U.S. Department of Justice
I. INTRODUCTION

Section 803 of the Implementing Recommendations of the 9/11 Commission Act of 2007, 42 U.S.C. § 2000ee-1 (2012) (hereinafter “Section 803”), requires designation of a senior official to serve as the Attorney General’s principal advisor on privacy and civil liberties matters and imposes reporting requirements on certain activities of such official. The Department of Justice’s (“Department” or “DOJ”) Chief Privacy and Civil Liberties Officer (CPCLO) in the Office of the Deputy Attorney General serves as the principal advisor to the Attorney General on these matters supported by the Department’s Office of Privacy and Civil Liberties (OPCL).

Specifically, Section 803 requires periodic reports¹ related to the discharge of certain privacy and civil liberties functions of the Department’s CPCLO, including information on: the number and types of privacy reviews undertaken by the CPCLO; the type of advice provided and the response given to such advice; the number and nature of complaints received by the Department for alleged violations; and a summary of the disposition of such complaints, the reviews and inquiries conducted, and the impact of the activities of such an officer. To provide a standard reportable framework, the Department has coordinated with the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) in order to tailor this report to the missions and functions of the Department’s CPCLO.

II. PRIVACY REVIEWS

Pursuant to Section 803, “information on the number and types of reviews undertaken” are included in this Semi-Annual Report for Fiscal Year 2018 quarter two through Fiscal Year 2019.² Among these are the reviews the Department conducts of information systems and other programs to ensure that privacy issues are identified and analyzed in accordance with federal privacy laws such as the Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, 5 U.S.C. § 552a (2018), the privacy provisions of Section 208 of the E-Government Act of 2002, 44 U.S.C. § 3501 (note) (2018), as well as federal privacy policies articulated in OMB guidance, including OMB Circular A-130.³ Regular reviews conducted pursuant to the requirements of Section 803 include the following:

1. Proposed legislation, as well as testimony, and reports prepared by departments and agencies within the Executive Branch:
   - Proposed legislation, testimony, and reports are reviewed for any privacy and civil liberties issues by OPCL and the CPCLO.

2. Initial Privacy Assessments (IPA):
   - An IPA is a privacy compliance tool developed by the Department as a first step to: facilitate the identification of potential privacy issues; assess whether privacy documentation is required; and ultimately ensure the Department’s compliance with applicable privacy laws and policies.⁴ IPAs are conducted by Department components with coordination and review by OPCL. For purposes of this report, this number represents IPAs that have been reviewed and closed by OPCL.

3. Privacy Impact Assessments (PIA):
   A PIA is an analysis, required by Section 208 of the E-Government Act of 2002, of how information in identifiable form is processed to: ensure handling conforms to applicable legal, regulatory, and policy requirements regarding privacy; determine the risks and effects of collecting, maintaining, and disseminating information in identifiable form in an electronic information system; and examine and evaluate protections and alternative processes for handling information to mitigate potential privacy risks. For purposes of this report, this number represents PIAs that have been reviewed, approved, and/or closed by OPCL and/or the CPCLO.

4. System of Records Notices (SORN):
   A SORN is a notice document required by the Privacy Act of 1974 that describes the existence and character of a system of records, including the categories of individuals whose records are in the system; the categories of records; and the routine uses of the records. The SORN is published in the Federal Register. For purposes of this report, this number represents SORNs reviewed and approved by OPCL and the CPCLO that result in a published SORN for which the comment period has exhausted.

5. Privacy Act Exemption Regulations:
   The Privacy Act provides that agencies may exempt some systems of records from certain provisions of the Act. A Privacy Act exemption regulation is the regulation promulgated by an agency and published in the Federal Register that provides the reasons why a system of records maintained by the agency is exempt from certain provisions of the Act. For purposes of this report, this number represents exemption regulations that have been reviewed and approved by OPCL and the CPCLO that result in a final regulation for which the comment period has exhausted.

6. Information Collection Notices:
   An information collection notice is a notice to individuals as required by subsection (e)(3) of the Privacy Act. The notice, which must be on the form used to collect the information or on a separate form that the individual can retain, includes the authority for collecting the information; the principal purposes for which the information is intended to be used; the routine uses of the information; and the effects on the individual, if any, of not providing all or any part of the requested information. For purposes of this report, this number represents reviews of information collection notices conducted by OPCL to ensure that they fully meet the requirements of subsection (e)(3) of the Privacy Act.

