Bureau of Prisons	South East Region Crisis Management Training 2018	Perry, Georgia	9/10/2018	9/13/2018	320	320	320	$ 210,923	Regional Crisis Management Training is vital for institution first responders and Crisis Management Teams to enhance the agency's ability to carry out its mission. This training, held every two years, is designed to emphasize teamwork and cooperation between each of the Incident Command System (ICS) components, while affording them the opportunity to develop and test their integrated skills in a safe and controlled setting. The ICS components participating in these training exercises are better equipped to respond quickly and decisively when a crisis arises. Additionally, this critical training provides for the inclusion of newer team members to ensure solid continuity of the skills and knowledge acquired in a much broader scope. This affords greater flexibility should the teams be called upon to respond to emergencies beyond their local areas and to interact seamlessly with other agencies responding to potential incidents.
Bureau of Prisons	National Chief Psychologists Training	Potomac, Maryland	9/18/2018	9/20/2018	113	113	113	$ 188,828	The National Chief Psychologists Training supplements "Chief Psychologist Familiarization," a mandatory training for Chief Psychologists, with emphasis on management of the mentally ill, alternatives to restrictive housing, and reentry focused, evidence-based programming.
Bureau of Prisons	Principles of Leadership Phase II	Potomac, Maryland	9/24/2018	9/27/2018	98	98	98	$ 211,424	Principles of Leadership Phase II (POL II) course is designed to provide participants with general skills necessary for new managers. Major topics include situational leadership, labor/management relations, ethics, communication skills, coaching and mentoring, vision, team leadership and more. POL II is a mandatory training required for all managers and supervisors GS-11 through GS-13.
Civil Division	False Claims Act Orientation	Washington, District of Columbia	10/24/2017	10/26/2017	90	41	125	$ 104,572	The False Claims Act (FCA) conference covered the basics of pursuing FCA cases. Topics included the liability and whistleblower provisions of the statute, investigative issues (such as parallel proceedings, document preservation, and contacts with represented parties), settlement and litigation issues, and significant practice areas like procurement and healthcare fraud. The FCA conference is required for all new Fraud Section attorneys and has proven invaluable to Assistant U.S. Attorneys (AUSAs) who return to their districts to handle these complex cases on their own or in partnership with our office.
Drug Enforcement Administration	Drug Enforcement Administration Strategic Leadership Program	South Bend, Indiana	7/29/2018	8/3/2018	25	25	25	$ 132,493	The DEA Strategic Leadership Program was developed in conjunction with the University of Notre Dame's Stayer Center for Executive Education. The course addresses agency performance and leadership challenges as identified by DEA and the Office of Personnel Management. Over the past year, the Drug Enforcement Administration has had multiple individuals appointed to Senior Executive Service and GS-15 positions. DEA's Executive Management Staff throughout the Divisions are responsible for implementing programs consistent with DEA's mission and to deal with the challenges faced on a national, regional and local scale. The implementation of this program helps ensure the agency is able to respond to those challenges and opportunities by developing a cadre of highly-qualified and informed DEA leaders.
Drug Enforcement Administration	Diversions Management Training	Atlanta, Georgia	2/21/2018	2/22/2018	227	208	233	$ 239,011	The Diversions Management Training fostered improved communication between Headquarters and field elements with the ultimate goal of consistent enforcement and regulatory endeavors throughout the nation. It is critical that supervisors have the most up-to-date policy and regulatory guidance regarding issues such as Electronic Prescriptions for Controlled Substances (EPCS), drug disposal, telepharmacy, telemedicine, compounding pharmacies, narcotic treatment programs, data-waived physicians, and EMS programs. In addition, the training provided critical updates and strategies pertaining to chemical, pharmaceutical and regulatory investigations.
Drug Enforcement Administration	DEA Strategic Leadership Program	South Bend, Indiana	3/18/2018	3/23/2018	23	23	25	$ 133,797	The DEA Strategic Leadership Program was developed in conjunction with the University of Notre Dame's Stayer Center for Executive Education. Drug Enforcement Administration	International Drug Enforcement Conference (IDEC)	Rotterdam, Netherlands	4/10/2018	4/12/2018	93	200	350	$ 508,833	IDEC is an annual three-day conference to bring together senior drug law enforcement leaders from over 120 nations to collaborate on drug-related intelligence and policies, as well as develop joint operational strategies targeting the world's most prolific Drug Trafficking Organizations. Co-sponsored by the Netherlands National Police (NPN) and DEA, IDEC 35 proved another tremendous forum for DEA to build and enhance multilateral cooperation and commitment necessary to lessen the impact of transnational crime domestically and on our foreign law enforcement and prosecutorial partners. DEA funded a portion of the conference ($508,833), while the remaining conference costs were borne by the NPN, and by individual governments to fund travel by their delegates.
