WILLIAM T. WALSH
CLERK

The Grand Jury in and for the District of New Jersey, sitting in Camden, charges:

COUNT 1
(Conspiracy to Commit Health Care Fraud and Wire Fraud)

1. At all times relevant to this Indictment:
 - a. Defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY was a doctor of osteopathy with medical practices in Ocean City and Somers Point, New Jersey.
 - b. Matthew Tedesco, who is named as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant herein, was a pharmaceutical sales representative.

2. At all times relevant to this Indictment:
 - a. In New Jersey, the State Health Benefits Program (“SHBP”) offered medical and prescription drug coverage to qualified state and local government public employees, retirees, and eligible dependents. The School Employees’ Health Benefits Program (“SEHBP”) offered medical and prescription drug coverage to qualified local education public employees, retirees, and eligible dependents. SHBP and SEHBP each were “health care benefit programs” that affected commerce as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 24(b).
 - b. “Pharmacy Benefits Administrator” provided pharmacy benefit management services for SHBP and SEHBP beneficiaries and other insurance plan beneficiaries pursuant to contracts with the insurance plans. Pharmacy Benefits Administrator adjudicated claims for reimbursement from pharmacies and paid pharmacies for valid claims. Pharmacy Benefits Administrator then billed the insurance plans based on the amount paid to the pharmacies for the claims. Pharmacy Benefits Administrator was a “health care benefit program” that affected commerce as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 24(b).

c. In general, compounding was a practice in which a licensed pharmacist combined, mixed, or altered ingredients of one or more drugs in response to a prescription to create a medication tailored to the medical needs of an individual patient. Compounded drugs were not approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration (“FDA”); that is, the FDA did not verify the safety, potency, effectiveness, or manufacturing quality of compounded drugs.

d. Compounded drugs could be appropriately prescribed by a physician when an FDA-approved medication did not meet the health needs of a particular patient. For example, if a patient was allergic to a specific ingredient in an FDA-approved medication, such as a dye or preservative, a compounded drug could be prepared excluding the ingredient that triggers the allergic reaction.

3. Compounding Pharmacy 1 was a pharmacy located in Louisiana that prepared compounded medications. When Compounding Pharmacy 1 received a prescription for a compounded medication for an individual with prescription drug coverage administered by Pharmacy Benefits Administrator, Compounding Pharmacy 1 would electronically verify coverage with Pharmacy Benefits Administrator, fill the prescription by mailing the compounded medication to the individual, bill Pharmacy Benefits Administrator for the prescription, and receive payment from Pharmacy Benefits Administrator.

4. From in or about April 2015 through in or about February 2016, in Atlantic County, in the District of New Jersey, and elsewhere, defendant did knowingly and intentionally conspire and agree with Matthew Tedesco and others to commit certain offenses, namely:

- a. To knowingly and willfully to execute a scheme and artifice to defraud a health care benefit program and to obtain, by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, money and property owned by, or under the custody and control of, a health care benefit program in connection with the delivery of and payment for health care benefits, items, and services, contrary to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1347; and
- b. To devise a scheme and artifice to defraud, and to obtain money and property by means of materially false pretenses, representations, and promises, and for the purpose of executing such scheme and artifice, to transmit and cause to be transmitted by means of wire communications in interstate commerce, writings, signs, signals, and sounds, contrary to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1343.

Object of the Conspiracy

5. It was the object of the conspiracy for defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY, Matthew Tedesco, and others to unlawfully enrich themselves by: (1) causing the submission of false and fraudulent insurance claims for prescription medications to Pharmacy Benefits Administrator, which enabled Matthew Tedesco and others to receive a percentage of the money that Pharmacy Benefits Administrator paid to Compounding Pharmacy 1 for the prescription medications, and (2) steering individuals recruited to receive Compounding Pharmacy 1 prescription medications to defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY's medical practice, which enabled him to receive insurance payments for those unnecessary patient visits.

Manner and Means of the Conspiracy

6. It was part of the conspiracy that defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY, Matthew Tedesco, and others learned that Pharmacy Benefits Administrator would reimburse up to thousands of dollars for one individual's one-month supply of certain compounded and non-compounded prescription medications, including vitamins, scar creams, pain creams, anti-fungal gels, and libido creams.