Assessments required by OMB Circular A-130:

OMB Circular A-130 reviews include assessments of the following: SORNs to ensure that they are accurate and up to date; routine uses to ensure that they are still required and compatible with the purpose for which the information was collected; record practices and retention schedules to ensure that they are still appropriate; exemption regulations to ensure that they are still necessary; contracts to ensure that appropriate Federal Acquisition Regulation language is used to bind the contractor to provisions of the Privacy Act; Computer Matching programs to ensure compliance; civil or criminal violations of the Privacy Act to assess concerns; and agency programs for any privacy vulnerabilities.9

For purposes of this report, this number represents the systems of records that have been reviewed in accordance with the requirements of OMB Circular A-130 by Department components and submitted to OPCL. These reviews are conducted on an annual basis in coordination with the Federal Information Security Modernization Act (FISMA)10 reviews. Specific details of such FISMA reviews are submitted through the annual FISMA report.

On July 28, 2016, OMB released an update to OMB Circular A-130 titled, Managing Information as a Strategic Resource.11 OMB Circular A-130 serves as the governing document for the management of federal information resources. Appendix II to OMB Circular A-130, Responsibilities for Managing Personally Identifiable Information, outlines many of the responsibilities for agencies managing information resources that involve personally identifiable information (PII). These responsibilities include a number of requirements for agencies to integrate their privacy programs into their Risk Management Framework, including but not limited to, the selection, implementation, and assessment of the Appendix J,12 privacy controls. OPCL is currently collaborating with the Department’s Office of the Chief Information Officer (OCIO) to ensure that all requirements outlined in OMB Circular A-130 are satisfied.

9. Privacy Act Amendment Appeals:
A Privacy Act amendment appeal is an appeal of an initial agency action regarding a request from an individual to amend their information that is maintained in a Privacy Act system of records. III. ADVICE

Pursuant to Section 803, “the type of advice provided and the response given to such advice” is included in the Semi-Annual Report for Fiscal year 2019. The CPCLO’s responsibilities include the provision of both formal and informal advice addressing the issuance of formal written policies, procedures, guidance, or interpretations of privacy requirements for certain circumstances or business processes. The CPCLO received appropriate responses to the formal and informal advice provided.

For this semi-annual period, the CPCLO and OPCL continued working with DOJ components and inter-agency partners to address international privacy questions affecting the Department, as well as international privacy matters, which included discussions with the United Nations Special Rapporteur on Privacy.

The CPCLO and OPCL attended the International Conference of Data Privacy and Protection Commissioners, which is an organization comprising 110 privacy and data protection authorities from across the world that provides leadership at the international level in data protection and privacy. In October 2018, the CPCLO and OPCL attended the 40th International Conference of Data Privacy and Protection Commissioners (ICDPPC). The CPCLO and OPCL Deputy Director attended both the closed sessions for Data Protection Authorities and the open session for invited representatives from industry, academia, and other non-governmental entities.

The CPCLO and OPCL met with international officials through the International Visitor’s Leadership Program to discuss the US privacy framework and international privacy matters.

The CPCLO and OPCL has been an active member of the DOJ Insider Threat Working Group pursuant to DOJ Order 0901, signed on February 12, 2014, which established the DOJ Insider Threat Prevention and Detection Program (ITPDP) and mandated that the ITPDP “include appropriate protections for legal, privacy, civil rights, and civil liberties requirements.” Pursuant to this mandate, OPCL provides advice on privacy and civil liberties issues as part of the development of the DOJ ITPDP. OPCL’s advice and assistance regarding insider threat issues has included assisting JMD in drafting a PIA. OPCL is also an active member of the NT-50 Insider Threat Legal Community of Practice.

The CPCLO and OPCL worked with interagency and DOJ partners on National Security Presidential Memorandum – 9, Optimizing the Use of Federal Government Information in Support of the National Vetting Enterprise, and its implementation, establishing the new National Vetting Center, and setting out parameters for how it would operate. To help ensure that the activities of the NVC comply with applicable law and appropriately protect individuals’ privacy, civil rights, and civil liberties, OPCL continues to participate in the standing Privacy, Civil Rights, and Civil Liberties Working Group mandated by NSPM – 9.

The CPCLO and OPCL assisted the Civil Division Federal Program Section and Appellate Staff in handling civil lawsuits with privacy implications. The CPCLO and OPCL maintained an advisory role by assisting the Civil Division in researching, strategizing, and drafting response and reply briefs regarding a number of privacy-related cases.

