I. Overview for the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission

1. Introduction

To support its mission, the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission (Commission) requests a total of $2,366,000, 11 permanent positions, and 9 full-time equivalents (FTE).

The Commission is a small, independent, quasi-judicial agency organized for administrative purposes within the Department of Justice that has a high profile and important mission in FY 2021: distribute to U.S. victims of international terrorism monies paid to the United States by foreign governments and to continue to adjudicate claims of individuals for harms suffered during World War II. Currently, the Commission is adjudicating the claims of U.S. victims of Iraqi actions during the Saddam Hussein era, referred to the Commission by the Department of State by letter dated October 7, 2014 (Iraq has already paid to the United States approximately $400 million to satisfy these claims). Further, the Commission is adjudicating claims under the Guam World War II Loyalty Recognition Act, Title XVII, Pub. L. No. 114-328, 130 Stat. 2000, 2641-2647 (2016), compensating residents of Guam who were mistreated during the Japanese occupation of Guam during World War II. The Commission anticipates that it will complete its adjudication of claims in the Iraq program prior to FY 2021. However, based on the number of claims in the Guam program and the complexity of issues associated with the claims, adjudication of claims in this program will continue through FY 2021. In addition, depending on the movement of events internationally, other, similar programs can be anticipated.

The Commission consists of a Chairman and two part-time Commissioners, who are appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, as well as legal and non-legal secretariat staff. The Chairman and the part-time Commissioners are entitled to receive compensation at the Executive Level V rate of pay for performance of official business of the Commission. The work of adjudicating claims and awarding compensation is necessarily labor-intensive, requiring legal and factual research on the part of Commission staff, and adjudicatory work by the members of the Commission. The majority of the Commission’s budget supports personnel. The bulk of the remainder is for fixed costs, including rent. While the operating expenses of the Commission are appropriated from taxpayer funds, in virtually all instances, the legislation authorizing the adjudication of claims has provided for deduction of 5% of the funds obtained from foreign governments in settlement of the claims adjudicated by the Commission. This amount is deposited to the credit of miscellaneous receipts in the United States Treasury to defray administrative expenses.

To date, the Commission has administered and completed 49 international and war-related claims programs involving claims against 20 countries: Yugoslavia, Panama, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania, Italy, the former Soviet Union, the former Czechoslovakia, Poland, Cuba, China, the former German Democratic Republic, Vietnam, Ethiopia, Egypt, Iran, Albania, the Federal Republic of Germany, Libya, and Iraq.

The Commission is prepared to provide any further information about the background of the Commission, its existing programs, and congressional interest in these programs.

2. Issues, Outcomes, and Strategies

In FY 2021, the Commission plans to continue its administration of the Guam Claims Program. The Guam World War II Loyalty Recognition Act, Title XVII, Pub. L. No. 114-328, 130 Stat. 2000, 2641-2647 (2016) (the “Guam Loyalty Recognition Act” or “Act”) was signed into law on December 23, 2016. The Act authorizes the Commission to adjudicate claims and determine the eligibility of individuals for payments under the Act, in recognition of harms suffered by residents of Guam as a result of the occupation of Guam by Imperial Japanese military forces during World War II.

Furthermore, the Commission will continue to have authority under the International Claims Settlement Act of 1949, as amended, and the 1995 United States-Albanian Claims Settlement Agreement, to make awards in any additional claims against Albania that are filed. In addition, when appropriate, the Commission will continue to reopen and reconsider claims it had previously denied, taking into account the modification of the Albanian Claims Settlement Agreement effected in 2006.

In addition, the Commission will continue to have authority under Title III of the Cuban Liberty and Democratic Solidarity (LIBERTAD) Act of 1996, to act as Special Master. Title III authorizes U.S. nationals whose property in Cuba was confiscated by the Castro regime to bring federal court actions against foreign entities “trafficking” in those properties. Under this Title, the United States District Courts are authorized to appoint the Commission as Special Master to make determinations on issues such as ownership and valuation of property for use in court actions.

Moreover, the Commission will research and respond to requests for information concerning properties expropriated by the Castro regime in Cuba, in support of the Department of State’s continuing implementation of Title IV of LIBERTAD. The Commission continues to maintain and update a computerized database of some 13,000 records containing specific information on all of the claims adjudicated in its Cuban Claims Program. This database enables the Commission to respond more quickly and accurately to requests for information from the State Department and the general public.

