please consider the needs and rights of consumers, and the responsibilities of large corporations, as well as the responsibilities of our courts and government to protect consumers, as you consider whether to block UnitedHealth Groups acquisition of Amedisys. As a personal example, I am struggling to get medication that requires preauthorization both for myself and my 92 year old Dad. What do vulnerable people do if they don't have family support? As for me, trying to get the only migraine medication that works for me at a cost that I can afford - it feels like a full-time job.
Sincerely, Christal Baka
