TWO MEN INDICTED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY FOR HEROIN CONSPIRACY

Anchorage, Alaska – Acting United States Attorney Kevin Feldis announced that on September 16, 2009, Hugo Enriquez of San Diego, California, and Fabian Quepons of Anchorage, Alaska, were indicted by a federal grand jury in Anchorage on one count of drug distribution conspiracy.

The one-count indictment named Enriquez, 27, and Quepons, 23, as co-defendants.

According to the indictment, Enriquez and Quepons are alleged to have entered into a conspiracy to distribute over 100 grams of heroin in Alaska. It is alleged that Quepons and Enriquez conspired to ship a package containing the heroin, using Federal Express, from California to Anchorage.

Assistant United States Attorney Craig M. Warner, who presented the case to the grand jury, indicated that the law provides for a maximum sentence of 40 years imprisonment for conspiracy to distribute more than 100 grams of heroin, a $2,000,000 fine, and up to four years supervised release following service of a prison sentence. Under the Federal Sentencing Guidelines, the actual sentence imposed will be based upon the seriousness of the offense and any criminal history of the defendants.

Quepons and Enriquez have been detained since their arrest on August 31, 2009.

The Drug Enforcement Administration and the Anchorage Police Department conducted the investigation leading to the indictment in this case.

An indictment is only a charge and is not evidence of guilt. A defendant is presumed innocent and is entitled to a fair trial at which the government must prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.
