Good morning all. Could we gather today to discuss the potential testimony of Mr. Mueller
(b) (5) SCO is discussing the scheduling of the testimony with HJC and HPSCI but needs to be better informed on the process as they seek an agreement.

Would noon or 3:30 work?

Thanks,

Permanent Select Committee
on Intelligence
U.S. House of Representatives

May 30, 2019

Stephen E. Boyd
Assistant Attorney General
United States Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20530

Dear Mr. Boyd:

I write in connection with the Department of Justice's ("Department") May 21, 2019 agreement to produce an initial group of documents related to the Special Counsel's investigation as a first step towards compliance with the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence's ("Committee") May 8 subpoena. This letter (1) clarifies the scope of two of the 12 categories about which the Department has expressed reservations; (2) establishes a schedule for the Department to provide the next set of documents to the Committee as part of the Department's ongoing and rolling production of documents pursuant to the subpoena; and (3) outlines the Committee's request for testimony by former and current Department officials.

First, as specified in the enclosed Addendum to Attachment A, the Committee proposes a refined scope for two of the 12 categories listed in Attachment A that accompanied the Committee's May 14 letter. The intent of the addendum is to facilitate and focus the Department's review of the Special Counsel's Office's holdings and protect a narrow category of material and information that is directly relevant to the outcome of a pending criminal investigation, while nonetheless meeting the Committee's need for this vital information. The Committee expects the production of these documents by Thursday, June 6.

As noted by senior Committee staff in a meeting yesterday with Department representatives, the Committee also expects the Department to conclude its review and produce in full by June 6 the only other outstanding category of documents in Attachment A. Senior Committee staff also reiterated the Committee's request for the Department to explain in writing the basis for its disagreement with the Committee's position that the national security exception to grand jury material established in Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 6(e)(3)(D) applies to the Committee, which we also request to be provided by June 6.

UNCLASSIFIED

Second, as previewed by senior Committee staff yesterday, Attachment B outlines two additional tranches of documents that are responsive to the Committee's May 8 subpoena. The Committee expects the Department to produce the first tranche by Thursday, June 6, and the second tranche by Thursday, June 20. These categories of documents are similar in nature to the documents the Department has already produced (or committed to produce) to the Committee and would serve as an additional good faith demonstration of compliance with the Committee's subpoena. To the extent the Department is unable or unwilling to produce a specific category of documents outlined in Attachment B, the Department must inform the Committee in writing by Wednesday, June 5 (a) which category of documents in Attachment B the Department will not produce to the Committee, and (b) why the Department will not produce the category of documents.

Finally, the Committee formally reiterates its longstanding request for testimony by former Special Counsel Robert S. Mueller III and former Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein. In addition, as senior Committee staff outlined yesterday, the Committee now requests that the following current and former officials appear before the Committee: Principal Associate Deputy Attorney General Edward O'Callaghan, Special Counsel's Office attorneys Aaron Zebley and James L. Quarles, and Federal Bureau of Investigation ("FBI") official David W. Archey. The Committee requests that the Department propose by June 6 a schedule for their testimony.

It remains the Committee's sincere hope that the Department will continue to cooperate with the Committee. Production of the documents outlined in the attachments, and testimony by Special Counsel Mueller and other current and former officials, would serve to demonstrate that the Department is taking important steps towards complying with the subpoena in good faith.

Sincerely,

Adam B. Schiff
Chairman

Subject: Mueller Testimony

David,

Thanks again for the call today. We are adding HJC staff to make sure everyone is on the same page going forward.

As we understand the Department's position from our call today as well as the Department's separate July 3 calls with HPSCI and HJC, the Department has determined that it "will not support" the testimony of anyone in the SCO other than Special Counsel Mueller, including Aaron Zebley and Jim Quarles, who have agreed to accompany the Special Counsel on July 17 during his appearance and also to take questions thereafter from Members from both Committees in closed session. This accommodation to the subpoenas issued by both Committees was reached pursuant to negotiation between the Committees and the Special Counsel's representatives.

In addition, although the Department has informed us that it concurs with Special Counsel Mueller's stated intention of focusing his testimony on information contained in his report, the Department has not itself sought to place any prohibitions or limitations on the Special Counsel's testimony before the Committees, nor sought to restrict the amount of time he testifies before the Committee.