7. It was further part of the conspiracy that Matthew Tedesco recruited individuals ("the Recruiters") to identify people who had prescription drug benefits administered by Pharmacy Benefits Administrator ("the Recruits") and who would agree to receive Compounding Pharmacy 1 prescription medications.

8. It was further part of the conspiracy that, for the prescriptions they arranged, Matthew Tedesco and others would receive from Compounding Pharmacy 1 a percentage of the amount that Compounding Pharmacy 1 received from Pharmacy Benefits Administrator for the medication. In turn, Matthew Tedesco and others would pay a percentage of the amount received from Compounding Pharmacy 1 to the Recruiters.

9. It was further part of the conspiracy that Recruiters, in turn, offered Recruits money and other remuneration in exchange for agreeing to receive the prescription medications.

10. It was further part of the conspiracy that Matthew Tedesco approached defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY about signing Compounding Pharmacy 1 prescriptions for those recruited to participate in the scheme, and defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY agreed to sign the prescriptions.

11. It was further part of the conspiracy that, in exchange for defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY's agreement to sign Compounding Pharmacy 1 prescriptions for patients referred to him, Matthew Tedesco, himself and/or through his Recruiters, referred more than 30 patients to defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY's medical practice.

12. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY would bill insurance plans and receive payments for seeing patients referred to his practice by Matthew Tedesco and the Recruiters.

13. It was further part of the conspiracy that the Recruits saw defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY to obtain Compounding Pharmacy 1 prescriptions with high reimbursement rates under their specific insurance plans, including those with benefits under the SHBP and SEHBP.

14. It was further part of the conspiracy that Matthew Tedesco provided defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY with pre-printed Compounding Pharmacy 1 prescription forms.

15. It was further part of the conspiracy that Recruiters also provided Recruits with pre-printed prescriptions forms to take to defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY for his signature.

16. It was further part of the conspiracy that Matthew Tedesco would notify defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY in advance of appointments made by Recruits who were coming to see him for the sole purpose of obtaining the prescriptions.

17. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY instructed Matthew Tedesco, who in turn instructed the Recruiters, that individuals coming to his practice to obtain Compounding Pharmacy 1 prescriptions should specifically ask for or reference the medications while in the patient exam room with him.

18. It was further part of the conspiracy that Recruiters instructed Recruits to falsely state an ailment before or during their appointment with defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY because defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY wanted to give the appearance that the office visits and prescriptions were legitimate.

19. It was further part of the conspiracy that, to avoid detection, defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY instructed Matthew Tedesco that he would sign only two Compounding Pharmacy 1 prescriptions at a time for a Recruit. On several occasions, following the initial visit, defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY then would sign additional prescriptions for that Recruit at a later date, often without seeing the Recruit again.

20. It was further part of the conspiracy that most Recruits did not have a prior doctor-patient relationship with defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY and did not return to his medical practice after seeing him to obtain Compounding Pharmacy 1 prescriptions.

21. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed or authorized Compounding Pharmacy 1 prescriptions that were not medically necessary. For example:

- a. Defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed prescriptions for medications for patients who did not have conditions the medications were supposed to treat, including libido creams for young women who did not have underlying medical conditions to justify the prescriptions.
- b. Defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed and authorized prescriptions for medications that were not discussed during the individual's visit with defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY, including medications for medical conditions not discussed with defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY.

c. Defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed and authorized prescriptions for medications without conducting medical evaluations or tests before writing these prescriptions.

22. It was further part of the conspiracy that after defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed a prescription, he did not return the prescription to the Recruit to be filled at a pharmacy chosen by the Recruit. Instead, defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY caused the prescription to be faxed to Compounding Pharmacy 1, which filled the prescription and billed Pharmacy Benefits Administrator.

23. It was further part of the conspiracy that when Pharmacy Benefits Administrator stopped covering a particular medication and Compounding Pharmacy 1 substituted a different combination of ingredients, Matthew Tedesco gave defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY a list of patients who needed new prescriptions, and defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY authorized the new prescriptions without examining or talking to the patients.

24. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY, Matthew Tedesco, and others caused Pharmacy Benefits Administrator to pay Compounding Pharmacy 1 over $5,000,000 for medications.

In violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1349.