Drug Enforcement Administration	Middle East Region (MER) Targeting Workshop	Dubai, United Arab Emirates	9/11/2018	9/13/2018	42	38	44	$ 129,384	The Middle East Region (MER) is a large and complex area spanning the entire Eurasian continent to include Afghanistan and Pakistan. The DEA Country Offices in the MER engage in regional enforcement investigations and operations; this approach has been instrumental to its success. This meeting enabled face-to-face exchange of sensitive information between all the region's leadership personnel that would be otherwise challenging due to distance and time. The meeting afforded supervisors the opportunity to share and discuss local and regional issues that have a direct impact on the success of DEA and the MER, as well as provide a strategic overview of the narcotics situation within the region and the drug trafficking nexus to the US.
Drug Enforcement Administration	Special Response Team Certification Course No. 8	Undisclosed	Undisclosed	Undisclosed	44	49	49	$ 175,282	The Office of Training is conducting a Special Response Team Certification Course (SRT SCC) to further train agents in tactical training. Office of Justice Programs	2017 National Training Institute	Portland, Oregon	12/4/2017	12/7/2017	6	232	232	$ 370,317	In support of the Department of Justice's strategic goals and objectives, including upholding the rights of victims of crime, the Department is committed to supporting crime victims to keep them safe from further harm, assist their recovery, and facilitate their participation in the justice process if they choose. Held annually and hosted by the National Center for Victims of Crime, the National Training Institute (NTI) brings together victim service professionals, researchers, policymakers and others in the criminal justice field to share best practices in serving victims across the United States, while creating new collaborations. Traditionally, the NTI is among the largest gatherings of professionals from the victim service field, often attracting 800 to 1,000 attendees (most of whom cover their own travel and registration expenses). NTI included two dedicated tracks in the December 2017 event for grant programs funded by the Office for Victims of Crime (OVC): 1) The National Resource Center was established as a "one-stop shop" for victim service providers, criminal justice professionals and policymakers to obtain information and expert guidance to enhance their capacity to serve all victims of crime. The Department sponsored 232 professionals to attend NTI on behalf of the National Resource Center and subsequently have access to an array of training opportunities, including five plenary sessions featuring cutting-edge victim services topics, 16 unique workshops specifically focused on the National Resource Center's issues, a half-day learning exchange on identifying and serving crime victims, and exclusive access to individualized guidance and advice from experts in reaching and serving victims; and 2) The State Victim Assistance Academy (SVAA) training and technical assistance (TTA) initiative addresses the demand for more coordinated and multidisciplinary approaches to training victim service providers and allied professionals. State-level victim assistance academies deliver a blend of education and skills-based training for professionals who routinely work with victims, and the goal of the TTA initiative is to develop tools and resources to replicate, support, and sustain SVAAs. DOJ sponsored 44 professionals to attend an SVAA Leadership Symposium within the December 2017 NTI event to respond to the need for quality training for victim service providers. SVAA leaders shared best practices and strategies to ensure service providers have the critical training they need to develop their professional skills and respond to the complex needs of victims.

