PACT OF FREE ASSOCIATION" BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE GOVERNMENT OF PALAU, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

mittees on Foreign Affairs and Interior and Insular Affairs and ordered

U.S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE

To the Congress of the United States:

There is enclosed a draft of a Joint Resolution to approve the "Compact of Free Association," the negotiated instrument setting forth the future political relationship between the United States and Palau, a political jurisdiction of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

This Compact of Free Association is the result of more than sixteen years of continuous and comprehensive negotiations, spanning the administrations of four Presidents. The transmission of the proposed Joint Resolution today, and congressional enactment of it, marks the last step in the process for approval of the Compact.

The full text of the Compact is part of the draft Joint Resolution, which I request be introduced, referred to the appropriate committees, and enacted. I also request that the Congress note the agreements subsidiary to the Compact. Also enclosed is a section-by-section analysis to facilitate your consideration of the Compact.

On March 30, 1984, and again on February 20, 1985, I submitted to Congress a Compact of Free Association relating to the Marshall Islands and the Federated States of Micronesia, two other jurisdictions of the Trust Territory. That Compact was approved as House Joint Resolution 187 by Congress on December 13, 1985, and with my signature on January 14, 1986, became Public Law 99-239. The people of the fourth jurisdiction of the Trust Territory—the Northern Mariana Islands—have voted to become a United States territory when the Trusteeship is terminated. The Congress approved their political status instrument as Public Law 94-241.

The defense and land use provisions of the Compact with Palau, and the right of the United States to foreclose access to the area for military purposes of third countries, are of great importance to our strategic position in the Pacific and enable us to continue preserving regional security and peace. Under the Palau Compact, the minimum term of United States defense authority and responsibility will be fifty years; otherwise, the Palau Compact is very similar to the Compact that the Congress approved for the Marshall Islands and the Federated States of Micronesia.

For almost four decades, the Trust Territory has been administered under a Trusteeship Agreement with the United Nations Security Council, which the United States entered into pursuant to the Joint Resolution of July 18, 1947. This Compact of Free Association with the government of Palau fulfills our commitment under that Agreement to bring about self-government in accordance with the freely expressed wishes of the Palauan people. Termination of the Trusteeship Agreement and the formal assumption of freely chosen political status arrangements by all parts of the present Trust Territory are important foreign policy objectives of the United States.

The Compact with Palau was signed for the United States by Ambassador Fred M. Zeder II and the President of the Republic of Palau on January 10, 1986. It was approved on January 24, 1986, by both houses of the Palau National Congress. On February 21, 1986, the Compact was approved by the Palauan people in a United Nations observed plebiscite. The President of Palau has certified that the approval process has been completed in full compliance with Palau's constitutional requirements.

Enactment of this draft Joint Resolution approving the Compact of Free Association for Palau will complete the enterprise of self-government we began with the peoples of the Trust Territory many years ago. It is the final step preceding full termination of the Trusteeship Agreement. Therefore, I urge the Congress to approve the Compact of Free Association for Palau.

RONALD REAGAN.

JOINT RESOLUTION

To approve the "Compact of Free Association" between the United States and the Government of Palau, and for other purposes.

Whereas the United States is the administering authority of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands under the terms of the Trusteeship Agreement for the former Japanese Mandated Islands entered into by the United States with the Security Council of the United Nations on April 2, 1947, and approved by the United States on July 18, 1947; and

Whereas the United States, in accordance with the Trusteeship Agreement, the Charter of the United Nations and the objectives of the international trusteeship system, has promoted the development of the peoples of the Trust Territory toward self-government or independence as appropriate to the particular circumstances of the Trust Territory and its peoples and the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned; and

Whereas the United States, in response to the desires of the people of Palau expressed through their freely-elected representatives and by the official pronouncements and enactments of their lawfully constituted government, and in consideration of its own obligations under the Trusteeship Agreement to promote self-determination, entered into political status negotiations with representatives of the people of Palau; and

Whereas these negotiations resulted in the "Compact of Free Association" between the United States and Palau which, together with its related agreements, was signed by the United States and by Palau on January 10, 1986; and

Whereas the Compact of Free Association was approved by a majority of the people of Palau in a United Nations-observed referendum conducted on February 21, 1986; and

Whereas the Compact of Free Association has been approved by the Government of Palau in accordance with its constitutional processes, thus completing fully for Palau its domestic approval processes with respect to the Compact as contemplated in Compact Section 411: Now be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Compact of Free Association, the text of which follows, is hereby approved and the

The Government of the United States and the Government of Palau shall set forth in a separate agreement, which shall come into effect simultaneously with this Compact, provisions for the investment, management and review of the fund so as to allow for an agreed minimum annual distribution from its accrued principal and interest commencing upon the effective date of this Compact for fifty years. (b) The Government of the United States and the Government of Palau shall take all necessary steps, of a general or particular character, to ensure, not later than the effective date of this Compact, that their laws, regulations and administrative procedures are such as to effect the commitments referred to in Section 471(a).

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS
BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES

The Compact of Free Association with Palau is divided into a preamble and four titles: Governmental Relations; Economic Relations; Security and Defense Relations; and General Provisions.

PREAMBLE

The Preamble states that the relationship which will exist between the United States and emergent state of Palau is "Free Association."

The Preamble recognizes that the agreement is concluded on a government-to-government basis; that the peoples of Palau, as inhabitants of the Trust Territory, have and retain their sovereignty and their sovereign right to self-determination; that, as a Freely Associated State (FAS), Palau will be self-governing under its constitution; and that the political and legal relationship between Palau and the United States is fully described and governed by the Compact. The Preamble recognizes the competence of the constitutional government to enter into the Compact.

