Immigration Courts: Total Matters Received and Completed

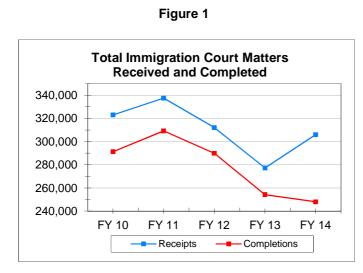

When the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) charges an alien with a violation of immigration law by issuing a charging document, typically either a Notice to Appear (NTA) or a Notice of Referral to Immigration Judge, the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) obtains jurisdiction over the case. EOIR has oversight over the immigration courts nationwide, and the Board of Immigration Appeals, which has appellate review over immigration judge decisions. Once EOIR has either ordered an alien removed, or granted relief or protection from removal, DHS is responsible for effectuating that alien's physical removal or providing that alien evidence of their immigration status, which permits the alien to remain in the United States.

In immigration court, aliens appear before an immigration judge and either contest or concede the charges against them. In some instances, the immigration judge adjourns the case and sets a continuance date. The alien may file an application for relief or protection and, after hearing the merits of the case, the immigration judge renders a decision, either ordering the alien removed, or granting relief or protection from removal. If the immigration judge decides that DHS has not established removability, the immigration judge may terminate the case.

Immigration judges also consider matters such as bonds and motions.

- An immigration judge holds bond redetermination hearings when an alien in custody seeks release on their own recognizance, or seeks a reduction in the amount of bond previously set by DHS. In its data, EOIR does not include bond redetermination hearings that occur before EOIR receives the charging document from DHS.
- Either the alien or DHS may request by motion that a case an immigration judge previously heard be reopened, reconsidered, or recalendared.

For the purposes of this Yearbook, the term "immigration court matters" includes cases (deportation, exclusion, removal, credible fear review, reasonable fear review, claimed status review, asylum only, rescission, continued detention review, Nicaraguan Adjustment and Central American Relief Act, and withholding only); bond redeterminations; and motions to reopen, reconsider, or recalendar. Immigration court receipts are defined as the total number of charging documents; bond redeterminations; and motions to reopen, or recalendar that the immigration courts received during the reporting period. Immigration court completions include immigration judge decisions and other completions (such as administrative closings) on cases, bond redeterminations, and motions that immigration judges did not grant.

Total Immigration Court Matters
	Receipts	Completions
FY 10	322,990	291,310
FY 11	337,487	309,248
FY 12	312,042	289,966
FY 13	277,277	254,197
FY 14	306,045	248,078

As shown in Figure 1, the number of matters the immigration courts received decreased by 5 percent between Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 and FY 2014 and has increased by 10 percent in the last fiscal year. The number of matters the immigration courts completed decreased by 15 percent from FY 2010 to FY 2014.

While some courts showed decreases in receipts from FY 2013 levels, others showed increases in receipts. In Table 1 (page A3), courts with increases in receipts of 25 percent or more are highlighted in blue and courts with decreases of 25 percent or more are highlighted in red. The immigration court in New Orleans, LA, showed the largest (257 percent) increase in receipts. The immigration court in Saipan, CNMI, showed the largest (63 percent) decrease. Table 1A (page A4) identifies receipts for FY 2014 by type of matter.

Table 2 (page A5) provides a comparison of FY 2013 and FY 2014 completions by immigration court. Courts with increases in completions of 25 percent or more are highlighted in blue, and those with decreases of 25 percent or more are highlighted in red. Los Fresnos, TX, showed the largest (59 percent) increase in completions. Saipan, CNMI, showed the largest (54 percent) decrease. Table 2A (page A6) identifies completions for FY 2014 by type of matter.

Figure 2 provides information on the type of matters the immigration courts receive. Cases (new NTAs) formulate the bulk of the courts' work; the courts also process significant numbers of bonds and motions to reopen, reconsider, and recalendar.