Office of Justice Programs	2017 Coordinated Tribal Assistance Solicitation Orientation and American Indian Justice Conference	Coachella Valley, Palm Springs, California	12/5/2017	12/8/2017	15	39	273	$ 164,701	In 2017, the President issued an Executive Order directing the Department of Justice to take the lead on federal actions to support law enforcement efforts nationwide and to collaborate with state, tribal, and local jurisdictions to restore public safety to all of our communities. Consistent with the Executive Order, the Coordinated Tribal Assistance Solicitation (CTAS) Grantee Orientation and American Indian Justice Conference furthered the Department's efforts to increase public safety and improve the fair administration of justice, providing support for tribal law enforcement to reduce and prevent violent crime and address the opioid epidemic in Indian Country. The event provided training and technical assistance (TTA) to tribal grantees to address public safety and criminal justice needs in tribal communities. It focused on enhancing the tribal community's response to combat alcohol and drug abuse, recognizing how trauma impacts drug and alcohol abuse in tribal communities, and identifying current trends and best practices for tribal justice systems to strengthen multi-disciplinary approaches to healing and justice. The event's five multi-disciplinary tracks included alcohol and substance abuse, tribal justice strategic planning, tribal courts, tribal security and probation, and tribal youth; and also focused on law enforcement, probation, and community corrections. It assisted tribes to effectively manage their awards, meet financial management and reporting requirements of the awards, increase awareness of grant fraud, and improve the sustainability of programs beyond the grant funding period. Joint tribal training events such as this event are designed to increase the knowledge of criminal and tribal justice practitioners and provide tribal justice agencies and grantees with opportunities to work together to solve specific problems and enhance policies and practices.
Office of Justice Programs	2017 Institute for State Criminal Justice and Public Safety Executives	Charleston, South Carolina	12/15/2017	12/16/2017	3	55	72	$ 121,154	In 2017, the President issued an Executive Order directing the Department of Justice to take the lead on federal actions to support law enforcement efforts nationwide and to collaborate with state, tribal, and local jurisdictions to restore public safety to all of our communities. Consistent with the Executive Order, the 2017 Institute for State Criminal Justice and Public Safety Executives furthered the Department's efforts to increase public safety and improve the fair administration of justice. The Institute provided training and technical assistance for state officials by the National Governors Association Center for Best Practices (the NGA Center) in partnership with the National Criminal Justice Association (NCJA). The goal of the Institute is for state officials, such as governors' Criminal Justice Policy Advisors (CJPA) and State Administering Agency (SAA) directors, to network and learn about public safety issues and trends to foster relationships, develop solutions, and explore policies to address public safety in their communities. Through plenary sessions and facilitated discussions, state officials were provided the opportunity to coordinate policy development and criminal justice planning that addressed public safety challenges within their communities.
Office of Justice Programs	Sex Offender Registration and Notification Act (SORNA) - 2018 National SORNA Implementation Workshop	Albuquerque, New Mexico	1/9/2018	1/10/2018	1	11	392	$ 130,674	SORNA is Title I of the Adam Walsh Child Protection and Safety Act of 2006. SORNA set forth new national minimum standards for sex offender registration and notification. The Office of Sex Offender Sentencing, Monitoring, Apprehending, Registering, and Tracking (SMART) is mandated to: 1) administer the standards for SORNA implementation; 2) provide grant programs related to SORNA; and 3) provide training and technical assistance to all jurisdictions to improve sex offender tracking. The 2018 National SORNA Workshop offered the only national training opportunity for registry officials and law enforcement personnel from all 216 SORNA jurisdictions (states, tribes, the five principle U.S. territories and the District of Columbia) working on SORNA implementation to come together to gain and exchange information. At the Workshop, federal and state personnel trained participants on ways to more effectively implement and enforce sex offender registration laws through collaboration with federal partners. Participants also exchanged information on their related work, including ideas to improve information sharing and collaboration across jurisdictional lines as well as international notifications. In addition, the Workshop provided participants the opportunity to receive individualized grant assistance.
OJP - Office of Justice Programs	Impression, Pattern, and Trace Evidence Symposium	Crystal City, Virginia	1/22/2018	1/23/2018	29	113	651	$ 214,321	The Impression, Pattern, and Trace Evidence Symposium (IPTES) directly furthered the President's priorities to reduce crime, including violent crime, and support law enforcement and prosecutors in their efforts to accomplish their mission. The Symposium directly supported the National Institute of Justice's (NIJ) core mission and strategic goals by providing an opportunity for forensic science researchers and practitioners to translate knowledge into practice and promote collaboration and technology advancements among the impression, pattern, and trace evidence analysts, law enforcement, and legal communities. Impression, pattern, and trace evidence can provide important investigative leads and probative evidence in an investigation, to both link a suspect to a crime and support criminal prosecutions. Stakeholders of the criminal justice system continuously need venues such as this to share scientific developments that result from research, advances in forensic practice and operational management, and policy improvements. The in-person information sharing, networking, dialogue, and opportunities for the hundreds of attendees is invaluable.