TITLE ONE
GOVERNMENTAL RELATIONS

Article I, Self-Government

Section 111. This section recognizes that the people of Palau, acting through their constitutional government, are self-governing. This recognition is the foundation of the government-to-government agreement and is consistent with the international political status of free association.

Article II, Foreign Affairs

Section 121. The United States, in this section, recognizes the capacity of Palau, as a FAS, to conduct foreign affairs in its own the name and right. This includes the capacity to enter into treaties and other international agreements with other governments or international organizations, as appropriate. This recognition of foreign affairs capacity by the United States acknowledges the international legal personality of the FAS. Thus, for example, while the United States will provide certain services under the Compact, these activities will take place on a government-to-government basis through an international agreement, rather than by the direct extension of U.S. domestic programs as was done during the Trusteeship pursuant to Article 3 of the Trusteeship Agreement. Palau agrees in this section to conduct affairs of state in accordance with international law and settle disputes by peaceful means.

Section 122. In this section, the United States agrees to support Palau's participation and membership in regional and international organizations as may be mutually agreed from time to time.

This section also obligates the United States to accept qualified Palauan citizens for training in the Foreign Service Institute. This program will contribute to Palau's capabilities to meet the demands of the new political status and promote inter-governmental cooperation between Palau and the United States.

Section 123. In this section, Palau agrees to consult with the United States in foreign affairs matters in recognition of the authority and responsibility of the United States under Title Three (security and defense relations).

This section also provides that the United States will consult with Palau on foreign affairs matters which relate to or affect Palau.

Section 124. This section describes the foreign affairs authority of the Government of Palau, which extends to marine resources, and its territorial jurisdiction and sovereignty as recognized by international law. Under this provision Palau would have the same basic attributes of governmental authority, sovereignty and jurisdiction as other members of the international community, subject to applicable international law, including the provisions of the Compact which place certain limitations on Palau's authority.

Section 125. This section provides for termination of all obligations, responsibilities, rights and benefits of the United States under any treaty made applicable to the Trust Territory during the Trusteeship. The continued application of such treaties to Palau will be determined in accordance with international law, and will thus depend upon the relations between Palau and other signatories of such agreements. However, under Title III and the separate agreements concluded pursuant thereto, defense treaties and international security agreements will continue in force.

Section 126. This section is a disclaimer by the United States of responsibility for actions taken by the Government of Palau in the exercise of its foreign affairs capacity, except where the United States agrees to accept such responsibility.

Section 127. This section authorizes the United States, upon request, to assist Palau in foreign affairs matters, and includes a disclaimer of United States responsibility for actions of the FAS taken with the assistance or through the agency of the United States Government.

Article III, Communication

Section 131. This section recognizes Palau's authority and responsibility to control domestic and foreign communications, and enables the United States to provide such assistance as representing Palau before the International Telecommunications Union with respect to frequency registration and broadcast scheduling until Palau chooses to undertake that function. The specific types of assistance are set forth in the separate agreement referred to in this section. This section also extends Federal Communications Commission jurisdiction to Palau as regards the operations of satellite earth terminal stations operated by U.S. common carriers. Under this arrangement, Palau will be included in the United States telecommunications system for rate-making and other operational aspects relating to United States common carriers.

Section 132. This section ensures United States ability to operate telecommunications systems in Palau in connection with its obligations under the Compact.

Article IV, Immigration

Section 141. This section effectively exempts Palauan citizens meeting specified criteria from certain United States passport, visa and work permit requirements and enables them to enter, reside, be employed, attend school or remain as visitors in the United States. Section 141 also recognizes the ability of the United States Congress to promulgate, or authorize the legislatures of United States territories to promulgate, non-discriminatory immigration laws or regulations applicable to FAS citizens who wish to establish "habitual residence" in those U.S. territories. Habitual residence is defined as establishment of a place of general abode or principal, actual dwelling place of a continuing or lasting nature and of at least one year duration.

Finally, entry into the United States under the authority of Section 141(a) does not confer the right of Palauan citizens to establish residency necessary for naturalization. Section 141(a), however, does not preclude Palauan citizens from acquiring lawful permanent resident status by other means.

Section 142. Palauan reciprocity for the open immigration arrangement provided under Section 141 is set forth in this section, under which United States citizens will be able to enter, reside and be employed in Palau, subject only to Palauan law providing for exclusion of undesirable aliens and statutes regulating occupations on a non-discriminatory basis. Establishment of "habitual residence" in Palau by United States citizens would also be subject to Palauan law. This section also confers most favored nation status in immigration matters on United States citizens.

Section 143. The privileges of Palauan citizens set forth in Sections 141 and 142 will be lost to a citizen of Palau who takes an affirmative step to preserve or acquire a citizenship or nationality other than that of Palau or fails to renounce such an existing citizenship or nationality within two years after the effective date of the Compact.

Section 144. This section enables United States citizens to accept employment by the Government of Palau without losing their U.S. citizenship.

Article V, Representation

Section 151-152. These sections provide for the establishment of resident representatives in the capitals of the United States and Palau. Designated representatives are entitled to limited or functional immunity, exemptions and privileges in connection with the performance of official duties.

Article VI, Environmental Protection

Sections 161-162. The sections within this article establish an environmental protection policy based upon reciprocity and mutual agreement in the establishment of procedures and requirements for activities of both governments. Existing environmental standards will provide the base line for regulating governmental activities except as otherwise mutually agreed, and disputes will be subject to arbitration. Palauan environmental protection law will govern private sector activities.

