Immigration Courts: Total Matters Received and Completed

When the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) charges an alien with a violation of immigration law by issuing a charging document, typically either a Notice to Appear (NTA) or a Notice of Referral to Immigration Judge, the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) obtains jurisdiction over the case. EOIR has oversight over the immigration courts nationwide, and the Board of Immigration Appeals, which has appellate review over immigration judge decisions. Once EOIR has either ordered an alien removed, or granted relief or protection from removal, DHS is responsible for effectuating that alien's physical removal or providing that alien evidence of their immigration status, which permits the alien to remain in the United States.

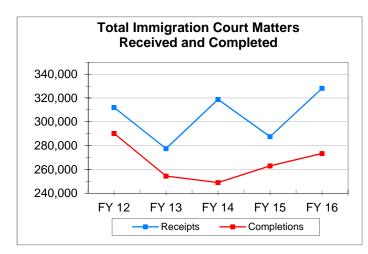

In immigration court, aliens appear before an immigration judge and either contest or concede the charges against them. In some instances, the immigration judge adjourns the case and sets a continuance date. The alien may file an application for relief or protection and, after hearing the merits of the case, the immigration judge renders a decision, either ordering the alien removed, or granting relief or protection from removal. If the immigration judge decides that DHS has not established removability, the immigration judge may terminate the case.

Immigration judges also consider matters such as bonds and motions.

- An immigration judge holds bond redetermination hearings when an alien in custody seeks release on their own recognizance, or seeks a reduction in the amount of bond previously set by DHS.
- Either the alien or DHS may request by motion that a case an immigration judge previously heard be reopened, reconsidered, or recalendared.

For the purposes of this Statistics Yearbook, the term "immigration court matters" includes cases (deportation, exclusion, removal, credible fear review, reasonable fear review, claimed status review, asylum only, rescission, continued detention review, Nicaraguan Adjustment and Central American Relief Act, and withholding only); bond redeterminations; and motions to reopen, reconsider, or recalendar. Immigration court receipts are defined as the total number of charging documents; bond redeterminations; and motions to reopen, reconsider, or recalendar that the immigration courts received during the reporting period. Immigration court completions include immigration judge decisions and other completions (such as administrative closings) on cases, bond redeterminations, and motions to reopen, reconsider, or recalendar that immigration judges did not grant.

Total Immigration Court Matters
	Receipts	Completions
FY 12	312,082	290,233
FY 13	277,463	254,434
FY 14	318,771	248,957
FY 15	287,534	262,955
FY 16	328,112	273,390

As shown in Figure 1, the number of matters the immigration courts received increased by 14 percent between Fiscal Year (FY) 2015 and FY 2016. The number of matters the immigration courts completed increased by 4 percent from FY 2015 to FY 2016.

While some courts showed decreases in receipts from FY 2015 levels, others showed increases in receipts. In Table 1 (page A3), courts with increases in receipts of 25 percent or more are highlighted in blue and courts with decreases of 25 percent or more are highlighted in red. The immigration court in Atlanta, GA, showed the largest (86 percent) increase in receipts. The immigration court in Guaynabo (San Juan), Puerto Rico, showed the largest (60 percent) decrease. Table 1A (page A4) identifies receipts for FY 2016 by type of matter.

Table 2 (page A5) provides a comparison of FY 2015 and FY 2016 completions by immigration court. Courts with increases in completions of 25 percent or more are highlighted in blue, and those with decreases of 25 percent or more are highlighted in red. Elizabeth, NJ, showed the largest (95 percent) increase in completions. Denver, CO, showed the largest (61 percent) decrease. Table 2A (page A6) identifies completions for FY 2016 by type of matter.

Immigration Courts: Cases Received and Completed by Type

Until April 1, 1997, the two major types of cases adjudicated by immigration courts were exclusion and deportation cases. Individuals who the former Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) charged as excludable were placed in exclusion proceedings. Exclusion cases generally involved a person who tried to enter the United States, but was stopped at the point of entry because INS found the person to be inadmissible. Deportation cases usually arose when INS alleged that an alien had entered the country illegally, or had entered legally, but then violated one or more conditions of their visa.

Provisions of the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 established six new types of cases: removal, credible fear review, reasonable fear review, claimed status review, asylum only, and withholding only. Additional types of cases include: rescission, continued detention review, and Nicaraguan Adjustment and Central American Relief Act (NACARA).