Also, under the War Claims Act of 1948, as amended, the Commission will also continue to have authority to award compensation to any previously uncompensated American servicemen held as prisoners of war in Southeast Asia during the Vietnam conflict, or their survivors, for inadequate rations and inhumane treatment while in captivity.

Finally, the Commission will continue to furnish information contained in its records pertaining to the 49 completed international and war related claims programs it has conducted, as requested by claimants, their heirs, attorneys, researchers, and other members of the public. It will also provide to other U.S. agencies technical advice on their policy determinations, participate in preliminary planning and evaluation of pending claims legislation, and coordinate with congressional committees considering legislation for adjudication of additional types of claims.
3. Challenges

External Challenges
The Commission’s external challenges include the necessity of being continuously prepared for a workload dictated almost exclusively by changing international events, current and future claims programs enacted by Congress or referred to the Commission by the Department of State, and the number of claims filed in such programs. In addition, the Commission must be prepared to respond to inquiries by the public, Congress, and other federal agencies regarding what effect any actual or potential policy change has or may have on the Commission’s current and/or past programs.

Internal Challenges
The Commission’s internal challenges include maintaining and focusing the skills, expertise, and experience of its staff to assist claimants with claims against foreign governments, as well as to provide technical assistance in this area to the Department of State and other federal agencies upon request. At the same time, the Commission must continue its claims records modernization effort by improving and updating the information in its databases and on its website. The Commission intends to concentrate efforts on increasing its transparency, by increasing the availability of its decisions and records to the public, particularly through electronic media.

1. Program Description

The Commission has a single Decision Unit, and its mission is to protect the rights of U.S. citizens abroad and to promote the international rule of law through adjudication of claims brought by United States citizens against foreign governments.

The Commission currently pursues the following organizational goals:

- Issue well-reasoned and timely decisions in all claims against foreign governments adjudicated by the Commission.
- Provide notice to U.S. citizens of opportunities to enforce their rights against foreign governments under the Commission’s authority and provide timely guidance and assistance in pursuing their claims.
- Certify all awards to the Department of Treasury in a timely and accurate fashion to ensure prompt payment within the statutory guidelines set forth in the Commission’s authorizing statutes.
- Ensure that the decisions of the Commission are widely available and accessible to, inter alia, researchers, international legal scholars, and government officials.
- Ensure readiness to administer, upon enactment of authorizing legislation or referral to the Commission by the Secretary of State, future programs for claims against foreign governments; and to advise Congress and other agencies concerning policy determinations relating to the settlement of international claims as well as potential future claims programs.
- Upon request, assist the Department of State in negotiations for the settlement of claims against foreign governments.

3. Performance, Resources, and Strategies

The Commission is an independent agency. Its budget is fully integrated with its own priorities.

   a. Performance Plan and Report for Outcomes

In addition to its principal function of adjudicating claims of United States nationals against foreign governments, the Commission provides continuing informational services to claimants (and, where applicable, their legal successors) with regard to the 49 international and war claims programs it has concluded. It also provides advice to other Federal agencies on their policy determinations, preliminary planning, and evaluation of proposed legislation intended to authorize adjudication of claims of new categories of claimants, and liaison with congressional committees considering such legislation.

   b. Strategies to Accomplish Outcomes

In FY 2021, the Commission will continue to adjudicate claims arising under the Guam World War II Loyalty Recognition Act, Title XVII, Pub. L. No. 114-328, 130 Stat. 2000, 2641-2647 (2016).

Under the International Claims Settlement Act of 1949, as amended, and the 1995 U.S.-Albanian Claims Settlement Agreement and the 2006 modification of that agreement, the Commission will continue to have authority to make awards in any additional claims against Albania that may be filed.

Under Title III of the Cuban Liberty and Democratic Solidarity (LIBERTAD) Act of 1996, the Commission will continue to have authority to act as Special Master.

The Commission will also research and respond to requests for information concerning properties expropriated by the Castro regime in Cuba, in support of the Department of State’s Continuing implementation of Title IV LIBERTAD Act of 1996. The Commission will also provide, upon request, technical assistance to the Department of State in conducting government-to-government claims settlement negotiations.

Under the War Claims Act of 1948, as amended, the Commission will continue to have authority to award compensation to any previously uncompensated American servicemen held as prisoners of war in Southeast Asia during the Vietnam conflict, or their survivors, for inadequate rations and inhumane treatment while in captivity.
