CRIMINAL DIVISION U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE Asset Forfeiture and Money Laundering Section

The Asset Forfeiture and Money Laundering Section (AFMLS) leads the Department's asset forfeiture and anti-money laundering enforcement efforts. AFMLS provides leadership by: (1) prosecuting and coordinating complex, sensitive, multi-district, and international money laundering and asset forfeiture investigations and cases; (2) providing legal and policy assistance and training to federal, state, and local prosecutors and law enforcement personnel, as well as to foreign governments; (3) assisting Departmental and interagency policymakers by developing and reviewing legislative, regulatory, and policy initiatives; and (4) managing the Department's Asset Forfeiture Program, including distributing forfeited funds and properties to appropriate domestic and foreign law enforcement agencies, as well as adjudicating petitions for remission or mitigation of forfeited assets. For more information, please visit AFMLS' website at <http://www.justice.gov/criminal/afmls/>.

Internship Location: Washington, D.C.

Application Process: Please submit via e-mail a cover letter (including dates available and reasons for interest in AFMLS), resume, transcript (official or unofficial), a brief writing sample (no more than 10 pages), and a list of two (2) references. Application materials should be e-mailed to AFMLS.hiring@usdoj.gov. Please include "AFMLS Internship Application" in the subject line. Internship positions will be filled on a rolling basis. Applicants are encouraged to apply early. Applications will be accepted until March 1. Interviews generally will be conducted by telephone.

Application Deadline: Wednesday, March 1, 2017

Salary: Volunteer (without compensation). Academic or work-study credit possible.

Duties: Interns work directly with our trial attorneys on issues relating to domestic and international asset forfeiture and money laundering cases and legal policy. Assignments will vary but can include legal research, drafting pleadings and motions, research and analysis of foreign money laundering standards and compliance, and assistance with section publications. Interns also may participate in AFMLS-sponsored training.

Qualifications: Applicants must be in their first year of law school or beyond. Applicants should have: (1) a strong academic background, (2) excellent research, writing, and communication skills, and (3) a strong interest in criminal law, particularly in the areas of asset forfeiture, money laundering, or financial investigations. Interns must work a minimum of 8 weeks, full-time.

Number of Positions: Up to 4