Table 3 shows all types of cases that the immigration courts received between Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 and FY 2016. Deportation and exclusion case types are no longer reported on this page as they were replaced by removal cases due to the changes in the law noted above.

Note that initial case completions reflect immigration judge decisions and other completions. As shown in Tab C, other completions accounted for 26 percent of the cases completed in FY 2016.

Immigration Courts: Case Completions by Disposition

After one or more hearings, the immigration judge either renders an oral decision or reserves the decision and issues a decision at a later date. In rendering a decision, the immigration judge may order the alien removed from the United States, grant some form of relief, or terminate the case. In addition to decisions, there are other possible case outcomes which are reported here as other completions such as administrative closures.

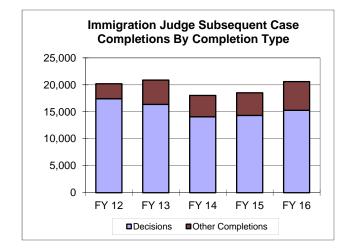

Figure 4 and Figure 4A provide a breakdown of initial case completions and subsequent case completions from Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 to FY 2016 by type of completion – either through an immigration judge decision or through another type of completion.

Figure 5 provides a breakdown of removal proceeding immigration judge decisions by disposition on initial case completions for FY 2012 to FY 2016. Immigration judges first decide whether or not the charges against an alien should be sustained. If the charges are not sustained or if the alien has established eligibility for citizenship, the judge terminates the case. If the charges are sustained, the judge decides whether to order the alien removed from the United States or to grant relief. In some cases, the immigration judge may permit the alien to depart the United States voluntarily. Orders of voluntary departure are counted as removals.

Immigration Courts: Initial Case Completions by Representation Status

An attorney or other representative who is fully accredited by the Department of Justice as well as reputable individuals or law students or graduates under the direct supervision of an attorney with the permission of the immigration judge may represent individuals in proceedings before an immigration judge. Many individuals who appear before EOIR are indigent and cannot afford a private attorney. EOIR provides lists of pro bono service providers and maintains a list of fully-accredited representatives who may be able and willing to assist indigent aliens in immigration proceedings.

As shown in Figure 10, the percentage of represented aliens has increased over the last five years, increasing from 50 percent in Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 to 61 percent in FY 2016.

Immigration Courts: Initial Case Completions for Detained Cases

Detention locations include Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Service Processing Centers (SPC), DHS contract detention facilities, state and local government jails, and Bureau of Prisons institutions. For the purpose of this Statistics Yearbook, Institutional Hearing Program (IHP) cases are considered detained cases. See Tab H.

Figure 11 provides a comparison of detained initial case completions to total initial case completions. The number of initial cases completed for detained aliens decreased 42 percent from Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 to FY 2016.

Table 8 provides information, by immigration court, on FY 2016 detained completions. The following immigration courts each completed more than 3,000 detained initial cases in FY 2016: Dallas and Houston SPC. Immigration courts in three border states – Texas, Arizona, and California – accounted for 51 percent of the detained completions in FY 2016. Courts in those three states are highlighted in blue.

Immigration Courts: Institutional Hearing Program Cases Received and Completed

The Institutional Hearing Program (IHP) is a cooperative effort between EOIR; the Department of Homeland Security (DHS); and various federal, state, and municipal corrections agencies. In Fiscal Year (FY) 2015, DHS filed charging documents with the immigration courts for incarcerated aliens in 58 different institutions. Immigration judges and court staff either travel to these institutions to conduct IHP hearings or the immigration judges conduct the hearings by video teleconference.

Figure 12 provides information on IHP receipts and completions for FY 2012 to FY 2016. IHP receipts declined by 18 percent from FY 2012 to FY 2016.

Table 9 provides a breakdown of IHP initial case completions by disposition. IHP completions declined by 20 percent between FY 2012 and FY 2016, and the majority of that change came in removal decisions.

Immigration Courts: Asylum Cases Received and Completed

There are two types of asylum processes – defensive and affirmative. The defensive asylum process applies to aliens who appear before EOIR and who request asylum before an immigration judge. The process is called "defensive" because it can provide relief from being removed from the United States. The affirmative asylum process applies to aliens who initially file an asylum application with the Department of Homeland Security's U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS).