Article VII, General Legal Provisions

Section 171. Because the United States has extended United States laws to the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands only by virtue of the Trusteeship Agreement, with the exception of laws of general extraterritorial applicability, this section operates to terminate the application to Palau of any laws of the United States whenever made applicable to the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands or any part thereof, unless they are specifically made applicable by the Compact or are of general extraterritorial applicability.

Section 172. This section provides that citizens of Palau not residing in the United States shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as any other non-resident aliens and that they shall be treated as "persons" within the meaning of the Administrative Procedures Act and of the Freedom of Information Act. It should also be noted that a United States citizen who becomes a citizen of Palau and who does not renounce his United States citizenship would retain his United States citizenship and continue to be entitled to the same rights and privileges as any other United States citizen.

Section 173. The United States and Palau undertake positive obligations to protect the programs, personnel, property and facilities of the other which are connected with public and official functions specified in the Compact or its related agreements.

Section 174. Subsections (a) and (d), taken together, provide that the Government of Palau will be immune from jurisdiction of the courts of the United States, and vice versa, except when the defendant government is sued in connection with commercial activities, personal injury, death or damage to or loss of property.

Subsections (b) and (c) of this section set forth the procedure for payment of claims against the Trust Territory Government or the United States arising from acts or omissions of either such government prior to the effective date of the Compact. All unpaid judgments against the Trust Territory Government or the United States entered prior to the effective date of the Compact, or settlements reached, will be paid by the United States. All claims against the Trust Territory or United States which are not resolved prior to the effective date of the Compact or which arise afterwards, will be adjudicated in the courts of Palau, but any judgment of those courts will be presented for certification to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit which shall order payment of such judgment, unless it is manifestly erroneous in law or fact, or is manifestly excessive. In this latter situation, that court shall have jurisdiction to modify the judgment.

Section 175. This section provides for the negotiation of separate agreements regarding extradition, mutual assistance in law enforcement and transfer of prisoners. These agreements shall have the force of law and shall be similar to arrangements which the United States has with other nations.

Section 176. This section preserves judgments established in civil litigation during the Trusteeship by the courts of the Trust Territory, subject to the power of the courts of Palau derived from their respective constitutions to modify judgments in appropriate cases.

Section 177. This section enables federal agencies providing services and programs in Palau to settle and pay tort claims arising from their activities pursuant to the administrative procedures set forth at 28 U.S.C. 2672. Claims not resolved through that procedure will be referred to arbitration under the conference and dispute resolution process set forth in Title Four, Article II, of the Compact. In both cases, payment shall be made pursuant to 31 U.S.C. 1304. The United States will be immune from suits based on claims covered by the provisions of this section.

TITLE TWO

ECONOMIC RELATIONS

(The chart attached as Appendix A displays the amounts and schedule for payment of grant funding and assistance set forth in the Compact and discussed in the following analysis.)

Article I, Grant Assistance

Sections 211-212. These sections set forth the basic grant assistance constituting the economic foundation of free association. The fundamental concept underlying the grant assistance is that Palau will be provided with the resources to plan and implement long-term development programs and provide public services appropriate to conditions and needs as determined by the Government of Palau in accordance with its constitutional processes. A capital account and a current account will be established from grant funds, to be used for economic development and government operations, respectively.

In order to enable Palau to undertake economic development programs at the outset of the initial fifteen years of free association, the grant assistance package was structured to provide maximum "front-end loading" of grant and special purpose funding, while at the same time spreading out funding levels over the entire fifty-year period to ensure that minimum needs can be satisfied and that economic stability can be preserved throughout the entire period of free association. Thus, at the tenth anniversary of the effective date of the Compact, the amounts of grants will be reduced from the higher levels provided during the first five years, and in years sixteen through fifty funding will be obtained from the proceeds of the sixty-six million dollar fund to be established under Section 211(f).

Section 212 provides for road construction and payment of the capital account funding for basic capital improvement programs to support economic development objectives.

Section 213. This section provides for a payment in conjunction with the exercise of rights to defense sites under Article II of Title Three.

Section 214. This section transfers existing Trust Territory funding for Palau to Palau, for use in accordance with the purposes for which Congress appropriated the funds. The United States will make the determination as to the purposes for which the funds can be used.

Section 215. This section provides for an annual adjustment of the designated grants provided under this article by two-thirds of the percentage annual change in the United States Gross National Product Implicit Price Deflator, or seven percent, whichever is less.

Article II, Program Assistance

Section 221. While Palau will fund the basic functions of government from grant assistance and general revenues, performance of certain activities will be beyond the technical capability of the new governments at the outset of free association. Thus, the United States has agreed in Section 221(a) to continue to provide services of the United States Weather Service, the United States Federal Emergency Management Agency, the United States Postal Service, the Federal Aviation Administration and the Civil Aeronautics Board or its successor agencies. (Since the CAB has been abolished, this provision of the Compact refers to services provided by the CAB's successor agencies). Enactment of Section 221(a) by Congress provides the legislative authority for provision of these services. The specific arrangements for provisions of these services are set forth in a separate agreement. The United States commitment is expressly limited to continuation of the essential services specified at levels equivalent to the last year prior to the effective date of the Compact. This will establish a ceiling on the nature and extent of United States programs.

Subsection(b)(1) provides a $2 million annual grant to be coupled with the scholarship and health service funding set forth in Section 211(d) in order to enable Palau to augment current account expenditures in the field of education and health services and tailor such activities as scholarship programs and medical referral activities to local needs. Subsection(b)(2) provides an additional $8.7 million for education programs similar to those Federal educational programs to be phased out under the Compact.