Office of Justice Programs	2018 Body-Worn Camera Training and Technical Assistance National Meeting	Arlington, Virginia	3/27/2018	3/28/2018	6	17		$ 101,776	The Bureau of Justice Assistance's (BJA) Body Worn Camera Partnership Program was created through Department of Justice appropriations acts to strengthen accountability and transparency in law enforcement through the effective deployment and use of body-worn camera (BWC) systems. The 2018 BWC Training and Technical Assistance National Meeting furthered the President's priority to protect and support law enforcement. It provided direct support to law enforcement agencies funded through BWC's policy and implementation program. Meeting attendance was required for new FY 2017 BWC grantees and optional for BWC grantees funded in FY 2016. The meeting provided grantees training and guidance on key grant administration responsibilities, including financial and progress reporting; performance measurement tracking; and federal procurement rules related to BWC equipment purchase. It also provided instruction and facilitated discussion around key programmatic grant requirements, including development of comprehensive and purposeful BWC policies that were inclusive of broad stakeholder input. The meeting featured presentations and facilitated discussion by FY 2016 grantee agencies that had exhibited exemplary BWC policy development and BWC program implementation. Subject matter experts provided grantees training and facilitated discussion on effective use of BWCs to mitigate risk and enhance public relations; improving BWC training; the latest research on the benefits of BWCs; and effective strategies to manage storage and redaction of BWC digital footage. As a result of this meeting, grantees were better prepared to administer their grants and to deploy their BWC programs in a manner that would ensure officer safety, improve evidentiary value of BWCs, and enhance relationships with the public they serve.
Office of Justice Programs	3rd Annual National Sexual Assault Kit Initiative (SAKI) Grantee's Meeting	Arlington, Virginia	3/27/2018	3/28/2018	16	33		$ 133,992	This event directly supported the President's priorities of reducing violent crime and supporting law enforcement officers and prosecutors. It brought together over 200 criminal justice practitioners and subject matter experts from across the nation to discuss the sustainability of efforts to ensure just resolution of sexual assault cases and improve practices for investigation and prosecution as related to sexual assault evidence and cases, including the investigation of cold case homicides associated with sexual assault kits. The event focused on the elements of a successful investigation/prosecution, as well as issues surrounding unsubmitted sexual assault kits and the response to these sexual assault cases. It provided a critical opportunity for law enforcement officers, prosecutors, forensic laboratory and victim advocacy personnel to discuss best practices, collaborate, and identify approaches to common challenges encountered when investigating and prosecuting previously unsubmitted sexual assault kits. The event also provided grantees the opportunity to engage with federal partners, such as the Bureau of Justice Assistance, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the National Institute of Justice, and the Office on Violence Against Women, seeking just resolution of sexual assault cases and the reduction of violent crime.
Office of Justice Programs	Law Enforcement, Victims, and Community Partners Collective Healing Demonstration Site Initiative Kick Off Meeting	Alexandria, Virginia	4/9/2018	4/11/2018	5	47	61	$ 106,241	The Demonstration Site Initiative Kick-Off Meeting for the Collective Healing project furthered the Department of Justice's priorities of supporting law enforcement officers, and supporting crime victims to keep them safe from further harm, assist their recovery, and facilitate their participation in the justice process if they choose. Funded by a grant from the Office for Victims of Crime (OVC), the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) hosted this event, which was designed to strengthen relationships between law enforcement, victims of crime, and their communities. The overall goal was to address officer health and well-being, promote problem-solving between law enforcement and the communities they serve, and improve the delivery of victim services. The meeting focused on assisting law enforcement agencies with their needs assessments and development of victim-centered response strategies and interventions to promote community engagement. The meeting also delivered expert technical assistance resources for law enforcement on how to best respond to victims, and presented an overview of community-based victim services. Representatives from five sites attended the kick-off meeting, including teams led by the Baton Rouge Police Department, Houston Police Department, Minneapolis Police Department, Oakland Police Department, and Rapid City Police Department. The multidisciplinary teams consisted of law enforcement leadership, essential community partners, mental health providers, and victim assistance experts. The outcome of the kick-off meeting was that the five sites are better prepared to assess and address crucial community and agency needs and internal culture and accountability structures that affect safety and community support for law enforcement, as well as develop and implement policies to build trust in their communities. These successes can lead to more victims reporting crimes and accessing vital services, while holding more offenders accountable for their crimes.