For the purpose of this Statistics Yearbook, asylum receipts are based on the initial asylum application received date and asylum completions are based on the initial case completion. Figure 14 shows the affirmative and defensive asylum receipts at the immigration courts for Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 to FY 2016. Affirmative asylum receipts have fallen sharply (95 percent) from FY 2012 to FY 2016. Defensive asylum receipts have increased significantly (221 percent) from FY 2012 to FY 2016.

FY 15	6,144	44,475	50,619
FY 16	1,445	63,773	65,218

As shown in Figure 15, asylum receipts increased by 35 percent and asylum completions increased by 55 percent from FY 2012 to FY 2016. In the last year both asylum receipts and completions showed increases (29 and 25 percent respectively).

An applicant for asylum also is an applicant for withholding of removal under section 241(b)(3) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA). Figure 20 depicts the withholding of removal grant rate under section 241(b)(3) of the INA. Cases that had grants for both asylum and withholding were omitted from the withholding of removal grant rate because they have previously been counted as an asylum grant.

Immigration Courts: Convention Against Torture

In 1999, the Department of Justice implemented regulations regarding the Convention Against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (Convention Against Torture or CAT). There are two forms of protection under the 1999 regulations:

- Withholding of removal under the Convention Against Torture may be granted to an alien who establishes that they would be tortured in the proposed country of removal.
- Deferral of removal may be available to aliens who are not eligible for withholding of removal under the Convention Against Torture, but provides less protection against removal as the protection can be more easily and quickly terminated if it becomes possible to remove the alien.

As shown in Table 14, the immigration courts adjudicated 37,060 CAT applications during Fiscal Year (FY) 2016. Of those, immigration judges granted 621 CAT applications, and the majority of those grants were withholding.

Immigration Courts: Voluntary Departure

For the purpose of the Statistics Yearbook, voluntary departure is considered a form of removal, and not a type of relief. Immigration judge removal decisions on cases include grants of voluntary departure. Table 17 shows the percentage of removal orders that are grants of voluntary departure.

Immigration Courts: In Absentia Orders

When an alien fails to appear for a hearing, the immigration judge may conduct a hearing in the alien's absence (in absentia).

Figure 23 compares immigration judge decisions on the initial case completion and in absentia orders. Of the immigration judge decisions rendered in Fiscal Year (FY) 2016, 25 percent involved in absentia orders. The In Absentia rate dramatically increased from FY 2012 (11 percent) to FY 2015 (28 percent) but has shown a slight decline from FY 2015 to FY 2016 (25 percent).

The following figures show EOIR data on in absentia rates for non-detained aliens which include never detained aliens and aliens released on bond or own recognizance.

Figure 24 shows a comparison of the number of in absentia orders with the number of immigration judge decisions on the initial case completion for aliens who have never been detained. From FY 2012 to FY 2016 the number of in absentia orders for never detained aliens increased by 110 percent while the number of immigration judge decisions for those aliens increased by only 10 percent in the same time period.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Total Cases Received and Completed

The majority of cases the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) reviews arise from decisions immigration judges make in removal, deportation, or exclusion cases. These types of cases are listed below. For purposes of this Statistics Yearbook, these types of cases are referred to as appeals from immigration judge decisions.

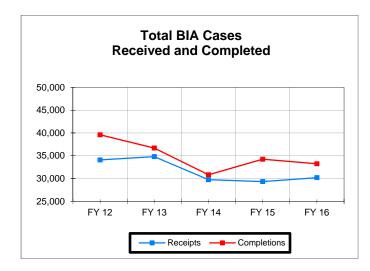

- Case appeals from the decisions of immigration judges in removal, deportation, and exclusion cases at the court level;
- Appeals filed from the decisions of immigration judges on motions to reopen;
- Motions to reopen and/or reconsider filed in cases already decided by the BIA;
- Appeals pertaining to bond, parole, or detention;
- Interlocutory appeals relating to important jurisdictional questions regarding the administration of the immigration laws or recurring problems in the handling of cases by immigration judges; and
- Cases (or appeals) remanded from the Federal Court.

The BIA also has jurisdiction to review appeals arising from certain decisions that Department of Homeland Security (DHS) officials render. These types of appeals are listed below. For purposes of this Statistics Yearbook, appeals from these DHS decisions are referred to as DHS decision appeals.

- Family-based visa petitions adjudicated by DHS district directors or regional service center directors;
- Waivers of inadmissibility for non-immigrants under § 212(d)(3)(A)(ii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act; and
- Fines and penalties imposed upon carriers for violations of immigration laws.