Subsection (c) provides that alternate energy development programs which were extended to the Trust Territory will continue after the effective date of the Compact and be available subject to the terms set forth in United States law with respect to the scope and duration of such programs.

Subsection (d) defines United States authority incident to implementing program assistance.

Section 222. Under this section, United States Government agencies which have statutory authority to provide technical assistance on an intergovernmental or international basis, or to territories or possessions of the United States, will be able to provide such technical assistance to Palau upon request. In light of the free association relationship, Palauan requests for technical assistance will be given priority consideration over requests of other nations eligible for such assistance.

Section 223. This section ensures that those Trust Territory students embarked upon a course of study at a United States-accredited post-secondary institution and who receive Federal student financial assistance will be able to continue to receive such assistance for the duration of the individual academic programs up to four years following the effective date of the Compact.

Section 224. This section provides that the United States and Palau may agree on the extension of federal programs, assistance, or services in addition to those specified in the Compact. While the grant assistance and services provided by Title Two constitute a negotiated and agreed package, this section enables the United States and Palau to adjust to changing conditions and needs by establishing such additional programs as may be authorized by United States law.

Article III, Administrative Provisions

Section 231. This section requires that prior to the effective date of the Compact Palau submit and that the United States concur in a national economic development plan which shall provide for the manner in which Article I, Title Two grant funds shall be expended. This section also requires that the Government of Palau submit an annual report to the President and Congress on the expenditure of Compact grant assistance.

Section 232. This section provides that the program assistance to be made available under Section 221 be defined in separate agreements.

The levels and duration of such assistance, and the legal parameters within which federal agencies will operate -- including the legal status of their employees, payment of claims, entry and departure of employees and other similar matters -- are dealt with in the comprehensive agreement negotiated pursuant to this section. Under that agreement, federal agency civilian employees will enjoy certain privileges, exemptions and limited immunity from Palauan laws, including tax laws, and federal agencies are assured the operational freedom necessary to carry out their responsibilities.

Section 233. This section authorizes the United States to conduct audits of grant and program assistance provided to Palau under Title Two. These audits will enable the United States to determine if Palau has met the requirements set forth in the Compact and its separate agreements regarding the purposes for which funds and program assistance are to be used and the propriety of their financial transactions. The procedures for conduct of the audits will be the subject of consultation to ensure that institutional integrity is preserved, and that the United States will have full access to financial information relating to Compact funding. The procedures for conducting the audit and obtaining annual reports and other financial information as required by the Compact are the subject of a separate agreement on fiscal procedures between the United States and Palau.

Section 234. This section provides for the transfer to Palau at no cost United States property located in the Trust Territory for which there is no continuing U.S. need. This transfer process is largely complete. Transfer of federal property began in the Trust Territory in 1980, pursuant to Section 402 of United States Public Law 96-597.

Section 235. During the Trusteeship, trust funds have been established for the benefit of various groups of Trust Territory citizens, such as those affected by the United States nuclear testing programs in the Marshall Islands. This section provides for appointment by the United States of a new trustee to replace the High Commissioner as trustee of such funds, so that the initial legislative intent in creating the funds can be carried out. The United States also agrees to carry out such functions of government formerly exercised by the High Commissioner as are necessary to implement the provisions of a particular trust. For instance, the High Commissioner is currently required to make certain determinations and exercise certain administrative functions in connection with trust funds. Under the Compact, this will be undertaken by the United States.

Section 236. This section pledges the full faith and credit of the United States for payment of the amounts provided for under Article I of Title Two. A similar pledge is contained in the Covenant to Establish a Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands in Political Union with the United States. This pledge is intended to create an enforceable obligation of the United States to pay the amounts provided for in Article I. While this obligation will be discharged in the same manner as other financial obligations incurred through international agreements requiring an act of appropriation, Palau is provided with a judicial remedy before the United States Claims Court in the event payments owing under the Compact are not made. Because the Compact will be both an international agreement and public law, this is a valid grant of jurisdiction which contains an express exception from the restriction contained in 28 U.S.C. 1502 relating to actions arising from treaties with foreign nations. Any judgments resulting from an action by Palau under this section would be paid under 31 U.S.C. 1304.

Article IV, Trade

Section 241-243. These sections provide that Palau will not be within the customs territory of the United States, and will be able to export products to the United States duty free, provided that less than 70% of the products' value derives from foreign sources. This treatment of Palauan articles is tied to and will remain the same as the treatment which United States insular possessions receive under General Headnote 3(a) of the United States Tariff Schedule. There is a cap on duty free tuna imports and certain other articles are expressly excluded from duty free treatment. Palauan articles not covered by General Headnote 3(a) and United States articles imported into Palau will be entitled to generally applicable most favored treatment.

Article V, Finance and Taxation

Section 251. This section establishes United States currency as the legal tender of Palau, but gives Palau the option to issue its own currency; in which case appropriate transitional arrangements would be agreed upon.

Section 252. This section recognizes Palau's jurisdiction to tax any United States persons income which is derived from sources in Palau, and applies United States tax laws to determine income source.

Section 253. Palauan citizens domiciled in Palau who are nonresident in the United States and who are not also United States citizens will be exempt from United States estate gift and generation-skipping transfer taxes. It is intended that questions of citizenship and domicile for such individual persons in Palau will be determined under the laws of Palau (see Section 142(a) of the Compact).

Section 254. Persons who meet bona fide residency requirements in Palau will not have to pay any otherwise applicable United States tax on income which is taxed by Palau, including where such income is derived from sources outside Palau.

