[10305] 10301 et seq.) and to reimburse the Office of Personnel Management for such salaries and expenses: Provided further, That of the amounts provided under this heading for the election monitoring program, $3,390,000 shall remain available until expended.

In addition, for reimbursement of expenses of the Department of Justice associated with processing cases under the National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act of 1986, not to exceed [$9,358,000] $11,970,000, to be appropriated from the Vaccine Injury Compensation Trust Fund.
B. Analysis of Appropriations Language

The FY 2017 request proposes several changes in the General Legal Activities appropriations language. First, the Criminal Division requests $9,000 in representational fund authority for FY 2017 for the use of the three Criminal Division offices that represent the Department of Justice on international matters: the Office of International Affairs (OIA); the Office of Overseas Prosecutorial Development, Assistance and Training (OPDAT); and the International Criminal Investigative Training Assistance Program (ICITAP). On behalf of the Department of Justice, these offices deal with foreign counterparts on a daily basis, both in Washington and in their overseas posts. Yet these offices are not funded to provide, or to reciprocate to, even the most basic hospitalities that are integral to the conduct of international relations.

The Criminal Division’s inability to fund hospitality measures undermines the fundamental objective of building overseas partnerships to fight terrorism and transnational crime. Because our foreign counterparts almost universally are funded to provide such hospitality, they logically assume that the United States must likewise provide representational funds to DOJ and may conclude that the Criminal Division’s inability to fund gestures of hospitality means that we do not highly value the relationship. Accordingly, in order to build the relationships key to fighting terrorism and transnational crime, the Criminal Division’s offices of OIA, OPDAT, and ICITAP seek this authority to advance the building of foreign relationships that are key to U.S. security.

Second, the Civil Rights Division directs and manages federal enforcement of the provisions of the Voting Rights Act, including the election monitoring provisions of the Act. The Division reimburses the Office of Personnel Management for salaries and expenses that it incurs for federal observers for elections. The language change ensures that the appropriations language fully covers the election monitoring program, which operates under numerous provisions of the Voting Rights Act—not just Section 8. Travel is the single biggest cost associated with DOJ’s own election monitoring work.

Finally, the Vaccine Injury Compensation Program caseload has doubled over FY 2009 levels and is projected to continue increasing through FY 2017 and beyond. To manage this drastic increase in case activity, Civil is requesting an increase of $2.61 million for total program funding of $11.97 million to fund 12 additional positions. If this request is not funded, significant delays in the adjudication process will occur, causing delays in compensation to meritorious claimants, which will undermine this innovative compensation system that Congress designed.