The CPCLO and OPCL participated in a number of training-related initiatives within the department, including representing privacy and civil liberties equities in the Learning Development Council, representing privacy and civil liberties equities in the Mandatory Training Advisory Group, creating and providing detail opportunities for participants in the Presidential Management Fellows program as well as the Leadership Development Program, and creating and posting LearnDOJ training, hosting in-person training events, and publishing videos of those events more broadly.

IV. COMPLAINTS

Pursuant to Section 803, “the number and nature of the complaints received by the department, agency, or element concerned for alleged violations” are included in the Semi-Annual Report for Fiscal year 2018 and 2019.\(^\text{18}\) A privacy complaint encompasses a written allegation (excluding complaints filed in litigation against the Department) concerning a violation of privacy protections in the administration of the programs and operations of the Department that is submitted to or through the CPCLO and/or OPCL. Complaints directly received by components without notice to the CPCLO and/or OPCL are handled by components and are not counted for purposes of this report. Privacy complaints are separated into three categories:

1. Process and procedural issues (such as appropriate consent, collection, and/or notice);
2. Redress issues that are outside of the Privacy Act amendment process (such as misidentification or correction of personally identifiable information); and
3. Operational issues (inquiries regarding general privacy, including Privacy Act matters).

A civil liberties complaint encompasses a written allegation (excluding complaints filed in litigation against the Department) for a problem with or violation of civil liberties safeguards concerning the handling of personal information by the Department in the administration of Department programs and operations that is submitted to or through the CPCLO and/or OPCL.

For each type of privacy or civil liberties complaint received by the CPCLO and/or OPCL during the reporting period, the report will include the number of complaints in which (1) responsive action was taken or (2) no action was required. In the event a complaint is received within five business days of the last day of the close of a semi-annual period, the complaint may be counted and addressed in the subsequent semi-annual period if time constraints hinder a thorough examination of the complaint in semi-annual period in which it is received.

In addition to privacy and civil liberties complaints concerning the Department, OPCL receives privacy and civil liberties concerns, as defined above, that may pertain to another Federal agency. OPCL responds to these concerns with information on how to contact the appropriate agency to handle their concern. The number of inquiries and the disposition are reflected in the table below.

V. INFORMING THE PUBLIC

Pursuant to Section 803, the CPCLO shall “otherwise inform the public of the activities of such officer, as appropriate and in a manner consistent with the protection of classified information and applicable law.”

The CPCLO and OPCL have continued to engage stakeholders in the privacy community. They have conducted outreach to the privacy advocacy community, the technology industry, and international organizations. The CPCLO also participated in a number of speaking engagements to promote transparency of the Department’s policies, initiatives, and oversight with respect to the protection of privacy and civil liberties.

VI. OTHER FUNCTIONS

Pursuant to Section 803, the Semi-Annual Report for Fiscal Year 2018 and 2019 “shall include information on the discharge of each of the functions of the officer concerned,” which include the following additional functions of the CPCLO.

Throughout the reporting period, the CPCLO and OPCL have also worked with the Privacy and Civil Liberties Oversight Board and OMB to address privacy concerns, as well as ways to improve agency outreach. Moreover, the CPCLO and OPCL have met with other Federal agencies to improve inter-agency coordination, and to discuss agency privacy practices and common concerns. These meetings enable OPCL to review and assess the Department’s information and privacy-related policies, and make improvements where appropriate and necessary.

The CPCLO and OPCL have also worked on several projects for the Federal Privacy Council, including teaching an introductory privacy law class to a wide group of agency privacy officials at a Privacy “Bootcamp” and contributing to the Federal Privacy Council’s Executive Committee.

The CPCLO and OPCL also assisted with the implementation of the Clarifying Overseas Use of Data Act of 2018 (CLOUD Act). The CLOUD Act authorizes the Attorney General, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State, to enter into an executive agreement with foreign governments governing access by a foreign government to data. During the evaluation period, the U.S. entered into negotiations with the UK on an Executive Agreement under the CLOUD Act, and the CPCLO and OPCL assisting in the drafting the U.S. Government explanation as to why the domestic law of the UK, including the implementation of that law, affords robust substantive and procedural protections for privacy and civil liberties in light of the data collection and UK activities subject to the Executive Agreement.

Finally, the CPCLO and OPCL also provided privacy and civil liberties training to external agencies, to include the United States Postal Service, and participated on a panel at the Privacy and Security Forum to discuss privacy related issues.
