Financial Fraud & Scams

Millions of older Americans lose money to financial fraud and scams each year. Scammers will try to contact you in person, on the phone, through the computer, radio, TV ads, email, and text. They often pressure you to act quickly. But YOU have the power to stop these scammers and the right to say “NO”.

Five of the most common scams affecting older Americans are:

Online Shopping
Scammers pretend to be a real business, but have a fake website or a fake ad on a genuine retailer site.

Tip
Only click on links you searched for

Business Imposters
Scammers send emails or texts pretending to be a major retailer to get your money or personal information.

Tip
Don't click on links in texts or emails before checking your account or contacting the company

Tech Support
Scammers pose as tech support and offer to fix computer problems that are not real. They ask you to give them access to your computer and steal your personal information.

Tip
Accept tech support help only when you noticed a problem and you hired someone or asked for help
Do not send or receive money in any form (like gift cards or wire transfers) from anyone you have met online, no matter how sad or convincing their story.

Scammers pose as government employees and threaten to arrest or prosecute you unless you agree to pay them.

Scammers pose as interested romantic partners and convince you to give them money or offer to send you money in order to steal your personal information.