We would appreciate it if you could confirm this understanding on behalf of the Department so we are all on the same page moving forward.

Best,
Dan

Frustration builds as members may be shut out of Mueller hearing

By Manu Raju and Jeremy Herb, CNN

Updated 5:14 PM ET, Thu July 11, 2019

(CNN)

Junior lawmakers on the House Judiciary Committee could get shut out of next week's highly anticipated hearing with special counsel Robert Mueller — and they're not happy about it.

The agreement reached between congressional Democrats and Mueller allowed for a limited time agreement where 22 members of the House Judiciary and Intelligence Committees would question the former special counsel. That's the exact number of members on the Intelligence panel, but includes just over half of the 41-member Judiciary Committee.

The arrangement has prompted an outcry, with junior committee Democrats publicly and privately grumbling about the arrangement and pushing for the committee to reopen negotiations so Mueller could potentially appear for a longer period. Republicans, meanwhile made their complaints loudly known at a Thursday hearing to vote on subpoenas, repeatedly criticizing House Judiciary Chairman Jerry Nadler for agreeing to limit the length of the hearing in order to get Mueller to testify.

Giving some members the chance to shine — while others will have to sit quietly at the panel's most-anticipated hearing in years — has created a headache for Nadler, because his members feel they're being robbed of the chance to press the special counsel in front of millions of people watching the proceedings,

"It's definitely a problem for only a couple of us to be able to ask questions," said Rep. Karen Bass, a California Democrat who would be in line to ask questions of Mueller.

Chairmen Nadler and Schiff Announce Agreement with Special Counsel Mueller to

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: July 12, 2019
Contact: Shadawn Reddick-Smith (Judiciary), 202-225-3951
Daniel Schwarz (Judiciary), 202-225-5635
Patrick Boland (Schiff), 202-225-4176

Washington, D.C. — Today, House Judiciary Committee Chairman Jerrold Nadler (D-NY) and House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence (HPSCI) Chairman Daniel Claitor (R-OK) announced an agreement with Special Counsel Robert Mueller to reschedule his public testimony for July 24, at which time Special Counsel Mueller will appear in public before the House Judiciary Committee for an extended period of time. This will allow the American public to gain further insight into the Special Counsel's investigation and the evidence of interference in the 2016 presidential election and President Trump's possible obstruction of justice and abuse of power.

Chairmen Nadler and Schiff released the following joint statement:

"We are pleased to announce that Special Counsel Mueller will provide additional public testimony when he appears before our committee on July 24. We have agreed to postpone the hearing for one week, until July 24, at which time Mr. Mueller will appear in public before the House Judiciary Committee and the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence."

"The House Judiciary Committee will convene on July 24 at 8:30am with Special Counsel Mueller testifying in public for three hours. After the hearing, the Intelligence Committee will convene for additional public testimony beginning at 12:00pm. All members—Democrats and Republicans—will have a meaningful opportunity to question the Special Counsel in public, and the American people will finally have an opportunity to hear directly from Special Counsel Mueller about the investigation uncovered."

A few suggested tweaks:

We agree with Mr. Mueller's public statement. and his repeated statements to the committees, that any testimony he provides to Congress will not go beyond what was written in his report or what was said during his May 29, 2019 public statement. In addition, we would expect that Mr. Mueller, like any former Department employee testifying before Congress, will comply with the limitations set by law and applicable Department policies. We still are discussing those limitations with Mr. Mueller. Generally speaking, established Department policies preclude line prosecutors and FBI agents from appearing and testifying before Congress on Department matters. Accordingly, the Department will not authorize other members of the Special Counsel's team to appear and testify.

Looks good to me. In that spirit, I suggest a little more tightening.

In case you have not seen it, Politico has a report on what HJC and HPSCI staff are saying:

HOUSE
JUDICIARY and INTELLIGENCE staff briefed reporters -
- including our own ANDREW
DESIDERIO -- on Thursday about what to expect at the five hours of hearings on Wednesday with former special counsel ROBERT
MUELLER:

-- JUDICIARY'S

-----
GOAL: The senior aides said they want to bring the Mueller report to life for voters. “Not everybody is reading the book, but people will watch the movie,” said one Judiciary official.