Immigration Courts: Cases Received and Completed by Type

Until April 1, 1997, the two major types of cases adjudicated by immigration courts were exclusion and deportation cases. Individuals who the former Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) charged as excludable were placed in exclusion proceedings. Exclusion cases generally involved a person who tried to enter the United States, but was stopped at the point of entry because INS found the person to be inadmissible. Deportation cases usually arose when INS alleged that an alien had entered the country illegally, or had entered legally, but then violated one or more conditions of their visa.

Provisions of the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 established six new types of cases: removal, credible fear review, reasonable fear review, claimed status review, asylum only, and withholding only. Additional types of cases include: rescission, continued detention review, and Nicaraguan Adjustment and Central American Relief Act (NACARA).

Table 3 shows all types of cases that the immigration courts received between Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 and FY 2014. Deportation and exclusion case types are no longer reported on this page due to the changes in the law noted above.

Immigration Courts: Case Completions by Disposition

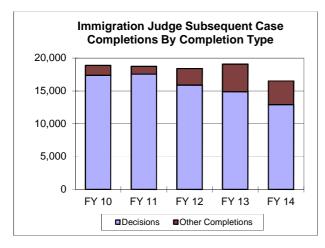

After a hearing, the immigration judge either renders an oral decision or reserves the decision and issues a decision at a later date. In rendering a decision, the immigration judge may order the alien removed from the United States, grant some form of relief, or terminate the case. In addition to decisions, there are other possible case outcomes which are reported here as other completions.

Figure 4 and Figure 4A provide a breakdown of initial case completions and subsequent case completions from Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 to FY 2014 by type of completion – either through an immigration judge decision or through another type of completion.

Figure 5 provides a breakdown of decisions by disposition for the initial case completions for FY 2010 to FY 2014. Immigration judges first decide whether or not the charges against an alien should be sustained. If the charges are not sustained or if the alien has established eligibility for naturalization, the judge terminates the case. If the charges are sustained, the judge decides whether to order the alien removed from the United States or to grant relief. In some cases, the immigration judge may permit the alien to depart the United States voluntarily. Orders of voluntary departure are counted as removals.

Figure 6 provides a breakdown of other completions by disposition type for the initial case completions for FY 2010 to FY 2014. Cases that are not decided on their merits are classified as other completions. The increase in the number of other completions over the last five fiscal years resulted from an increased number of administrative closures.

These also showed an increase in administrative closures over the five-year time period, and while the percentage of administrative closures continued to increase over last year, the number of other completions did decrease from the previous year by 13 percent.

Immigration Courts: Initial Case Completions by Representation Status

An attorney or other representative whom the Board of Immigration Appeals has fully accredited as well as reputable individuals or law students or graduates under the direct supervision of an attorney with the permission of the immigration judge may represent individuals in proceedings before an immigration judge. Many individuals who appear before EOIR are indigent and cannot afford a private attorney. EOIR provides lists of free legal service providers and maintains a list of fully-accredited representatives who may be able and willing to assist indigent aliens in immigration proceedings. EOIR also is implementing a policy in which EOIR provides, among other procedural protections, representatives for unrepresented immigration detainees whom an immigration judge determines have serious mental disorders that render them mentally incompetent to represent themselves in immigration proceedings.

As shown in Figure 10, the percentage of represented aliens has increased over the last five years, increasing from 40 percent in Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 to 55 percent in FY 2014.

Detention locations include Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Service Processing Centers (SPC), DHS contract detention facilities, state and local government jails, and Bureau of Prisons institutions. For the purpose of this Yearbook, Institutional Hearing Program (IHP) cases are considered detained cases. See Tab H.

Figure 11 provides a comparison of detained initial case completions to total initial case completions. The number of initial cases completed for detained aliens decreased 46 percent from Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 to FY 2014.

The following immigration courts each completed more than 3,000 detained initial cases in FY 2014: Houston SPC, Stewart Detention Facility, Dallas, Krome North SPC, and Oakdale Federal Detention Center. Immigration courts in three border states – Texas, Arizona, and California – accounted for 51 percent of the detained completions in FY 2014. Courts in those three states are highlighted in blue in Table 8.

