TWO MORE SENTENCED IN BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA, ON FEDERAL FEMA FRAUD CHARGES

BATON ROUGE, LA – Two more Louisiana residents were sentenced in federal court by U.S. District Court Judge John V. Parker on fraud charges related to a hurricane disaster relief program, United States Attorney David R. Dugas announced today.

STEVEN F. ANDREWS, age 41, of Metairie, Louisiana, pled guilty on October 17, 2006, to Count Two of an indictment charging him with fraudulently claiming unemployment benefits under the Louisiana Department of Labor's Unemployment Insurance program from October 2, 2005, through March 2006. This program was in effect after Hurricane Katrina to expedite disaster relief assistance to claimants who had become unemployed as a result of Hurricane Katrina. ANDREWS was sentenced today to three years of probation and $8,375 in restitution. The U.S. Department of Labor's Office of Inspector General conducted the investigation of this matter.

LETETIA PARKER, age 21, of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, pled guilty on December 1, 2006, to Count One of an indictment charging her with making a false claim for Hurricane Katrina disaster assistance benefits. PARKER was sentenced today to three years of probation, $2,000 in restitution, and 50 hours of community service. The U.S. Secret Service and the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Office of Inspector General conducted the investigation of this matter.

The number of individuals who have been charged in the Middle District of Louisiana with violations related to hurricane disaster relief funds stands at one hundred.

In September 2005, Attorney General Alberto R. Gonzales created the Hurricane Katrina Fraud Task Force, designed to deter, investigate and prosecute disaster-related federal crimes such as charity fraud, identity theft, procurement fraud and insurance fraud. The Hurricane Katrina Fraud Task Force – chaired by Assistant Attorney General Alice S. Fisher of the Criminal Division – includes the FBI, the U.S. Inspectors General community, the U.S. Secret Service, the U.S. Postal Inspection Service, the Executive Office for United States Attorneys and others.
