BATON ROUGE, LA – Another Louisiana resident was indicted and another pled guilty in federal court on charges of fraud related to hurricane disaster relief programs, United States Attorney David R. Dugas announced today.

NYOKI JOHNSON, age 27, of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, was charged in a two-count indictment by a federal grand jury with making a false and fraudulent claim for disaster assistance benefits and with making false and fraudulent statements to FEMA. The charges resulted from an investigation conducted by the U.S. Secret Service and the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Office of Inspector General. If convicted, JOHNSON faces a maximum sentence of five years imprisonment, a $250,000 fine, or both, per count.

LATOYA K. DUNN, age 29, of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, pled guilty today before Chief U.S. District Court Judge Ralph E. Tyson to count one of an indictment charging her with making a false and fraudulent claim for disaster assistance benefits. The case was investigated by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, Office of Inspector General; and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. As a result of her guilty plea to count one of the indictment, DUNN faces a maximum sentence of five (5) years imprisonment, a $250,000 fine, or both. As part of the plea agreement, the U.S. Attorney's Office will dismiss count two of the indictment when DUNN is sentenced on count one.