Figure 27 provides total BIA cases received and completed for Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 to FY 2016. Between FY 2015 and FY 2016 completions have showed a slight decrease while receipts have showed a slight increase. Although completions slightly decreased between FY 2015 and FY 2016, BIA completions have consistently exceeded receipts the last five years.

FY 15	29,341	34,243
FY 16	30,200	33,240

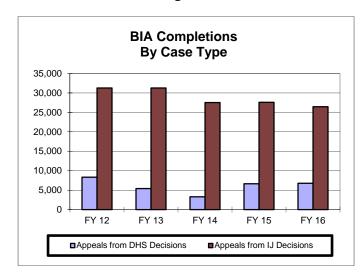

Figures 28 and 29 provide information on the types of cases the BIA receives and completes. Appeals from immigration judge decisions make up the bulk of the BIA's work. Receipts of appeals from immigration judge decisions increased by 7 percent from FY 2015 to FY 2016, while receipts of appeals from DHS decisions have decreased by 13 percent. Completions of appeals from immigration judge decisions and completions of appeals from DHS decisions remained relatively unchanged from FY 2015 to FY 2016.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Cases Received and Completed by Type

The Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) has jurisdiction over certain types of cases arising from immigration judge decisions. For more information, refer to Page Q1. For purposes of this Statistics Yearbook, these types of cases are referred to as appeals from immigration judge decisions.

The BIA also has jurisdiction to review appeals arising from certain decisions that Department of Homeland Security (DHS) officials render. These types of appeals are listed at Page Q1. For purposes of this Statistics Yearbook, appeals from these DHS decisions are referred to as DHS decision appeals.

As shown in Table 18 and Table 19, the majority of appeals from immigration judge decisions are from case appeals and the majority of appeals from DHS decisions are from visa petitions.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Appeals from Immigration Judge Decisions Completed by Representation Status

As shown in Figure 31, the representation rate before the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) has stayed fairly consistent from Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 to FY 2016. The five years ranged from 76% to 79%. Only appeals from immigration judge decisions are included in these statistics.

Represented Before the BIA
	Represented	Represented Unrepresented
FY 12	24,853	6,422	31,275
FY 13	24,742	6,535	31,277
FY 14	20,807	6,722	27,529

FY 16	20,928	5,545	26,473

Board of Immigration Appeals: Case Appeals from Immigration Judge Decisions Completed for Detained Cases

The Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) handles detained cases (including aliens in the Institutional Hearing Program (IHP)) as priority cases.

Figure 32 depicts the number of case appeal decisions between Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 and FY 2016 along with the number of case appeal decisions that involved detainees. The figures for detained appeal decisions also include IHP cases. The detained case appeal decisions decreased by 26 percent from FY 2012 to FY 2016 while the total number of case appeal decisions decreased by 17 percent for the same time period.

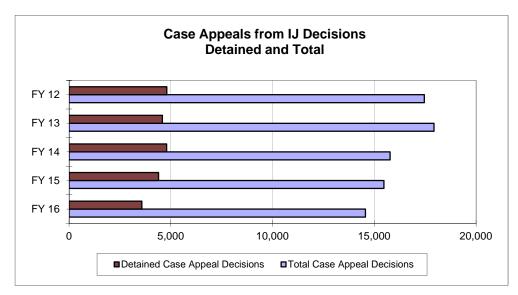

Figure 32

D	Detained Case Appeals from IJ Decisions (Including IHP)
	Detained Case Appeal Decisions	Total Case Appeal Decisions	Percent Detained
FY 12	4,805	17,459	28%
FY 13	4,589	17,933	26%
FY 14	4,796	15,775	30%
FY 15	4,398	15,474	28%
FY 16	3,578	14,564	25%

Table 21 shows a breakdown of total detained case appeals completed by the BIA, and of those, the number of respondents who were serving sentences at an IHP location. In FY 2016, eight percent of detained BIA completions involved aliens whose removal orders had been issued prior to their release from a federal, state, or municipal corrections facility, up from seven percent in FY 2012. The number of IHP completions declined by 20 percent from FY 2012 to FY 2016 while the number of detained completions has decreased by 26 percent for the same time period.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Immigration Judge Decisions (Initial Case) Appealed

Parties appeal a relatively small percentage of immigration judge decisions to the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA). Figure 33 compares immigration judge initial case decisions with the number of case appeals the BIA received for Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 through FY 2016. While the percentage of IJ decisions being appealed has returned to FY 2012 levels, the number of case appeals received by the BIA has increased compared to FY 2015.

