I figured this was still progressing nicely. Im sure itll cross the finish line not before long and is some thing that can and will be highlighted as a win and the right types of activities when mentioned at a workshop. GOOGL taking on the DOJ now maybe will have them less aggressive in strict interpretations of contracts? So maybe that helps in terms of timing to push Branch? Im curious Thread broadcast: No worries. We have all teams running on it. Wjl is very involved

Actually the COMPLETE opposite. Google just did a fuck you to Samsung. After the doj filings, they submitted a new redline that went backwards in all negotiations with Samsung and was even more aggressive in being restrictive

They basically don't feel the doj has a real case