Immigration Courts: Institutional Hearing Program Cases Received and Completed

The Institutional Hearing Program (IHP) is a cooperative effort between EOIR; the Department of Homeland Security (DHS); and various federal, state, and municipal corrections agencies. In Fiscal Year (FY) 2014, DHS filed charging documents with the immigration courts for incarcerated aliens in 58 different institutions. Immigration judges and court staff either travel to these institutions to conduct IHP hearings or the immigration judges conduct the hearings by video teleconference.

Figure 12 provides information on IHP receipts and completions for FY 2010 to FY 2014. IHP receipts declined by 24 percent from FY 2010 to FY 2014.

Table 10 - FY 2014 Immigration Court Initial Case Completions with Applications for Relief

Immigration Courts: Asylum Cases Received and Completed

There are two types of asylum processes – defensive and affirmative. The defensive asylum process applies to aliens who appear before EOIR and who request asylum before an immigration judge. The process is called "defensive" because it can provide relief from being removed from the United States. The affirmative asylum process applies to aliens who initially file an asylum application with the Department of Homeland Security's U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services.

For the purpose of this Yearbook, asylum receipts are based on the initial asylum application received date and asylum completions are based on the initial case completion. Figure 14 shows the affirmative and defensive asylum receipts at the immigration courts for Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 to FY 2014.

FY 13	17,394	22,535	39,929

As shown in Figure 15, asylum receipts increased by 28 percent and asylum completions increased by 13 percent from FY 2010 to FY 2014, although in the last year asylum completions decreased by four percent.

The number of cases which result in asylum grants and withholding grants increased by two percent from FY 2010 to FY 2014. For the same time period the number of denials for these cases increased by 14 percent.

Figure 22 displays the top 10 nationalities granted asylum in Fiscal Year (FY) 2014. In FY 2014 the top 10 nationalities accounted for 69 percent of all asylum grants. China accounted for 45 percent of all asylum grants. A total of 138 nationalities were represented among individuals granted asylum in FY 2014.

Immigration Courts: Convention Against Torture

In 1999, the Department of Justice implemented regulations regarding the Convention Against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (Convention Against Torture or CAT). There are two forms of protection under the 1999 regulations:

- Withholding of removal may be granted to an alien who establishes that they would be tortured in the proposed country of removal.
- Deferral of removal may be available to aliens who are not eligible for withholding of removal under the Convention Against Torture, but provides less protection against removal as the protection can be more easily and quickly terminated if it becomes possible to remove the alien.

As shown in Table 14, the immigration courts adjudicated 26,394 CAT applications during Fiscal Year (FY) 2014. Of those, immigration judges granted 536 CAT applications, and the majority of those grants were withholding.

Immigration Courts: In Absentia Orders

When an alien fails to appear for a hearing, the immigration judge may conduct a hearing in the alien's absence (in absentia).

Figure 23 compares immigration judge decisions on the initial case completion and in absentia orders. Of the immigration judge decisions rendered in Fiscal Year (FY) 2014, 19 percent involved in absentia orders. The number of in absentia orders increased by four percent from FY 2010 to FY 2014. The number of immigration judge decisions decreased by 34 percent in the same five-year time period.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Total Cases Received and Completed

The majority of cases the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) reviews arise from decisions immigration judges make in removal, deportation, or exclusion cases. Cases arising from immigration judge decisions include appeals, and motions to reopen, reconsider, or reinstate. For purposes of this Statistics Yearbook, types of cases arising from immigration judge decisions are referred to as appeals from immigration judge decisions.

Other types of cases over which the BIA has jurisdiction include appeals of certain Department of Homeland Security (DHS) decisions involving (1) family-based visa petitions adjudicated by DHS officials; (2) fines and penalties imposed upon carriers for violations of immigration laws; and (3) waivers of inadmissibility for non-immigrants under § 212(d)(3)(A)(ii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. For purposes of this Statistics Yearbook, appeals from these DHS decisions are referred to as DHS decision appeals.