-- JUDICIARY’S

GENERAL FOCUS: The committee will focus on several instances of potential obstruction of justice by the president: directing former White House counsel Don McGahn to fire Mueller, ordering McGahn to deny he ordered Mueller’s firing and asking Corey Lewandowski to deliver a message to then-A.G. JEFF SESSIONS about the scope of Mueller’s investigation.

-- INTEL’S FOCUS: the Trump campaign’s efforts to “welcome” and “use” Russia’s help in 2016. Aides want to home in on the evidence Mueller gathered. Unlike Judiciary, Intel aides say they will try to force Mueller to go beyond the text of his report. “There is no policy, law or regulation that says he cannot go beyond the four corners of a report that he selectively wrote,” said an Intel aide.

-- NO

BOMBSHELLS: Democrats are already downplaying expectations, saying they don't expect dramatic revelations from Mueller, whom they termed a "creature of DOJ" who will stick to the book. But they also understand the stakes, with one aide noting, "I've been involved in hundreds of hearings. And we have never prepared for one the way we've prepared for this one."

<Mueller testimony authorization 071819 + sae.docx>

Permanent Select Committee
on Intelligence
U.S. House of Representatives

July 18, 2019

Stephen E. Boyd
Assistant Attorney General
United States Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20530

Dear Mr. Boyd:

I write in response to the Department of Justice's ("Department") July 15, 2019 electronic communication to the Committee, in which the Department stated that, apart from Special Counsel Robert S. Mueller, III, it "will not authorize other members of the Special Counsel's team to appear and testify" before Congress regarding the Special Counsel's investigation. The Department justified its decision by asserting that, "generally speaking, established Department policies preclude line prosecutors and FBI agents from appearing and testifying before Congress on Department matters." The Department's position, it appears, is intended to apply to all former members of the Special Counsel's Office, whether they are still employees of the Department or the FBI, or are no longer employed by the federal government.

The Department's representation is unsupported by law, contrary to the Department and the FBI's longstanding precedent with the Committee, and would actively impede the Committee's authorized oversight activity and impermissibly withhold from the Committee vital foreign intelligence and counterintelligence information.

As the Department is aware, the Committee is conducting oversight of the counterintelligence and foreign intelligence aspects of the Special Counsel's activities, and by extension the Department and the FBI's actions, and seeks answers and information about the investigation's counterintelligence work and findings. The Department has acknowledged consistently, including pursuant to the Committee's May 8, 2019 subpoena, that the Committee has a "legitimate interest" in the foreign intelligence and counterintelligence information uncovered during the Special Counsel's investigation,<sup>1</sup> and is doubtless cognizant of the Committee's unique oversight jurisdiction, grounded in law, over intelligence and counterintelligence activities of the U.S. government.<sup>2</sup> In recognition of our jurisdiction, the Department has begun complying with the Committee's subpoena for documents related to the Special Counsel's investigation, although it has failed in recent weeks, despite repeated requests, to produce key materials central to the Committee's oversight work.

Materials produced thus far by the Department pursuant to the Committee's subpoena are insufficient on their own to address the Committee's unanswered questions and allay our concern that the probe's focus on criminal violations came at the expense of fully investigating and assessing counterintelligence and national security threats and risks. The Committee therefore requires testimony and briefings from key personnel from the SCO, the Department, and the FBI.

The Department has no basis to prevent current and former Department and FBI officials from appearing and testifying before the Committee – in this case, about the same matters for which the Department is producing documents to the Committee. The Committee has regularly, throughout its history, received testimony and briefings from a diverse range of Department and FBI personnel, both in voluntary settings and pursuant to subpoena, on matters of significant sensitivity and national importance. During the 115th Congress, the Department and FBI agreed to make available to the Committee as well as to other congressional committees a series of Department and FBI employees of varying seniority, including non-Senior Executive Service (SES) or equivalent personnel, for lengthy interviews and depositions regarding both open and closed investigative matters (some of which relate directly to the Special Counsel's work). For the Department to now apply an entirely different standard – regarding a closed investigation of unparalleled national interest and consequence with a clear foreign intelligence and counterintelligence nexus and which is the subject of a Committee subpoena – raises profound concern that the Department is willfully seeking to withhold information from the Committee, contrary to law.