Section 255. While Sections 253 and 254 are intended to provide incentives for investment in Palau for individuals, this section provides incentives for investments primarily by corporations. Thus, Palau will receive treatment as a possession of the United States for purposes of Section 936 of the United States Internal Revenue Code, which is intended to generate United States investment in developing areas that enjoy a special relationship with the United States. If the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to Palau under this section are amended, alternative but substantially equivalent beneficial arrangements will be negotiated.

Section 256. This Section make Article V applicable after September 30, 1985.

TITLE THREE

SECURITY AND DEFENSE RELATIONS

Article I, Authority and Responsibility

Section 311. This section, in accordance with Section 312, forecloses the territory of Palau to third country military forces.

Section 312. This section establishes as part of the free association relationship defined in the Compact the full authority and responsibility of the United States for security and defense matters in or relating to Palau. This United States authority and responsibility includes the ability to conduct military operations as required to carry out the United States security and defense role.

Section 313. To ensure that the actions of the Government of Palau do not impair the ability of the United States to exercise its authority and fulfill its responsibility in security and defense matters, Palau agrees in this section to refrain from actions which the United States determines to be incompatible with the United States security and defense role defined in the Compact. The purpose of this provision is to preserve the allocation of authority and responsibility for domestic and foreign affairs to Palau, and for security and defense to the United States.

To ensure that any U.S. determination requiring Palau to refrain from a particular action is made on the basis of full information, the United States will consult with Palau prior to making any final determination. The Government of Palau will be entitled to raise with the Secretaries of State and Defense, personally and on an expeditious basis, any concerns which might arise from a United States action under this provision.

Article II, Defense Facilities and Operating Rights

Section 321. This section provides for a separate agreement to be concluded between the United States and Palau for the establishment and use of military areas and facilities by the United States in Palau.

Section 322. This section enables the United States to designate and requires the Government of Palau to provide sites for the activities and operations authorized under Section 321 and the separate agreement concluded pursuant thereto. This section establishes that compensation in full for all defense sites at the designated duration and level of use is provided in Title Two of the Compact.

Section 323. Pursuant to this section, the United States and Palau have concluded comprehensive agreements on military use and operating rights (MUORA) and status of forces (SOFA). These agreements are modeled on similar arrangements the United States has entered into with other countries.

The SOFA is a multilateral agreement which defines the rights and obligations of United States Armed Forces and their personnel in Palau. Specifically, the SOFA defines the protections afforded to personnel under the SOFA and addresses such issues as entry and exit requirements, use of contractors and employment of labor, tax and customs relief, criminal jurisdiction, applicability of local law, payment of claims, medical and postal services, telecommunications, and other related matters.

Section 324. This section ensures compatibility between the Compact, particularly Title Three, and Article II, Section 3 of Palau's constitution. By agreeing not to use, test, store or dispose of nuclear, toxic chemical, gas or biological weapons in Palau, the United States and Palau have eliminated any need for 75% approval of the Compact under Article II, Section 3. In order to ensure that the United States will be able to carry out its defense responsibilities this section also states that the United States will be able to operate nuclear capable and nuclear propelled vessels and aircraft without confirming or denying the presence or absence of such weapons in Palau.

Article III, Defense Treaties and International Security Agreements

Section 331. In keeping with United States responsibility and authority for security and defense matters in Palau, this section provides that security and defense agreements or treaties to which the United States is a party, and which have applied to the Trust Territory during the Trusteeship, will continue in force and be applied by the United States in the exercise of its security and defense role in Palau. In addition, the United States retains the authority to extend to Palau any security or defense agreements or treaties it may determine to be applicable, after appropriate consultation with the Government of Palau. This arrangement is necessary in light of United States treaty obligations in the region.

Article IV, Service in the Armed Forces

Section 341 and 342. Palau citizens will be entitled under these sections to serve voluntarily in the armed forces of the United States, but cannot involuntarily be inducted into such service unless habitual residence in the United States is established. In addition, upon nomination by their governments and if otherwise qualified, Palau citizens will be enrolled in the United States Coast Guard Academy and in the United States Merchant Marine Academy. The service and training available in the armed forces and the designated academies will provide educational opportunities not available in Palau.

Article V, General Provisions

Section 351. Under this section, a Joint Committee will be established for the purpose of resolving disputes arising from implementation of Title Three and the separate agreements concluded pursuant to sections within Title Three. The purpose of the Joint Committee is to provide a forum for consultation regarding issues related to Title Three. Any matter which the Committee cannot resolve is referred back to the governments concerned for resolution.

Section 352. This section contains a U.S. assurance that in fulfilling its security and defense role, and in making the specific determinations incident to its authority under Title Three of the Compact, the United States will accord due respect to the authority and responsibility of the Governments of Palau as defined in the Compact.

Section 353. This section requires Palauan consent to be included in a declaration of war, and preserves future war claims by the Palauan people.

TITLE FOUR

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article I, Approval and Effective Date

Section 411. Under this section there is established a four-step process for approval and entry into force of the Compact. This process includes approval by the Government of Palau in accordance with its constitutional processes and approval of the Compact by the people of Palau.

The approval process also requires approval of the Compact by the United States, and agreement between the United States and the Government of Palau on its effective date. Once so approved, the United States, as administering authority of the Trusteeship, will make appropriate arrangements for termination of the Trusteeship Agreement with the United Nations.

