JUN 16 1989

Carol Atha Cosgrove, Esq.
Senior Assistant Attorney General
132 State Judicial Building
Atlanta, Georgia 30334

Dear Ms. Cosgrove:

This refers to acts of the Georgia General Assembly identified in Attachment A which established 48 additional superior court judgeships, specified the date on which the first full term of office commenced for each new judgeship, and established two superior court circuits and district attorney positions to serve those circuits in the State of Georgia, submitted to the Attorney General pursuant to Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended, 42 U.S.C. 1973c.

On June 27 and 28, 1988, we received from the State of Georgia the above-referenced voting changes along with a number of other changes in the superior court judicial system, which the State was submitting to the Attorney General for review under Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act. By letter dated August 26, 1988, a copy of which is attached, the Attorney General responded in a timely manner by preclearing several of the changes and indicating, with respect to the voting changes here at issue, that "the information provided [was] insufficient to enable the Attorney General to determine that the proposed changes do not have the purpose and will not have the effect of denying or abridging the right to vote on account of race or color." Accordingly, and in conformity with our Section 5 guidelines, we requested that certain items of additional information be provided. See the Procedures for the Administration of Section 5 (28 C.F.R. 51.37). At that time we noted the caution in our guidelines at 28 C.F.R. 51.40 that if the State did not provide the requested information within sixty days of the request, the Attorney General could interpose an objection to the submitted changes consistent with the burden of proof placed upon the submitting authority.

Subsequently, on February 1, 1989, we received a partial response to the request for additional information by a letter dated January 25, 1989, in which the State represented that it was "continuing to attempt to acquire the voluminous information you have requested, and will forward it to you as it is compiled." When, by March 31, 1989, we had not received any further information, we sent a letter to you confirming our understanding that the State was proceeding to obtain the remaining information requested. See 28 C.F.R. 51.37(d). To date, no such further information has been provided nor have we been informed that it is unavailable.

Indeed, we now understand it to be the intention of the State not to provide the remainder of the information requested in our August 26, 1988, letter until after trial is conducted in certain litigation which is pending in the federal district court under Section 2 of the Act, 42 U.S.C. 1973, and the Constitution even though the State continues to implement all the submitted changes without the required preclearance.

It has long since been established that changes subject to the preclearance requirements of Section 5 are legally unenforceable absent such clearance. See, e.g., Connor v. Waller, 421 U.S. 656 (1975). To obtain that clearance, the submitting authority has the burden of showing that a submitted change has neither a discriminatory purpose nor a discriminatory effect. See Georgia v. United States, 411 U.S. 526 (1973); see also 28 C.F.R. 51.52. In failing to provide the Attorney General with the information necessary for the proper evaluation of the instant changes, the State clearly has failed to sustain its burden in the present case. Under those circumstances, then, the Attorney General has no alternative but to interpose an objection to the further implementation of the changes concerning the election of superior court judges which are listed in Attachment A.

Of course, we stand ready and willing to reconsider this determination should the State seek such reconsideration and provide the information which we have outlined as necessary to that action. See 28 C.F.R. 51.45. In addition, as provided by Section 5, the State has the right to seek a declaratory judgment from the United States District Court for the District of Columbia that these changes do not have the purpose and will not have the effect of denying or abridging the right to vote on account of race or color. However, until the objection is withdrawn or a judgment from the District of Columbia Court is obtained, the referenced changes remain legally unenforceable. 28 C.F.R. 51.10.

To enable this Department to meet its responsibility to enforce the Voting Rights Act, please inform us of the course of action the State of Georgia plans to take with respect to this matter. If you have any questions, feel free to call Mark A. Posner (202-724-8388), an attorney in the Voting Section. Because the Section 5 status of the submitted changes is at issue in Brooks v. Glynn County, Georgia Board of Elections, C.A. No. CV 288-146 (S.D. Ga.), we are providing copies of this letter to the court and the other counsel of record in that case.