The Committee's July 11 briefing with a senior FBI agent assigned to the Special Counsel's Office was a helpful first step, although, as his testimony made clear, he was ill-positioned to respond to many of the Committee's questions. He either did not have the factual knowledge necessary to answer key questions or he was instructed repeatedly by Department and FBI representatives present for the briefing to defer to the Special Counsel's "leadership team" and the Special Counsel's Office's "prosecutors" on core matters within the Committee's jurisdiction – the very officials the Department is now seeking to prevent from testifying before the Committee.

Consistent with the Department's instruction at the briefing, the Committee has arranged for Aaron Zebley and James L. Quarles, two members of Special Counsel Mueller's leadership <sup>2</sup> See 50 U.S.C. § 3092 (requiring, among other things, that the heads of all departments, agencies, or entities of the United States government involved in intelligence activities keep the congressional intelligence committees fully and currently informed of all intelligence activities, and to furnish to the congressional intelligence committees upon request any information or material concerning intelligence activities which is within the custody or control of the departments, agency, or entity of the United States government); see also 50 U.S.C. § 3003(1) (defining "intelligence" to include "foreign intelligence" and "counterintelligence").

team who the Department has acknowledged served in SES-equivalent capacities, to brief the Committee on July 24 in closed session after the Special Counsel's public testimony. In an extraordinary accommodation, the Committee agreed, in line with the FBI agent's briefing, to limit the closed briefing's timeframe and forego a transcript. The briefing is intended to allow the Committee to explore discrete issues in the less redacted version of the Special Counsel's report and non-public underlying documents available to the Committee, which cannot be addressed in an open hearing. The Committee is even prepared to allow a Department representative to attend the closed briefing.

The Department's intervention on July 15, in an effort to prevent this closed session from taking place, is unwarranted and the Department should withdraw its objection immediately. The Committee has communicated to Zebley and Quarles that the Committee expects their appearance on July 24 for the closed briefing and is preparing to hear from them.

If the Department is unwilling to adjust its posture, the Committee will use other means and mechanisms to obtain this information and testimony from relevant witnesses.

It remains our hope that the Department will continue to cooperate with the Committee. Production of the documents requested by the Committee, and testimony by current and former officials involved in the activities of the Special Counsel's Office, would serve to demonstrate that the Department is taking important steps towards complying with the subpoena in good faith.

Sincerely,

Letter from Schiff

Permanent Select Committee
on Intelligence
U.S. House of Representatives

July 23, 2019

VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL

The Honorable Robert S. Mueller, III
Washington D.C.

Dear Mr. Mueller:

I write in advance of your testimony before the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence (Committee) tomorrow and in response to the last-minute July 22, 2019 letter to you from Associate Deputy Attorney General Bradley Weinsheimer (DOJ Letter), a copy of which was provided to the Committee by the Department of Justice yesterday evening. The DOJ Letter attempts unduly to circumscribe your testimony and represents yet another attempt by the Trump Administration to obstruct the authorized oversight activity and legitimate investigations of the Committee. The Committee categorically rejects the Department's overly expansive and baseless "prophylactic" assertion of executive privilege in all its various forms. Accordingly, I fully expect that the DOJ Letter will have no bearing on your testimony before the Committee tomorrow.

The Department has expressed its "understand[ing]" that your testimony before the Committee will be governed by the terms you outlined during your May 29, 2016 press conference, specifically, that your testimony will be based upon the information that appears in, and "does not go beyond," the public version of your March 22, 2019 report to the Attorney General or your May 29 public statement. While I understand that it is your intention to focus on the public version of your report, the Department's attempt to restrict your testimony finds no support in law, regulation, or Department policy. Moreover, the subpoena issued by the Committee placed no such limitations on the scope of your testimony, nor did the Committee agree to any such limitations during our weeks of negotiations about the terms of your appearances before the Committee.