Article II, Conference and Dispute Resolution

Section 421-424. These sections establish the method for settlement of disputes arising in connection with the implementation and enforcement of the provisions of the Compact except for matters arising out of Title Three, which will be handled as provided for in Section 351. The procedure for dispute resolution requires that upon notification of a dispute, the parties confer on the matter. After a 90-day period, if the issue has not been resolved, the matter is referred to a three-person Arbitration Board consisting of one member appointed by each of the parties and a chairman jointly appointed by the parties or selected by lot from standing lists if mutual agreement cannot be reached. Decisions will be by majority vote and shall be binding on the parties unless it is agreed that the decision shall be advisory. The Board will also not have jurisdiction in matters arising under the general legal provisions of Article VII, Title One, except for Section 178.

Article III, Amendment

Sections 431-433. These sections provide for bilateral and multi-lateral amendment of the Compact by mutual agreement of the parties affected by such amendments, as well as a review of the relationship after thirteen years..

Article IV, Termination

Sections 441-443. The Compact provides three avenues for its termination. Under Section 441, the Compact may be terminated by mutual agreement of the United States and Palau.

Section 442 provides for unilateral termination initiated by the United States, in which case prior notice of no less than six months is required before termination is effective.

Termination by unilateral action of Palau is provided for in Section 443, which requires Palau to conduct a plebiscite on termination in accordance with its constitutional processes. A majority vote in favor of termination is required for termination to occur. The plebiscite can be conducted only upon three months' prior notice to the United States, and termination pursuant to an affirmative vote to end the agreement would not become effective until at least three months after certification of the results to the United States and notification that termination will occur.

Article V, Survivability

Sections 451-453. These sections identify which portions of the Compact would survive, and for how long, under the different termination procedures described in Article IV of Title Four.

Should the Compact be terminated by mutual agreement pursuant to Section 441, the continuation of economic relations between the United States and Palau would be as mutually agreed.

Should termination occur at United States or Palauan initiative under Section 442 or 443, the provisions listed in section 452 of the Compact would remain in effect until the fiftieth anniversary of the effective date of the Compact, or longer if mutually agreed.

Under Section 453 the foreclosure of Palau to third country forces would continue for fifty years and thereafter until terminated or amended by mutual consent, and separate agreements under Article II of Title Two will continue in accordance with their terms, notwithstanding termination or other provisions of the Compact.

Article VI, Definition of Terms

Sections 461-462. These sections define various terms used in the Compact, and list the separate agreements concluded pursuant to the Compact.

Article VII, Concluding Provisions

Section 471. Under this section, the signatory governments agree that they are authorized by their constitutions and laws to enter into and implement the Compact and its related agreements. This section also provides that Palau and the United States will conform their laws to the Compact prior to its effective date, so that they will be able to implement the Compact in a manner consistent with their domestic laws. Finally, in fulfillment of the obligation of the Government of the United States under paragraph (b) of this section to ensure that its laws conform with the provisions of the Compact, paragraph (c) of this section provides that the Compact will have the force and effect of a statute under the laws of the United States.

Section 472. This section provides for acceptance of the Compact by the signature of each government party to the agreement.

This section provides for United States court jurisdiction in criminal cases over which the United States acquires the primary right to exercise criminal jurisdiction under the provisions of the Status of Forces Agreement concluded pursuant to Section 323 of the Compact.

Article I

Obligation to Extradite

The Government of the United States shall extradite to Palau and the Government of Palau shall extradite to the United States, subject to the provisions and conditions described in this Agreement, any person found in their respective jurisdictions against whom the requesting Government is proceeding for an offense or who is wanted by that Government for the enforcement of a sentence.

Article II

Extraditable Offenses

- (1) Offenses listed in the Schedule of Offenses appended to this Agreement which are punishable under the laws of both the requesting and requested Signatory Governments by deprivation of liberty for at least a period exceeding one year or by a more severe penalty; or
- (2) Offenses, regardless of whether listed in the Schedule of Offenses appended to this Agreement or not, which are punishable under both the federal laws of the United States and the national laws of Palau, by deprivation of liberty for at least a period exceeding one year or by a more severe penalty.

(b) For purposes of extradition, it shall not matter whether the laws of the requesting and requested Signatory Governments place the offense within the same category of offenses or describe an offense by the same terminology.

2. Extradition shall be granted in respect of an extraditable offense for the enforcement of a penalty or prison sentence if the duration of the penalty or prison sentence still to be served amounts to at least six months.

3. Subject to the conditions set out in paragraph 1 of this Article extradition shall also be granted:

(a) For attempt or conspiracy to commit, or participation as a principal, accomplice or accessory in, any extraditable offense; and

(b) For any otherwise extraditable offense, whether or not the offense is one for which the laws of the United States require proof of interstate transportation, or use of the mails or of other facilities affecting interstate or foreign commerce, such considerations being solely for the purpose of establishing jurisdiction in a federal court of the United States.

4. When a request for extradition is granted in respect of an extraditable offense, it may also be granted for an offense which could not otherwise fulfill the requirements of paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article as related to the period of deprivation of liberty for which the offense is punishable or as related to the duration of the sentence to be served in the jurisdiction of the requesting Government.

5. Extradition shall be granted in respect of an extraditable offense committed outside the territory of the requesting Signatory Government if:

(a) The courts of the requested Government would be competent to prosecute in similar circumstances; or

(b) The person sought is a citizen or national of the requesting Government.

Article III

Exceptions to Extradition

1. Extradition shall not be granted:

(a) When the person whose surrender is sought is being prosecuted or has been convicted, discharged or acquitted by the requested Government for the offense for which extradition is requested; or

(b) When the prosecution of the offense is barred by lapse of time according to the laws of the requesting Government.

2. Subject to paragraph 3 of this Article, extradition may be refused when the Executive Authority of the requested Government, in its sole discretion, determines:

(a) That the offense in relation to which extradition is requested is of a political character; or

(b) That the request for extradition has been made for the purpose of trying or punishing the person whose extradition is sought for an offense of a political character.

