

IS YOUR BUSINESS
PREPARED?

Jim Doyle, Governor

You work hard to make sure you're ready to meet the daily challenges of business. But is your business ready to respond and quickly recover from disaster?

Wisconsin Citizen Corps provides a variety of programs and resources that can help you prepare your staff and your business to get back up and running quickly.

One key program is Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) training.

WHAT IS CERT TRAINING AND HOW CAN IT HELP YOUR BUSINESS?

Following a major disaster, first responders – fire, police and emergency medical services – may not be able to immediately reach all community members requiring their services. Having CERT trained volunteers on site will enable your business to better plan for and respond to disaster.

CERT training is provided free of charge for groups of 15 to 20. The 21- hour course is taught by trained professional responders. Training can be held at your facility or another community location at a time that is most convenient for you and your employees.

CERT trainees learn to:

- Prepare for hazards that threaten their communities
- Size-up the situation and apply safety principles
- Establish and maintain communication with professional responders
- Locate and turn off utilities
- Extinguish small fires
- Identify hazardous materials situations
- Triage and treat victims
- Establish a medical treatment area
- Conduct searches and rescues in lightly and moderately damaged structures
- Understand the psychological impact of a disaster on themselves and others
- Organize CERT members and spontaneous volunteers for an effective and safe response
- Apply response skills in a disaster situation
