

INFORMATION REGARDING YOUR VICTIM IMPACT STATEMENT

No one knows better than you how this crime may have changed your life. Those of us involved in your case believe that it may be very helpful if you can assist the Court in understanding many of the ways this crime has affected you and those close to you. Sharing this information in a Victim Impact Statement and/or addressing the Judge at sentencing can be very effective ways of doing this. Your statement (or a summary of it) will become a formal part of the court record and as such can be seen by the defendant and his or her attorney.

In preparing your statement, you may wish to think about issues such as:

- Has your ability to relate to other people changed since the crime? If so, how?
- Have your feelings about yourself changed since the crime?
- How has the crime affected your lifestyle and that of your family or close friends?
- Has the crime affected your ability to earn a living?

The Judge will also be considering the matter of restitution in your case. Restitution is a Judge's order that a defendant make payment to you as the victim, for your actual financial losses resulting from the crime. The Judge may use this information in deciding what amount, if any, of restitution is appropriate for each victim. However, there is no guarantee that the defendant will be able to pay any amount even if it is ordered by the Judge. Restitution orders in criminal cases are independent of and different from monetary awards in civil cases.

If you have suffered medical expenses not fully covered by insurance; lost property, or had to repair property you have recovered; had money illegally taken, or experienced any additional financial expenses as a result of this crime, and would like the Judge to consider restitution, please complete the enclosed Financial Statement. Attach receipts for your losses whenever possible.

If you have any questions about the Victim Impact Statement or how it will be used by the criminal justice system, please email Dina DeBoer, Victim/Witness Coordinator, at below email.