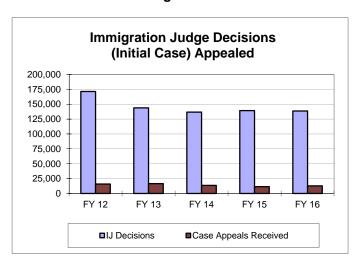

Figure 33

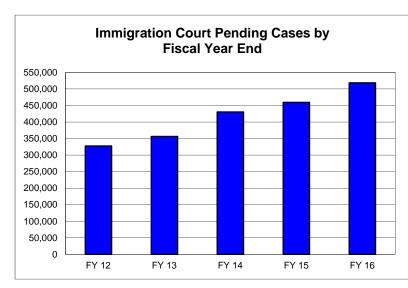

IJ Decisions (Initial Case) Appealed
	IJ Decisions	Case Appeals Received	Percent Appealed
FY 12	171,485	15,856	9%
FY 13	143,807	16,495	11%
FY 14	136,732	13,557	10%
FY 15	139,331	11,470	8%
FY 16	138,669	12,748	9%

Immigration Courts and Board of Immigration Appeals: Pending Caseload

As in any court system, EOIR's workload depends on the number of matters filed before it. The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) determines EOIR's initial caseload by filing charging documents that allege that an alien has violated immigration law. The parties determine the nature and number of the cases and the number of appeals from immigration judge decisions. In addition, changes to the immigration laws or regulations, and DHS policies and budgeting, have a substantial impact on EOIR's workload.

Figure 34 presents information on the pending cases in the immigration courts at the end of each year Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 to FY 2016. The number of pending immigration court cases has grown by 58 percent since the end of FY 2012, and by 13 percent since the end of FY 2015.

Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer: Total Cases Received and Completed

The Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer (OCAHO) is headed by the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer, who is responsible for the general supervision of administrative law judges (ALJs), management of OCAHO and review of ALJ decisions relating to illegal hiring, employment eligibility verification violations and document fraud. OCAHO's ALJs hear cases and adjudicate issues arising under provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) relating to:

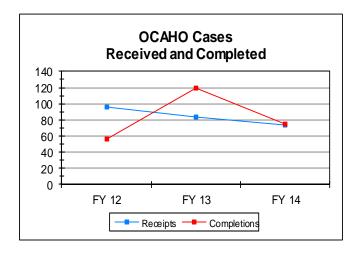

- Knowingly hiring, recruiting or referring for a fee unauthorized aliens, or the continued employment of unauthorized aliens, failure to comply with employment eligibility verification requirements, and/or requiring indemnity bonds from employees in violation of section 274A of the INA (employer sanctions provisions);
- Unfair immigration-related employment practices in violation of section 274B of the INA (anti-discrimination provisions); and
- Immigration-related document fraud in violation of section 274C of the INA (document fraud provisions).

Employer sanctions and document fraud complaints are brought by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. Anti-discrimination complaints may be brought by the U.S. Department of Justice's Immigrant and Employee Rights Section or private litigants. All final agency decisions may be appealed to the appropriate federal circuit court of appeals.

In order to more fully and transparently report on its workload and performance, starting in fiscal year (FY) 2015, OCAHO began reporting on receipts and completions pertaining to subpoenas, requests for review, and attorney's fees, in addition to complaints and final decisions under INA Section 274A, INA Section 274B, and INA Section 274C.

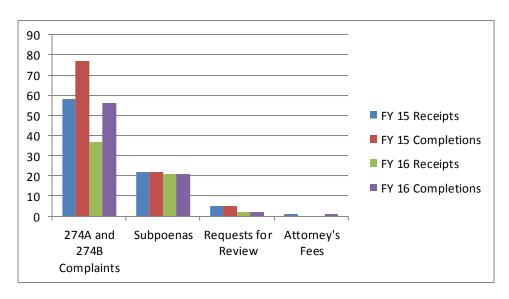

Figure 36 displays the number of case receipts and completions for the three fiscal years prior to OCAHO's change in reporting, while Figure 37 includes receipts and completions for complaints, subpoenas, requests for review, and attorney's fees in FY 2015 and FY 2016. Completions may include cases received in a prior fiscal year.