Sincerely,

James P. Turner

Honorable Michael J. Bowers
Attorney General
State of Georgia
40 Capitol Square, S.W.
132 Judicial Building
Atlanta, Georgia 30334

Dear Mr. Attorney General:

This refers to the voting changes occasioned by the settlement agreement and proposed consent decree in Brooks v. Georgia State Board of Elections, No. CV288-146 (S.D. Ga.), that would change the State of Georgia's current system of electing supreme court, court of appeals, superior court and state court judges on an at-large basis with designated posts and a majority vote requirement to a system of gubernatorial appointments and retention elections, as well as to the submission of voting changes occasioned by 40 statutes pertaining to various state courts set forth in Attachment A and the request for reconsideration of the objections interposed by the Department on June 16, 1989, April 25, 1990, June 7, 1991, and October 1, 1991, to the addition of 60 superior court judgeships and one state court judgeship, specified in Attachment B. We received these submissions pursuant to Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 and the request for reconsideration on April 2, 1993. Your responses to our June 1, 1993, request for additional information were received on June 29 and July 1, 1993. Since that time, the state has provided additional supplemental information on several occasions in response to questions arising subsequent to our June 1, 1993, written request for additional information.

This also refers to Acts 1181 and 1382 (1992) which create additional judicial positions, to be elected at large by majority vote for designated posts, and the implementation schedules therefor in the Dougherty and Griffin Circuits of the superior court. These changes were submitted to the Attorney General on June 1, 1992. Information responsive to our July 31, 1992, request for additional information was received on April 2, June 29, July 1, and August 11, 1993.

This also refers to the voting changes occasioned by Act 225 (1993) relating to the Gwinnett County state court, which was submitted to the Attorney General on May 17, 1993; and Acts 377 and 183 (1993) relating to the Brooks and McIntosh County state courts, which were submitted to the Attorney General on May 19, 1993. Supplemental information relating to these changes was received on June 29, July 1, and August 11 and 12, 1993. This also refers to Act 914 (1988) relating to the Clayton County state court, which was submitted to the Attorney General on August 12, 1993; and Acts 660 (1971), 1115 (1978), 401 (1979), 425 (1981), 875 (1982), 432 (1983), 347 (1984), 828 (1984), 360 (1987), 1004 (1988), 931 (1988), and 176 (1989) relating to the Cobb County state court, which were submitted to the Attorney General on August 13, 1993. The specific voting changes occasioned by all state laws referenced in this paragraph are set out in Attachment A.

Finally this refers to Acts 362 (1983) and 625 (1987) relating to the Gwinnett County state court, which were submitted to the Attorney General on April 2, 1993. Our analysis indicates that the voting changes occasioned by these two state acts received the requisite preclearance on May 25, 1990. Accordingly, no further determination as to these changes by the Attorney General is required or appropriate under Section 5. See the Procedures for the Administration of Section 5 (28 C.F.R. 51.35).

We have carefully considered the information you have provided, as well as information from other interested parties and from the cases of Brooks v. Georgia State Board of Elections, supra, State of Georgia v. Reno, No. 90-2065 (D.D.C.), and United States v. State of Georgia, C.A. No. 1:90-cv-1749-RCF (N.D. Ga.), which have been pending for several years. The submitted changes to appointment/retention election systems for selecting judges are actions that the state has agreed to take as part of a settlement agreement and proposed consent decree in the Brooks v. Georgia State Board of Elections litigation, which provides that the changes in method of selection are conditioned upon "the State of Georgia receiving preclearance with regard to the addition of all judgeships created by statutes enacted by the General Assembly."

As a preliminary matter, we note that questions have been raised concerning the authority under state law of the Governor and Attorney General of Georgia to implement the voting changes embodied in the settlement agreement and proposed consent decree. See Cheeks v. Miller, C.A. No. E-03952, and Ehrhart v. Miller, C.A. No. E-03833, (August 6, 1992) vacated on other grounds, Cheeks v. Miller, and Ehrhart v. Miller, 262 Ga. 687, 425 S.E.2d 278 (1993). We have reviewed these changes based on your representation as the state's chief legal officer that there is such authority, and we are unaware of any explicit state law provision to the contrary.

Under Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act, the submitting authority has the burden of showing that a submitted change has neither a discriminatory purpose nor a discriminatory effect. See Georgia v. United States, 411 U.S. 526 (1973); see also 28 C.F.R. 51.52. In addition, a submitted change shall not be precleared if its implementation would lead to a clear violation of amended Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act. See 28 C.F.R. 51.55. The submitted settlement agreement and proposed consent decree would effect a comprehensive change in the selection of judges serving on four "levels" of the Georgia state bench, including the Georgia superior courts.

