“Illegal trafficking in firearms is a danger to all Americans and a security threat to everyone,” said U.S. Attorney Gregory K. Davis, “This round-up is continuing and powerful evidence of our commitment in federal law enforcement to aggressively identify, investigate and prosecute those who, through violation of federal criminal laws, pose a threat to the safety of our citizens and communities. It is also evidence of the cooperation and partnership that exists between federal, state and local law enforcement. Our special thanks go out to the federal, state and local law enforcement officers who not only assisted in the arrests of these individuals, but contributed significantly to the investigation that led us to this prosecution.”

ATF Special Agent in Charge Phillip M. Durham added: “This coordinated operation is part of ATF’s ongoing commitment to stand shoulder to shoulder with our law enforcement partners working to reduce the illegal use of guns and dismantle violent gangs. The guns which were taken from the hands of these violent offenders will make our community a safer place to live. Protecting our communities from the illegal use and trafficking of firearms is a major part of the ATF mission, and I hope that the success of this joint investigation sends a strong message to those who choose to bring guns, drugs and violence into our neighborhoods. “

This case is the result of an investigation by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives. It will be prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Annette Williams, and is scheduled for trial on August 6, 2012.

An indictment is a formal charge against a defendant. Under the law, that charge is merely an accusation and the defendant is presumed innocent unless proven guilty in Court.
