

From: Marilyn Sachs [mailto:marilynsac[REDACTED]]
Sent: Saturday, June 23, 2012 3:15 PM
To: Read, John [John.Read@ATR.USDOJ.gov]
Subject: Amazon and the book market

To; John Reed, U.S. Dept. Of Justice,

The Authors Guild and publishers have worked out an agreement where books can be sold fairly in bookstores, and online. To break this agreement would give Amazon a monopoly on most book sales, and put small bookstores out of business. I'm sure that is not something you would want. Thank you for your thoughtful understanding of this problem. This settlement is definitely in the public interest.

Respectfully.

Marilyn Sachs, Author of Childrens Books