Office of Justice Programs	National Association of Drug Court Professionals Annual Training Conference	Houston, Texas	5/29/2018	6/2/2018	12	19	6000	$ 137,217	The Drug Court Grant Program was created through Department of Justice appropriations acts and is administered by the Office of Justice Programs' Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA). The National Association of Drug Court Professionals (NADCP) is a national expert in the Drug Courts and Veterans Treatment Court models and is a key partner with the Department and BJA, currently serving as one of BJA's training and technical assistance (TTA) partners for drug court grantees and the field of practitioners. The NADCP directly furthers the President's priority to reduce violent crime and promote safe communities, including combatting the opioid epidemic and reducing overdose deaths, by promoting effective drug courts. Drug courts are implemented by state, local, and tribal jurisdictions to integrate substance abuse treatment, mandatory drug testing, sanctions and incentives, and transitional services in a judicially-supervised court setting. Drug courts are the most researched criminal justice intervention in use today. They have a 25-year track record of success in diverting drug-addicted individuals from incarceration, reducing their risk of recidivism, and improving public safety and health. NADCP, a training and technical assistance partner for drug court grantees and the field, hosts this training event annually. It is one of the largest conferences on addiction, mental health, and justice reform, drawing over 6,000 attendees each year and it includes the Vet Court Con, an annual conference focusing on Veterans Treatment Courts. The 2018 event offered over 300 sessions consisting of 25 different treatment tracks, veterans' tracks, a law enforcement series, skills building, and veterans mentor boot camp sessions. It convened judges, law enforcement officials, treatment providers, drug and veterans court coordinators, researchers, prosecutors, leading authorities on best practices in adult, juvenile, and veterans substance abuse treatment, drug court graduates, veteran treatment court graduates, probation officers, attorneys, consumer advocates and experts in the drug and veterans court field. The criminal justice professionals that attended were provided with usable answers to the most pressing questions related to maintaining an effective drug court and reducing recidivism. BJA leverages NADCP's annual training event, and the presence of the large number of grantees and the field of practitioners, to provide core training. The BJA costs incurred in support of this event were primarily the travel costs for 12 DOJ and 7 consultants/TTA providers and costs (including staff time) for planners and trainers/presenters/facilitators.
Office of Justice Programs	2018 National Law Enforcement Training on Child Exploitation	Atlanta, Georgia	6/12/2018	6/14/2018	258	284	1488	$ 689,698	In 2017, the President issued an Executive Order directing the Department of Justice to take the lead on federal actions to support law enforcement efforts nationwide and to collaborate with state, tribal, and local jurisdictions to restore public safety to all of our communities. Consistent with the Executive Order, the 2018 National Law Enforcement Training on Child Exploitation directly supported the President's priorities of reducing violent crime and supporting law enforcement officers, including prosecutors, and increasing public safety. The training event provided education of law enforcement investigators, prosecutors, digital forensic examiners and community outreach (i.e., prevention) personnel at the federal, state, and local levels, leading to better prevention of crime and more successful prosecution of those guilty of committing technology-facilitated crimes against children. The use of electronic technologies has exploded since the late 1990s, when the Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) Task Force program was created. Technology-facilitated crimes against children continue to change at an alarming pace. Criminals are now taking advantage of anonymous networks and hidden services, known as the Dark Web, to commit their crimes with little to no fear of being identified, much less apprehended. Modern digital applications have evolved into global communications systems, vast data storage media, and sophisticated high-speed mobile devices. Electronic devices and mobile technologies are readily accessible and affordable, and they continue to evolve and become more complex as they spread throughout the U.S. population. This has created both problems and opportunities for law enforcement. This training event provided the opportunity for nearly 1,500 attendees to participate in more than 125 unique lecture and interactive computer lab workshops. Without this event, it could take participants years to attend such a wide variety of training. With this training, the law enforcement community is better able to do their work and children across the globe are safer for it. This event enables all members of law enforcement agencies who work child exploitation cases, not just investigators and prosecutors affiliated with the national ICAC Task Force Program, to connect, communicate and learn with and from their colleagues from around the world, creating an invaluable network of resources.

