v.

Daisy BELTRAN

On August 25, 2010, United States Customs and Border Protection (CBP) Officers were conducting south bound operations at the Columbus, New Mexico (NM), Port of Entry (POE). At approximately, 2330 hours, officers encountered a female, later identified as Daisy BELTRAN walking south towards the border crossing into Palomas, Chihuahua, Mexico carrying some bags. CBP officers stopped BELTRAN before she could enter Mexico and inquired as to the contents of the bags. BELTRAN gave CBP officers a negative declaration as to carrying any firearms, ammunition, or currency in excess of $10,000. Upon further inspection, it was discovered that BELTRAN had large amounts of U.S. currency in her handbag totaling $13,700 dollars in denominations of $100 dollars.

Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) Agents were notified of the incident and responded to the Columbus, NM, POE. Upon arrival, BELTRAN was advised of her Miranda Rights per statement of rights form and signed the waiver of her rights. In a consensual, post Miranda interview, BELTRAN stated that she did know that she had a large amount of money, but did not know the exact amount or that she had to report it. BELTRAN further advised that she had obtained the money from pawning and selling gold jewelry at a pawn shop in El Paso, Texas. BELTRAN also said that she did not declare the gold jewelry at the POE when she crossed over from Palomas, Mexico earlier in the day.

ICE contacted Assistant United States Attorney Alfred Perez who authorized federal prosecution.
