Mission:

The mission of OLC is to assist the Attorney General in his functions as legal advisor to the President and all of the Executive Branch agencies. The Office drafts legal opinions on behalf of the Attorney General and provides written opinions and oral advice in response to requests from the Counsel to the President, the various agencies of the Executive Branch, and offices within the Department. Such requests may involve legal issues about which two or more agencies are in disagreement. OLC is also responsible for providing legal advice to the Executive Branch on constitutional questions and reviewing pending legislation for constitutionality. OLC reviews all Executive Orders and Attorney General Orders for form and legality.

Resources:

The FY 2018 budget request for OLC totals $8.0 million, which is a 0.5% increase over the FY 2017 Continuing Resolution.

Organization:

OLC is headed by an Assistant Attorney General (AAG) who is appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. Additionally, the AAG is supported by a Principal Deputy Assistant Attorney General and 24 attorney advisers located in Washington, DC. Several of OLC's administrative functions have been provided by the executive office of the Office of the Solicitor General since FY 2012.

Personnel:

The OLC's direct positions for FY 2018 total 32 positions. OLC's FY 2018 request includes a decrease of 1 position from the FY 2017 Continuing Resolution level of 33 direct positions.

FY 2018 Strategy:

OLC's mission remains urgent as the Department continues to confront national security and intelligence challenges and advises the myriad of agencies involved in responding to the economic crisis.

OLC is involved in reviewing legislation on a wide variety of important Administration initiatives and in reviewing the large number of Executive Orders and Presidential memoranda that are used to carry out Executive Branch policies. OLC published 57 of its formal opinions issued in the previous Administration. These opinions cover constitutional and statutory questions from a wide range of fields, including national security, criminal law, civil rights, fiscal law, and appointment and removal authorities. OLC gives critical advice on how the Executive Branch organizes itself and carries out its missions.

OLC's challenges are of an internal and external nature. OLC does not initiate its workload nor does it have control over the volume of work. The work results from requests for opinions and legal advice from the Counsel to the President, general counsels of the Office of Management and Budget and other Executive Office of the President components, general counsels of Executive Branch departments and agencies, the National Security Council Legal Advisor, and the Attorney General and other Department of Justice officials. Because OLC is a relatively small component, OLC has little flexibility in responding to unexpected surges in workload, such as those created by national security matters, the financial crisis, or new legislative initiatives.

FY 2018 Program Changes:

The budget proposal includes funding for current services for OLC. No program changes are requested.