Figure 27 provides total BIA cases received and completed for Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 to FY 2014. BIA receipts have decreased by 26 percent during this time period while BIA completions have decreased by 19 percent.

Completions of appeals from immigration judge decisions decreased by 15 percent from FY 2010 to FY 2014, while completions of appeals from DHS decisions decreased by 44 percent for the same time period.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Cases Received and Completed by Type

The Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) has jurisdiction over the following types of cases arising from immigration judge decisions. For purposes of this Statistics Yearbook, these types of cases are referred to as appeals from immigration judge decisions.

- Case appeals from the decisions of immigration judges in removal, deportation, and exclusion cases at the court level;
- Appeals filed from the decisions of immigration judges on motions to reopen;
- Motions to reopen and/or reconsider cases already decided by the BIA;
- Appeals pertaining to bond, parole, or detention; and
- Interlocutory appeals relating to important jurisdictional questions regarding the administration of the immigration laws or recurring problems in the handling of cases by immigration judges.

The BIA also has jurisdiction to review appeals arising from certain decisions that Department of Homeland Security (DHS) officials render. These types of appeals are listed below. For purposes of this Statistics Yearbook, appeals from these DHS decisions are referred to as DHS decision appeals.

- Family-based visa petitions adjudicated by DHS district directors or regional service center directors;
- Waivers of inadmissibility for non-immigrants under § 212(d)(3)(A)(ii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act; and
- Fines and penalties imposed upon carriers for violations of immigration laws.

As shown in Table 18 and Table 19 the majority of appeals from immigration judge decisions are from case appeals and the majority of appeals from DHS decisions are from visa petitions.

Table 18 provides a breakdown of the types of cases the BIA received between Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 and FY 2014.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Appeals from Immigration Judge Decisions Completed by Representation Status

As shown in Figure 31, the representation rate before the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) decreased from Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 to FY 2014. FY 2012, in which 80 percent of appellate cases the BIA completed involved a represented alien, had the highest representation rate of the five years. From FY 2010 to FY 2014 there was an 18 percent decrease in the number of represented cases at the BIA. Only appeals from immigration judge decisions are included in these statistics.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Case Appeals from Immigration Judge Decisions Completed for Detained Cases

The Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) handles detained cases (including aliens in the Institutional Hearing Program (IHP)) as priority cases.

Figure 32 depicts the number of case appeal decisions between Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 and FY 2014 along with the number of case appeal decisions that involved detainees. The figures for detained appeal decisions also include IHP cases. Detained case appeal decisions increased by 43 percent from FY 2010 to FY 2014 while the number of case appeal decisions decreased by 14 percent for the same time period.

Immigration Courts and Board of Immigration Appeals: Immigration Judge Decisions (Initial Case) Appealed

Parties appeal a relatively small percentage of immigration judge decisions to the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA). Figure 33 compares immigration judge initial case decisions with the number of case appeals the BIA received for Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 through FY 2014. While the percentage of IJ decisions being appealed has increased since FY 2010, the number of case appeals received by the BIA has declined by 23 percent over the same period.

Immigration Courts and Board of Immigration Appeals: Pending Caseload

As in any court system, EOIR's workload depends on the number of matters filed before it. The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) determines EOIR's initial caseload by filing charging documents that allege that an alien has violated immigration law. The parties determine the nature and number of the cases and the number of appeals from immigration judge decisions. In addition, changes to the immigration laws or regulations, and DHS policies and budgeting, have a substantial impact on EOIR's workload.

Figure 34 presents information on the pending cases in the immigration courts at the end of each year Fiscal Year (FY) 2010 to FY 2014. The number of pending immigration court cases has grown by 59 percent since the end of FY 2010, and by 18 percent since the end of FY 2013.