3. Extradition shall not be refused on the basis of paragraph 2 of this Article where the offense for which extradition is requested involves a murder or willful crime, including attempts, against the life or physical integrity of a Head of State or Head of Government or any other internationally protected person, including resident representatives, or where the offense for which extradition is sought is one which the requesting Government has the obligation to prosecute by reason of a multilateral treaty or other international agreement.

Article IV

Capital Punishment

When the offense for which extradition is requested is punishable by death under the laws of the requesting Government and the laws of the requested Government do not permit such punishment for that offense, extradition may be refused unless the requesting Government provides such assurances as the Executive Authority of the requested Government considers sufficient that the death penalty will not be imposed, or, if imposed, will not be executed.

Article V

Deferred or Temporary Surrender

After a decision on a request for extradition has been rendered in the case of a person who is being proceeded against or is serving a sentence in the jurisdiction of the United States, or Palau for an offense other than that for which extradition has been requested, the requested Government may defer the surrender of the person sought until the conclusion of the proceedings against that person, or the full execution of any punishment that may be, or may have been, imposed; or temporarily surrender the person sought to the requesting Government solely for the purpose of prosecution. The person so surrendered shall remain in custody during the period of surrender and shall be returned at the conclusion of the proceedings against that person in accordance with conditions to be determined by agreement of the Executive Authorities of the Governments in each case.

Article VI

Extradition Procedures and Required Documents

1. The request for extradition shall be made to the requested national Government by the requesting national Government on behalf of itself or one or more political subdivisions. The requesting Government shall promptly notify the resident representative of the requested Government of its extradition request. Such requests, supporting documentation and notices shall be in the English language.
2. The request shall be accompanied by a description of the person sought, a statement of the facts of the case, the text of the applicable provisions of the laws of the requesting Government describing the offense and punishment, and a statement of its applicable laws relating to proceedings barred by lapse of time.
3. When the request relates to a person who has not yet been convicted, it shall also be accompanied by a copy of a warrant of arrest issued by a judge or other judicial officer of the requesting Government and by such evidence as would provide probable cause, according to the laws of the requested Government, to believe that the person sought has committed the offense for which extradition is requested.
4. When the request relates to a convicted person, it shall be supported by a copy of the judgment of conviction and evidence establishing that the person sought is the person to whom the conviction refers. If no sentence has been imposed, the request for extradition shall be accompanied by a statement to that effect. If a sentence has been imposed, the request for extradition shall be accompanied by a statement to that effect, by a copy of the sentence or committal order and by a statement showing the portion of the sentence remaining to be served.
5. Documentary evidence from the requesting Government in support of a request for extradition shall be deemed duly authenticated and shall be admissible in evidence in the extradition hearing when it bears a seal of the requesting Government, the authenticity of which is attested to by the resident representative of the requesting Government assigned or accredited to the requested Government, or by the resident representative of the requested Government assigned or accredited to the requesting Government, or by the designee of such a resident representative.
6. The requested Government shall promptly communicate to the requesting Government the decision on the request for extradition.

Article VII

In case of urgency, a requesting Government may apply to the requested Government for the provisional arrest or detention of the person sought pending the presentation of the formal request for extradition. The request may be transmitted to the requested Government by the resident representative of the requesting Government.
2. The application shall contain: a description of the person sought, including, if available, the person's nationality; a brief statement of the facts of the case, including, to the extent possible, the time and location of the offense; a statement of the existence of a warrant of arrest or detention or a judgment of conviction against that person; and a statement of intention to request the extradition of the person sought.
3. On receipt of such an application, the requested Government shall take the appropriate steps to secure the arrest or detention of the person sought. The requested Government shall promptly notify the requesting Government of its action.
4. The proceedings against the person so arrested or detained shall be terminated and that person discharged upon expiration of forty-five days, unless otherwise agreed, from the date of arrest or detention pursuant to such application if the request for extradition referred to in Article VI of Title Two of this Agreement is not received by the requested Government. The requested Government shall sympathetically consider a request for extension not to exceed an additional fifteen days. Such termination and discharge shall not prevent the institution of further proceedings for the extradition of that person.

Article VIII

Rule of Speciality

1. A person extradited under this Agreement shall not be arrested, detained, tried or punished in the jurisdiction of the requesting Government for an offense other than that for which extradition has been granted nor be extradited by that Government to another signatory Government or a third country unless:

 - (a) Based on the same facts as were set out in the request for extradition and the supporting evidence;

2-11

Article X

Surrender

When a request for extradition has been granted, surrender of the person sought shall take place within such time as may be prescribed by the laws of the requested Government.

Waiver

1. A person whose extradition is sought may at any time voluntarily waive extradition proceedings. The waiver shall be in writing, endorsed by a judge, and have the effect of a final decision of the requested Government to surrender that person.

Article XII

Surrender of Property

1. To the extent permitted under the laws of the requested Government and subject to the rights of third parties, all property relating to the offense shall at the request of the requesting Government be seized and surrendered upon the granting of the extradition. 2. The appropriate legal officers of the requested Government shall act as counsel for the requesting Government except as otherwise agreed.

Article III

Eligibility

This Agreement shall apply only under the following conditions:

1. That the offense for which the Offender was convicted and sentenced is one which would be punishable in the Receiving Government; provided, however, that this condition shall not be interpreted so as to require that the offense described in the laws of both Governments be identical in those matters which do not affect the nature of the crime.
2. That the Offender be a citizen or national of the Receiving Government.
3. That the Offender has not been sentenced to the death penalty nor convicted of a purely military offense.