COUNT 15
(Conspiracy to Commit Health Care Fraud and Wire Fraud)

29. Paragraph 2 of Count 1 of this Indictment is hereby realleged and incorporated as though set forth in full herein.

30. Defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY was a doctor of osteopathy with medical practices in Ocean City and Somers Point, New Jersey.

31. Defendant VINCENT TORNARI was President of Company 1 and received a portion of money that Company 1 received.

32. Mark Bruno, who is named as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant herein, was a pharmaceutical sales representative.

33. Compounding Pharmacy 2 was a pharmacy located in Pennsylvania that prepared compounded and other prescription medications. When Compounding Pharmacy 2 received a prescription, Compounding Pharmacy 2 would fill the prescription by preparing the medication and mailing it to the individual. Compounding Pharmacy 2 would bill Pharmacy Benefits Administrator for the prescription and receive payment.

34. Company 1 marketed prescription medications on behalf of Compounding Pharmacy 2, and Compounding Pharmacy 2 paid Company 1 a percentage of the amount that Compounding Pharmacy 2 received for prescriptions originated by Company 1.

35. From in or about November 2015 through in or about January 2017, in Atlantic County, in the District of New Jersey, and elsewhere, defendants did knowingly and intentionally conspire and agree with Mark Bruno and others to commit certain offenses, namely:

BRIAN SOKALSKY and

- a. To knowingly and willfully to execute a scheme and artifice to defraud a health care benefit program and to obtain, by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, money and property owned by, or under the custody and control of, a health care benefit program in connection with the delivery of and payment for health care benefits, items, and services, contrary to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1347; and
- b. To devise a scheme and artifice to defraud, and to obtain money and property by means of materially false pretenses, representations, and promises, and for the purpose of executing such scheme and artifice, to transmit and cause to be transmitted by means of wire communications in interstate commerce, writings, signs, signals, and sounds, contrary to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1343.

Object of the Conspiracy

36. It was the object of the conspiracy for defendants BRIAN SOKALSKY, VINCENT TORNARI and others to: (a) unlawfully enrich themselves by causing the submission of false and/or fraudulent insurance claims for prescription medications to Pharmacy Benefits Administrator or another pharmacy benefits administrator, (b) receive a portion of the money that Pharmacy Benefits Administrator paid to Compounding Pharmacy 2 for those prescription medications, and (c) steer individuals recruited to receive Compounding Pharmacy 2 medications to defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY's medical practice, which enabled him to receive insurance payments for those unnecessary patient visits.

Manner and Means of the Conspiracy

37. It was part of the conspiracy that Company 1 had an agreement with Compounding Pharmacy 2 under which Company 1 would market Compounding Pharmacy 2 prescription medications, and Compounding Pharmacy 2 would pay Company 1 approximately 50% of the amount Compounding Pharmacy 2 received for each prescription.

38. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendants VINCENT TORNARI and BRIAN SOKALSKY, Mark Bruno, and others learned that, for beneficiaries of the SHBP, SEHBP, and certain other insurance plans, the Pharmacy Benefits Administrator would reimburse up to thousands of dollars for one individual's one-month supply of certain compounded and non-compounded prescription medications, including vitamins, scar creams, and pain creams.

39. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant VINCENT TORNARI recruited Mark Bruno and others to identify people who had insurance plans and prescription drug benefits administered by Pharmacy Benefits Administrator or another pharmacy benefits administrator ("the Recruits").

40. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant VINCENT TORNARI and Mark Bruno agreed that Company 1 would pay Mark Bruno approximately 20% of the insurance reimbursement amount for all Compounding Pharmacy 2 prescriptions for individuals Mark Bruno recruited to participate in the scheme and for prescriptions signed by defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY.

41. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant VINCENT TORNARI instructed Mark Bruno to pay the Recruits in exchange for their agreement to receive the prescription medications covered by their insurance plans and to pay in cash to avoid detection.

42. It was further part of the conspiracy that in approximately the fall of 2015, defendant VINCENT TORNARI and Mark Bruno approached defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY about signing Compounding Pharmacy 2 prescriptions, and defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY agreed to sign Compounding Pharmacy 2 prescriptions as part of the scheme.

43. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant VINCENT TORNARI showed defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY pre-printed prescription forms from Compounding Pharmacy 2, and instructed defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY as to which medications were reimbursed by certain insurance plans, including SHBP and SEHBP, for the highest amounts.

