The United States has the most expensive healthcare and the worst healthcare outcomes for patients in the developed world. This was not the case when I was a child in the 1960s or a young adult in the 1970s. It began to change in the 1980s with the diminishment or outright removal of bans on mergers and acquisitions that existed to create competition, and we all know how that has worked out for the average American in every area of our lives.

Please, do not allow the Trump Administration to take us another step down the path to the Gilded Age, which the mentally unfit President genuinely believes was golden. Do not let this go through!