3. As to a Category II Offender, if the Transferring Government considers the request to transfer the Offender appropriate, the Transferring Government will communicate its approval of such request to the Receiving Government so that, once internal arrangements have been completed, the transfer of the Offender may be effected.
4. (a) In deciding whether to request the transfer of a Category II Offender under paragraphs 1 and 3 of this Article and with the objective that the transfer should contribute positively to the Offender's social rehabilitation, the authorities of the Receiving Government will consider, among other factors: the seriousness of the crime; the Offender's previous criminal record, if any; the Offender's health status; and the ties which the Offender may have to the society of the Transferring Government and the Receiving Government.

(b) If the Offender gives his express consent to the transfer, the Transferring Government shall consider the request promptly and approve it in the absence of serious countervailing considerations, which it shall specify.
5. In any case in which a citizen or national of Palau has been sentenced by a state of the United States, the approval of such an Offender's transfer pursuant to paragraph 3 of this Article shall be required from both the appropriate state authority and the federal authority.
6. When the Transferring Government does not approve, for whatever reason, the transfer of a Category II Offender, it shall communicate this decision to the Receiving Government without delay.
7. The Transferring Government shall furnish to the Receiving Government a certified copy of the sentence or judgment relating to the Offender. When the Receiving Government considers such information relevant, it may request, at its expense, copies of the trial record, or portions thereof, or such additional information as it deems necessary. The Transferring Government shall grant such requests to the extent permissible under its laws.

8. Delivery of an Offender by the authorities of the Transferring Government to those of the Receiving Government shall occur at a place agreed upon by the two Governments. The Receiving Government will be responsible for the custody and transport of the Offender from the Transferring Government.

9. The Receiving Government shall not be entitled to any reimbursement for the expenses incurred by it in the transfer of an Offender or the completion of the Offender's sentence.

Article V

Execution of Sentence

1. An Offender delivered for execution of sentence under this Agreement may not again be detained, tried or sentenced by the Receiving Government for the same offense for which the sentence was imposed by the Transferring Government.
2. Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, the completion of a transferred Offender's sentence shall be carried out according to the laws and procedures of the Receiving Government, including the application of any provisions for reduction of the term of confinement by parole or conditional release.
3. Each Signatory Party may request reports indicating the status of confinement of all Offenders transferred by it under this Agreement, including in particular the parole or release of an Offender. A Transferring Government may, at any time, request from the Receiving Government a special report on the status of the execution of an individual sentence.

Article VI

Review or Modification of Sentence

The Transferring Government shall retain exclusive jurisdiction over the sentences imposed and any procedures that provide for revision or modification of the sentences pronounced by its courts. The Transferring Government also shall retain the power to pardon or grant amnesty or clemency to an Offender. The Receiving Government, upon being informed of any decision in this regard, will put such measures into effect.

Agreement on Extradition, Mutual Assistance

Concluded Pursuant to Section 175 of
The Compact of Free Association

Agreed Minute

Article XVI, Relationship with Other Agreements: Article XVI of this Agreement makes it clear that "United States personnel" (within the meaning of the Status of Forces Agreement [SOFA]) who commit offenses while in Palau, shall be subject to the applicable provisions of the SOFA. If a person who comes within the SOFA definition of "United States personnel", other than a member of the force, returns to the United States and is no longer subject to the SOFA, the provisions of the extradition agreement would apply. If, however, the offender is a member of the force at the time of the extradition request, it is contemplated that the Executive Authority would not exercise its authority to extradite the offender, but would refer the case to the military authorities for disposition in accordance with the provisions of the SOFA.

Article XVI of the Extradition Agreement is without prejudice to the provisions of the SOFA which otherwise allows transfer of members of the force to Palau.

1. In fulfillment of its obligation under Section 211(f) of the Compact, the Government of the United States shall provide to the Government of Palau the sum of $66 million commencing on the effective date of the Compact and the sum of $4 million during the third year after the effective date of the Compact. These sums shall constitute the initial corpus of the Fund.

2. The Fund shall be owned by the Government of Palau. Neither the expiration of Section 211(f) of the Compact on the fiftieth anniversary of its effective date nor the termination of the Compact pursuant to its terms shall affect the ownership by the Government of Palau of the Fund. 1. Upon the initial capitalization of the Fund in accordance with Article II of this Agreement, the Government of Palau shall invest the Fund into interest-earning instruments which are structured to allow distributions during the qualifying years. The Fund may be invested in a single instrument or in a series of different instruments.

2. The Government of Palau shall retain the services of a qualified investment manager (the Fund Manager) of United States nationality with funds under management in excess of $1 billion to invest and manage the Fund on behalf of the Government of Palau in accordance with Section 211(f) of the Compact and this Agreement. Issues of bonds, notes or other redeemable instruments of the Government of the United States shall be considered qualified instruments and the Government of Palau may invest the Fund in such issues without transaction fees or intermediary charges imposed by the Government of the United States. In consultation with the Government of Palau, the Government of the United States shall designate other investment grade instruments of United States nationality and shall consider designating other investment grade instruments as qualified instruments in order that the performance objectives of the Fund are met.

3. The Government of Palau shall inform the Government of the United States of its decisions and actions with respect to investment or reinvestment of the Fund within sixty days of the consummation of each action. The Government of Palau shall notify the Government of the United States of the amount of each distribution made from the Fund within sixty days after the date of the distribution.

4. Investment of the Fund in qualified instruments of United States nationality, and the distribution of sums derived from such investment to the Government of Palau, shall not be subject to any form of taxation by the United States or its political subdivisions.