44. It was further part of the conspiracy that Mark Bruno recruited individuals who had prescription drug benefits under the SHBP and SEHBP and told them that he would pay them to see defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY to obtain prescriptions signed by defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY.

45. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant VINCENT TORNARI and Mark Bruno gave defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY money and other remuneration as a reward for signing Compounding Pharmacy 2 prescriptions.

46. It was further part of the conspiracy that, in exchange for defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY's agreement to write Compounding Pharmacy 2 prescriptions, Mark Bruno referred patients to defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY's medical practice.

47. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY would bill insurance plans and receive payments for seeing individuals who came to his practice solely to obtain prescriptions.

48. It was further part of the conspiracy that the Recruits saw defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY solely to obtain prescriptions with high reimbursement rates under their specific insurance plans, including those with benefits under the SHBP and SEHBP.

49. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant VINCENT TORNARI and Mark Bruno would notify defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY in advance of appointments made by the Recruits that were coming to see him to obtain the prescriptions.

50. It was further part of the conspiracy that, in other instances, Mark Bruno would call defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY's office to schedule appointments for the Recruits to see defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY to obtain prescription medications, and defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY knew which patients came to see him to obtain the prescriptions.

51. It was further part of the conspiracy that the Recruits did not have a prior doctor-patient relationship with defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY and did not return to his medical practice after seeing him in order to obtain the prescriptions he signed for them.

52. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed and authorized Compounding Pharmacy 2 prescriptions without a medical necessity for the medications. For example, on certain occasions:

- a. Defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed prescriptions for medications for patients who did not have conditions the medications were supposed to treat.
- b. Defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed and authorized prescriptions for medications that were not discussed during the individual's visit with defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY.
- c. Defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed and authorized prescriptions after not evaluating or only cursorily evaluating the patients for the ailments the medications were allegedly designed to treat.

- d. Defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed Compounding Pharmacy 2 prescriptions for Mark Bruno and Individual 15 without first conducting an office visit or medical evaluation of either of them.

53. It was further part of the conspiracy that, once defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY signed the Compounding Pharmacy 2 pre-printed prescription form, he did not return the prescription to the individual to be filled at a pharmacy chosen by the individual. Instead, defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY and others caused the completed prescriptions to be faxed to Compounding Pharmacy 2, which then filled the prescriptions and then billed Pharmacy Benefits Administrator or another pharmacy benefits administrator.

54. It was further part of the conspiracy that when Pharmacy Benefits Administrator or another pharmacy benefits administrator stopped covering a medication, defendant VINCENT TORNARI gave Mark Bruno a letter template containing false information and instructed Mark Bruno to have Recruits send this letter to appeal the denial of coverage.

55. It was further part of the conspiracy that certain Recruits, at the direction of defendant VINCENT TORNARI and Mark Bruno, sent or caused the submission of these letters containing false information to appeal the denial of coverage.

56. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant VINCENT TORNARI informed defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY when additional medications with high insurance rates or reformulations were identified so that defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY would know to write and authorize these prescriptions.

57. It was further part of the conspiracy that when Pharmacy Benefits Administrator or another pharmacy benefits administrator stopped covering a particular medication and Compounding Pharmacy 2 substituted a different combination of ingredients, defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY prescribed the new medication without having follow-up visits or discussions with the patients.

58. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant BRIAN SOKALSKY, defendant VINCENT TORNARI, Mark Bruno, and others caused Pharmacy Benefits Administrator and other pharmacy benefits administrators to pay Compounding Pharmacy 2 over $500,000 for medications.

In violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1349.

(Conspiracy to Violate Travel Act By Commercial Bribery and Conspiracy to Deprive Patients and Employer of Honest Services)

63. Paragraph 2 of Count 1 and Paragraphs 31 and 33-34 of Count 15 of this Indictment are hereby realleged and incorporated as though set forth in full herein.

64. Defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI, who also used the name Ashley Lyons, was an advanced practice nurse and an employee of Medical Office 1 in Pennsville, New Jersey. As an advanced practice nurse, defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI was authorized under New Jersey law and regulations to prescribe medicines.

65. Individual 18 was the boyfriend of defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI and lived with her.

66. Medical Office 1 was a provider of health care services to patients through doctors, advanced practice nurses, and other medical staff. Medical Office 1 had an office in Pennsville, New Jersey.

67. Defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI had a duty as an employee of Medical Office 1 to give honest services to Medical Office 1 and avoid conflicts of interest. Defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI had a fiduciary duty as an advanced practice nurse to act in the best interest of her patients and a duty of honest services to her patients. The duties of defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI to her employer and her patients included the duty to refrain from agreeing to accept and accepting bribes and kickbacks relating to the performance of her duties as an employee of Medical Office 1 and her decisions to prescribe medications to patients.

68. From in or about April 2014 through in or about October 2016, in Salem County, in the District of New Jersey, and elsewhere, defendants did knowingly and intentionally conspire and agree with each other and with others to commit offenses against the United States, that is:

ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI and

- a. To knowingly and intentionally travel in interstate commerce and use and cause to be used the mail and facilities in interstate commerce with intent to promote, manage, establish, carry on, and facilitate the promotion, management, establishment, and carrying on of an unlawful activity, that is, commercial bribery by paying for prescribing medications, contrary to N.J.S.A. § 2C:21-10 and Title 18, United States Code, Section 1952(a)(3), and thereafter, to perform acts to promote, manage, establish, carry on, and facilitate the promotion, management, establishment, and carrying on of such unlawful activity, contrary to Title 18, United States Code, Section 1952(a)(3); and
- b. To knowingly and intentionally devise a scheme and artifice to defraud ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI's patients of their right to her honest services as their advanced practice nurse and to defraud ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI's employer of its right to her honest services, and to transmit and cause to be transmitted by means of wire, radio, and television communication in interstate and foreign commerce, writings, signs, signals, pictures and sounds for the purpose of executing such scheme and artifice, contrary to Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1343 and 1346.

Object of the Conspiracy

69. The object of the conspiracy was for defendants ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI and VINCENT TORNARI to unlawfully enrich themselves by: (1) paying, causing the payment of and receiving bribes and kickbacks to defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI and Individual 18 for prescribing Compounding Pharmacy 2 medications, and (2) receiving commission payments after insurance paid for those prescriptions.

Manner and Means of the Conspiracy

70. It was part of the conspiracy that in or about April 2014, defendant VINCENT TORNARI asked defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI to prescribe medications prepared by Compounding Pharmacy 2 and, at the same time, hired her live-in boyfriend Individual 18 to be a sales representative for Company 1 selling Compounding Pharmacy 2 medications, even though Individual 18 had no experience in pharmaceutical sales.

71. It was further part of the conspiracy that on or about April 24, 2014, Individual 18 and defendant VINCENT TORNARI signed a contract under which Individual 18 would receive a commission from Company 1 for each Compounding Pharmacy 2 prescription that Individual 18 originated if insurance paid for that prescription.

72. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI knew that Individual 18 would receive a commission on each covered prescription she wrote and that she would receive a kickback consisting of half of each commission payment that Individual 18 received.

73. It was further part of the conspiracy that on or about April 24, 2014, the same day as the effective date of the contract signed by Individual 18, defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI wrote for the first time a prescription for a Compounding Pharmacy 2 medication.

74. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI wrote at least 18 additional Compounding Pharmacy 2 prescriptions from April 25, 2014 through May 2, 2014.

75. It was further part of the conspiracy that on or about May 8, 2014, defendant VINCENT TORNARI signed a commission check from Company 1 for $3,800 to Individual 18 for prescriptions from April 25, 2014, through May 2, 2014.

76. It was further part of the conspiracy that on or about May 12, 2014, defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI received a check for $1,900 from Individual 18 as her half of the May 8, 2014 commission payment.

77. It was further part of the conspiracy that during the course of the conspiracy, defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI continued to prescribe Compounding Pharmacy 2 medications, defendant VINCENT TORNARI continued to write commission checks and cause commission payments to Individual 18, and Individual 18 continued to give defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI half of the commission checks he received.

78. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI did not disclose to her patients or to Medical Office 1 that she and Individual 18 were receiving payments for her prescribing Compounding Pharmacy 2 medications.

79. It was further part of the conspiracy that defendant ASHLEY LYONS-VALENTI asked her co-workers and subordinates at Medical Office 1 to agree to receive Compounding Pharmacy 2 medications and persuaded co-workers to receive the medications, typically without performing a medical examination to determine that they needed the medications.