The DOJ Letter also invokes various "longstanding Department policies" in an attempt further to circumscribe your testimony tomorrow. To the extent they exist, such self-serving Department policies are not binding on Congress. Moreover, there is equally longstanding precedent, including during the 115th Congress, for such Department policies yielding to legitimate congressional requests in cases where, as here, there is a compelling need for testimony concerning prosecutorial decisions and investigations of national importance. While the Committee is prepared to respect any necessary circumspection on your part in order to protect legitimate Department equities and not to interfere with ongoing prosecutions, the Committee is wary of selective invocations of Department “policies” by this Attorney General in light of his own public statements regarding the findings of the Special Counsel’s Office. For example, the DOJ Letter cites “[e]stablished Department policy” that “precludes any comment on the facts developed and legal conclusions . . . with respect to uncharged individuals,” but the Attorney General has made extensive and misleading public comments about unindicted individuals, most notably the President.<sup>1</sup> The Department cannot expect you, or others, to abide by Department policies when the Attorney General himself does not follow them.

The Committee likewise expects that the untenable position that the Department has staked out with regard to executive privilege will have no impact on your testimony. The Department provides no legal support for its claim that such privileges apply here. Nor could it. At its core, the doctrine of executive privilege is intended to preserve the ability of a President to receive confidential advice from the President’s closest advisors. It is not intended to shield a President from congressional testimony of the utmost national importance concerning a criminal investigation of which the President was personally a target. The Department’s attempt prophylactically to assert almost every possible form of executive privilege—including law enforcement, deliberative process, attorney work product, and presidential communications privileges—less than 36 hours before your testimony must be seen for what it is: yet another attempt by the President and the Attorney General to discourage your full cooperation with the Committee and to shield from the American people your critical testimony.

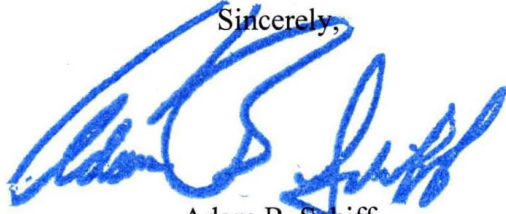

In any event, each of the variants of executive privilege cited in the DOJ Letter are inapplicable here. First, there is no basis to support the proposition that a law enforcement privilege—particularly one applied to the now-closed Special Counsel’s investigation, which referred consideration of the evidence uncovered to Congress for scrutiny of the President’s actions—can shield from congressional scrutiny information that is necessary to address Congress’s independent constitutional functions and oversight concerns. Second, the deliberative process and work product privileges are common-law privileges that cannot shield testimony pursuant to a constitutionally-rooted congressional subpoena. Finally, the presidential communications privilege is designed only to protect the presidential decision-making process involving the President’s closest White House advisors and, therefore, has no bearing on your testimony as a private citizen and former special counsel.

<sup>1</sup> See, e.g., William Barr, Press Statement, Attorney General William P. Barr Delivers Remarks on the Release of the Report on the Investigation into Russian Interference in the 2016 Presidential Election (Apr. 18, 2019) (“In assessing the President’s actions discussed in the report, it is important to bear in mind the context. President Trump faced an unprecedented situation. As he entered into office, and sought to perform his responsibilities as President, federal agents and prosecutors were scrutinizing his conduct before and after taking office, and the conduct of some of his associates. At the same time, there was relentless speculation in the news media about the President’s personal culpability. Yet, as he said from the beginning, there was in fact no collusion. And as the Special Counsel’s report acknowledges, there is substantial evidence to show that the President was frustrated and angered by a sincere belief that the investigation was undermining his presidency, propelled by his political opponents, and fueled by illegal leaks. Nonetheless, the White House fully cooperated with the Special Counsel’s investigation, providing unfettered access to campaign and White House documents, directing senior aides to testify freely, and asserting no privilege claims. And at the same time, the President took no act that in fact deprived the Special Counsel of the documents and witnesses necessary to complete his investigation.”), available at: <https://www.justice.gov/opa/speech/attorney-general-william-p-barr-delivers-remarks-release-report-investigation-russian>.

In short, the Committee rejects the limitations that the Department of Justice has attempted to place on your testimony on the eve of your appearance before our Committee. We look forward to your full, truthful, and frank testimony, which is critical to the Committee's ongoing oversight activities and legitimate investigations.

Sincerely,
