Randall Stephenson, chief executive officer of AT&T Inc., speaks during a House Judiciary Subcommittee hearing in Washington, D.C., U.S., on Tuesday, June 24, 2014. AT&T Inc. plans to buy DirecTV for $48.5 billion, gaining more than 38 million video subscribers at home and in

AT&T is ready to go to court against the Justice Department to defend the telecom giant's $85 billion megadeal for Time Warner, according to its top executive.

“Since the day this deal was announced, we have been preparing for litigation,” said AT&T chief executive Randall Stephenson, at a conference Thursday hosted by the New York Times. “If we’re going to go to litigation, our preference would be ‘sooner is better,’ and we’re prepared to litigate now.”

Stephenson's remarks are likely to put pressure on antitrust officials who have been weighing a lawsuit intended to block the massive acquisition.