Office of Justice Programs	2018 Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) National Training Conference	Savannah, Georgia	8/6/2018	8/9/2018	48	83	398	$ 140,712	In support of the Department of Justice's strategic goals and objectives, including upholding the rights of victims of crime, the Department is committed to supporting crime victims to keep them safe from further harm, assist their recovery, and facilitate their participation in the justice process if they choose. The goal of the 2018 Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) National Training Conference was to provide training and updated information on federal grant management and victim services to staff from state VOCA assistance administrative agencies and state crime victim compensation programs. Every state agency that is awarded a VOCA formula grant (which comprises approximately 80 percent of annual funding available to the Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) from the Crime Victims Fund) is required by grant conditions to attend this conference to stay abreast of current federal grant management information and learn about evidence-based and promising practices and policies related to serving victims. This conference has become even more essential as VOCA funding to state assistance agencies has increased exponentially in recent years, and the states and territories are currently collectively managing $7.8 billion. VOCA assistance and compensation administrators, as well as staff and board members of these state agencies, explored ways to improve the delivery of a full range of services to victims of crime; remain up-to-date on the most current national and state issues and trends in victims services; improve their administration of VOCA victim assistance and/or crime victim compensation formula grants; exchange information, views and experiences with colleagues; improve the provision of services to specific victim populations; provide training to subgrantees on effective program management; and use current information to comply with their responsibilities as managers of VOCA victim assistance and/or crime victim compensation grants.
OJP - Office of Justice Programs	Department Of Justice National Public Safety Partnership Symposium on Violent Crime	Birmingham, Alabama	9/24/2018	9/26/2018	118	203	286	$ 439,465	In 2017, the President issued an Executive Order directing the Department of Justice to take the lead on federal actions to support law enforcement efforts nationwide and to collaborate with state, tribal, and local jurisdictions to restore public safety to all of our communities. In furtherance of the Executive Order, in June 2017, the Attorney General announced the National Public Safety Partnership (PSP) program, an intensive training and technical assistance initiative designed to help the selected locations develop and implement programs and procedures intended to reduce violent crime. PSP provides a framework for enhancing federal support of state and local law enforcement officials and prosecutors as they aggressively investigate and prosecute violent criminals, specifically those involved in illegal firearm use, drug trafficking, and gang violence. PSP provides the Department with a platform to directly engage with cities to identify and prioritize resources that help local communities address their violent crime challenges. The 2018 PSP Symposium was a key aspect of the Department's PSP efforts. The Symposium convened executive leadership from federal, state and local law enforcement agencies and stakeholders and representatives of the 22 PSP cities for focused discussions that explored effective violence reduction strategies. The Symposium provided 2.5 days of in-depth training and technical assistance for the cities, which focused on strategies to reduce violent crime and included peer-to-peer learning; techniques for using data, technology; strategic information to focus resources and achieve success; and implementing tools and strategies to make their communities safer.
Office on Violence Against Women	Strengthening Sovereign Responses to Sex Trafficking in Indian Country	Palm Springs, Agua Caliente Reservation, California	1/30/2018	1/31/2018		52	280	$ 139,247	This conference addressed trafficking in Indian Country using a culturally-specific lens. This conference allowed tribes from around the country to convene and share best practices for supporting survivors and holding perpetrators accountable. The event's workshops assisted programs and agencies with information, implementations, and highlighting key issues to improve response to American Indian/Alaska Native survivors of sex trafficking.
Office on Violence Against Women	Office on Violence Against Women Campus Grant Program Training & Technical Assistance Institute	Atlanta, Georgia	2/19/2018	2/22/2018	1	28	372	$ 110,185	The campus grants program training had eight designated technical assistance providers delivering comprehensive, integrated and interactive trainings to grantees in their first year of the grant. The technical assistance providers also provided one on -one consultations, strategic planning, and technical expertise to build the capacity and competencies of each project team to effectively implement the program requirements upon completion of the first year of training.
Office on Violence Against Women	Office on Violence Against Women Campus Program Summer Training & Technical Assistance Institute	Fort Worth, Texas	6/11/2018	6/14/2018	3	38	458	$ 151,890	Campus Grantees and TA providers came together for intensive training, collaboration, and peer-to-peer learning to implement the Campus Roadmap. Training and Technical Assistance Institutes (TTIs) are designed to equip campuses with the core competencies necessary for them to build comprehensive response and prevention programs to address violence against women on their campuses. As a result, the conference fostered the capacity and provided the skills for campus grantees to meet OVW minimum requirements for the campus program.