We have previously found that, under the current election system, black voters in the 30 circuits to which objections have been interposed "have a limited opportunity to elect their preferred candidates, even when blacks enjoy the advantages of incumbency by initially having been appointed to the bench." We also have concluded previously that "there is substantial information indicating that the majority vote requirement was adopted in 1964 by the state precisely for [the] invidious purpose" of minimizing black voting strength in at-large elections such as those for superior court judgeships. We have noted that the designated post requirement used in superior court elections was adopted in the same legislation as this suspect majority vote requirement.

The state's long history of discrimination, including discrimination in legal education and the legal profession, has a substantial and continuing impact on the state's current system of selecting judges. For example, as of 1991, the average superior court judge had more than 28 years of legal experience, which means that the average superior court judge would have entered law school in 1960, at a time when the University of Georgia still refused to admit black students. The continuing effects of this discriminatory history are further evidenced by the fact that, today, only nine black judges sit on the superior court bench (out of 145) and only seven black judges sit on the state court bench (out of 86). This situation, however, does reflect a substantial improvement in the last two years, as seven of the sixteen black superior and state court judges have been appointed to the bench by Governor Miller since 1991. The unique circumstances relating to Georgia's judicial selection system thus provide a firm evidentiary basis on which to construct a remedial program such as the one which is before us.

The proposed change in method of selection addresses the discriminatory impact of (and possible discriminatory motivation for) the current judicial selection system by providing for minority input on the state's Judicial Nominating Commission and by using the gubernatorial appointment power to ensure that, by December 31, 1994, 25 of the judges serving on the superior court bench (approximately 15 percent) will be black. In addition, under the settlement agreement and proposed consent decree, the state is obligated to appoint five additional black judges to the superior or state court bench by the end of 1994. These affirmative provisions of the settlement agreement and proposed consent decree resulted from extensive review, discussion, and negotiation with the Brooks plaintiffs under the guidance of United States District Judge Anthony Alaimo. A number of details concerning implementation of the settlement agreement and proposed consent decree have yet to be resolved, and in a number of areas, Judge Alaimo may be called upon to exercise his discretion to resolve certain issues. Thus, there may be some future changes in the consent decree that will affect voting and thus trigger Section 5 review. But with regard to the change to a system of gubernatorial appointments and retention elections in the state supreme court, court of appeal, superior courts, and state courts, we conclude that under the unique circumstances present here, the state has met its burden of proof under Section 5. Therefore, the Attorney General does not interpose any objection to the changes in the method of selecting judges for the state supreme court, the court of appeals, the superior courts and the state courts.

We also have reviewed our Section 5 objections specified in Attachment B, in response to your request for reconsideration based upon the changes in method of selection contemplated by the settlement agreement and proposed consent decree in Brooks. In light of these changed circumstances we have concluded that the concerns we previously entertained in the listed circuits and state court have been addressed. Accordingly, pursuant to Section 51.48(c) of the Procedures for the Administration of Section 5 (28 C.F.R.), the objections interposed to the voting changes identified in Attachment B will be withdrawn upon approval of the proposed consent decree in Brooks by the United State District Court. In this regard, we note that future changes affecting judicial elections in the Georgia appellate, superior, and state courts, including the creation of new judicial positions, changes in candidate qualifications, or changes in the procedures for retention elections, will be subject to Section 5 review in light of the then-existing circumstances.

With regard to the voting changes specified in Attachment A, and the changes occasioned by Acts 1181 and 1382 (1992) relating to the Dougherty and Griffin Circuits of the superior court, we note that by this letter a new system for selecting judges in the Georgia superior and state courts has received Section 5 preclearance. The Attorney General, therefore, does not interpose any objection to these changes. However, we note that the changes precleared by this letter now constitute the judicial selection system for the Georgia state courts which is legally enforceable under Section 5. Therefore, failure to implement these changes would constitute a voting change subject to review under Section 5. With regard to all of these submitted changes, including the changes in the method of selecting the supreme court, courts of appeals, superior court, and state court judges, we note that Section 5 expressly provides that the failure of the Attorney General to object does not bar subsequent litigation to enjoin the enforcement of the changes. See 28 C.F.R. 51.41.

Finally, we should note that in reviewing the submitted changes under Section 5 we have not evaluated allegations received during the course of our review to the effect that implementation of certain aspects of the proposed consent decree may occasion an illegal "racial classification." City of Richmond v. J.A. Croson Company, 488 U.S. 469, 499 (1989). As you know, similar contentions have been raised in the Brooks case and we expect they will be addressed in the course of the court's review of the proposed consent decree in that case.
