Northern District of Illinois, an experienced prosecutor who has agreed to support my pardon petition
- Andrew Kloster, General Counsel of Office of Personnel Management, who was an intern at Heritage Foundation in 2015, when I met with its Legal Working Group (chaired by Ed Meese) to discuss my second book, Inside the Real Watergate Scandal.
- Mark Paoletta, a former law partner of Tom Korologos, whom I've known for years and who is now OMB General Counsel and introduced me to his boss.
- Russ Vought, OMB Director, who has agreed to review the set of internal WSPF documents showing huge Due Process violations.
- Monica Crowley, Nixon Board member and now State Department Chief of Protocol

Let's hope it holds together through August 8th!

Good morning, Neil –
Upon reflection, a Letter of Apology (if we decide to go that route) is better addressed to the Nixon family rather than to the Nixon Foundation. I've attached a corrected draft.
Also attached is my list of the "Dirty Dozen" due process violations in the WSPF prosecutions. I taped segments on each yesterday in connection with the podcast being prepared for the next episode of Michael Patrick Leahy Investigates. That program will focus on due process and not mention anything about a pardon.

I was Gaetz's GC and the first to walk in the J6 files on the House side, and unrelated but that budget can be easily found here: Statement of Disbursements | house.gov The end of year budgets for the House in the relevant time period would break out the J6 committee relatively easily, and (b)(5) per OPM If you were able to work with House admin and determine, (b)(5) per OPM .

I am in by about 8 am until about 9:15am and then at Pardon until noon. 06:44:44 am

Jared (ODAG) Wise

I want to talk to Jonathan first too. But I agree it's time to figure this out. Just don't understand how formal we're supposed to be for documentation/report purposes vs. just figuring this out for our own intrigue/interest. If I call someone by myself, then it's just my memory that is the record? I'll give you more thoughts in person. 06:48:08 am

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

Yup. Maybe first talk is preliminary and if we need to get more on the record, it's a call back with another on the line. 06:51:17 am

2025/10/06

YunChong K. (PARDON) Yi

@Martin, @Edward @Jr. @(PARDON) Hi Ed: I reached out to Neil but could not get a hold of him. I just sent you an email about (b) (6). Could you please let me know if you've made a final decision and if it's termination, I will need you to sign the SF-52 personnel action form. Alternatively, if you want to delegate that to Kira or Jackie, I can have them sign the form and submit to JMD HR. Thank you. 12:19:42 pm

Per JMD HR, the memo is optional but the SF-52 personnel action form is required to process offboarding for an employee. 12:20:24 pm

@Martin, @Edward @Jr. @(PARDON) Also, let me know if you need help with your GovTA. I can walk through the process with you via Teams if required. 12:21:13 pm

@Martin, @Edward @Jr. @(PARDON) Good morning: Just confirming that your motorpool has been scheduled for 9:15am pick up at RFK and return at 12noon (last week you asked for a later pickup). Please let me know if we need to revise the time. 07:41:22 am

2025/12/16

YunChong K. (PARDON) Yi

@Martin, @Edward @Jr. @(PARDON) Ed: Just a reminder your first GC interview starts in 5 minutes at 8:30am. 08:25:45 am

@Martin, @Edward @Jr. @(PARDON) Just a reminder to please certify your WebTA today. Thank you. 10:01:29 am

2025/12/18

YunChong K. (PARDON) Yi

@Martin, @Edward @Jr. @(PARDON) Good morning, Ed. Your email requesting that we draft a memo didn't have an attachment but I talked to Jackie who had some more history/background on the issue and I will email you shortly. 10:02:30 am

If this is not what you need, let us know. 10:02:43 am

2025/12/30

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

can you do the senior staff meeting today? I am having trouble with my phone so can only do on laptop. I am in RFK so can do teams. 10:30 or 11 would be good but I am flexible too - later in the day is fine. 1pm or 2pm .... 10:12:02 am

YunChong K. (PARDON) Yi

I can do 11am if that still works for you. 10:27:58 am

@Martin, Edward Jr. (PARDON) 10:28:14 am

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

Yes although if we have not much to dicuss, I am ok forgoing it. 10:44:53 am

YunChong K. (PARDON) Yi

Kira and I are both available. I'll send a meeting invitation for 11am. Talk to you soon. 10:54:24 am

2026/02/05

YunChong K. (PARDON) Yi

@Martin, @Edward @Jr. @(PARDON) Ed: Your 12:30pm appointment, Martha Fain, is here very early. We have her waiting in the conference room. 11:48:57 am

2026/03/16

YunChong K. (PARDON) Yi

@Martin, @Edward @Jr. @(PARDON) Good morning, Ed. Will you be joining the senior staff meeting? 09:46:20 am

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

I'm here at work. Where are you? 09:47:18 am

YunChong K. (PARDON) Yi

Based on OPM weather predictions, we are TW today. 09:47:58 am

Hi @Martin, @Edward @Jr. @(PARDON) Motorpool is confirmed for 11:30AM pick up and 3:30PM pick up. They did not provide me with a driver's name for either trip but I will let you know if/when they do 11:19:29 am

2025/06/03

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

Eliot: today I need to leave at 11:45am going to Hart and then 1:45pm from Hart to RFK and then back to 2Con leaving RFK at 4:30pm please. 09:18:50 am

Eliot (PARDON) Sperling

Sure, I'll submit the request now. 09:22:56 am

@Martin, Edward Jr. (PARDON) the Motorpool team just informed me that they have several conflicts at 4:30PM. Does 5:00PM work for a pickup at Main DOJ? 10:41:47 am

2025/06/04

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

Eliot: good morning. Today, I need a ride from 2Con to the White House leaving at 9:30 AM. Then a ride from the White House to DOJ at 12:45 PM. And then back to the White House at 5:15 PM. The final ride is from the White House to 2Con at 7:30 PM if possible. The White House is hosting an event of political appointee starting at 6 PM. Can you please assist me with scheduling this? Thank you. 06:36:04 am

Eliot (PARDON) Sperling

Sure, I'll submit it now 07:20:47 am

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

Thx 08:09:00 am

Eliot: I'm at doj now. I left my paper on my desk. Is there a 10 am ride to wh? 09:58:29 am

Eliot (PARDON) Sperling

Yes! 10:00:35 am

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

No one here. 10:00:47 am

Eliot (PARDON) Sperling

I'll call them 10:02:13 am

Just sent you an email with the details 10:02:25 am

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

Ok. Still no one 10:04:30 am

Eliot (PARDON) Sperling

Driver is on the way. Stuck at a light on H street. Should be there momentarily 10:06:14 am

Just spoke with the coordinator 10:06:22 am

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

Ok. Thx! 10:06:43 am

Eliot (PARDON) Sperling

Sorry! (Now they are the ones who are late!) 10:07:00 am

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

Ha 10:09:55 am

Picked up and on my way. 10:12:02 am

Eliot (PARDON) Sperling

Great. Copy of the Motorpool details is in your email. Next ride is 12:45PM back to RFK 10:12:58 am

Edward Jr. (PARDON) Martin

Thx 10:13:14 am

This spreadsheet has contact information for clemency cases. This is from Kira: "Neil, I was able to find information about a number of people (and all the pardon applicants) but unfortunately not for everyone on the commutation list. Further, some of the information may e somewhat dated, but this is the best we can do with what is in our files, with BOP, or on public dockets." 08:05:04 am

‼️ US Attorney Lindsey Halligan fires back at James Comey judge who claimed she's a 'puppet'

"Personal attacks — like Judge Nachmanoff referring to me as a 'puppet' — don't change the facts or the law."

From nypost.com
