Brad, thank you for this. I have one thought to add.

For Part (1)-(c) below: The President has today directed that pages 10-12 and 17-34 of the 4th FISA (3rd renewal) Application be reviewed for his declassification. (b) (5)

(b) (5) At this time, all that is needed is review of those select pages from that particular application.

Thanks, all.

Subject: Documents

All,

There have been a number of phone calls today and I wanted to send around a short note to ensure we are all operating under the same set of instructions and timeline:

- (1) By close of business tonight, FBI will forward to me (on the high side) any proposed redactions it may have to the three sets of documents.
 - a. Gang of 8 Documents: ODNI has the set of Gang of 8 documents with minimal redactions that sit in the reading room at DOJ. We are operating under the presumption that those redactions will remain. Any new proposed redactions should be made to that set of documents and should be done in redbox (not blacked out) so we can quickly identify them.
 - b. 302s: ODNI has a clean set of these documents. Any proposed redactions should be done in redbox (not blacked out) so we can quickly identify them.
 - c. FISA Applications: ODNI only has the copies that were previously approved for public release in response to the FOIA request. To that end, we will need FBI to send us their proposed redactions to the original applications that reflect a new version that can be publicly released. Any proposed redactions should be done in redbox (not blacked out) so we can quickly identify them.

(2) ODNI will consolidate those redactions with any additional redactions we might propose tomorrow morning.

(3) Once that is complete, we will send soft copies of the documents, as redacted, to the White House.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thank you,
Brad

Mediaite: Adam Schiff: Wray and Rosenstein Warned Trump's Order to Release Russia Docs Crosses 'Red Line'

Media: Mediaite
Byline: Joe DePaolo
Date: 18 September 2018
Hyperlink: <https://www.mediaite.com/online/adam-schiff-wray-and-rosenstein-warned-trumps-order-to-release-russia-docs-crosses-red-line/>

House Intelligence Committee ranking minority member Rep. Adam Schiff (D-CA) is saying that FBI Director Christopher Wray and Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein — President Donald Trump's own Department of Justice appointees — have told him that the president's order to declassify documents related to the Russia investigation cross a red line.

Appearing on New Day, the House Democrat rebutted comments from his colleague, House Intelligence Committee chairman Devin Nunes (R-CA) — who has called it "laughable" to think the release of the documents endangers national security.

"This is not just Democrats on the Intelligence Committee saying that," Schiff said. This is from the FBI, the Republican appointed director of the FBI who has told us in terms of this being a red line and it should be treated at the Gang of Eight level. This is what the deputy attorney general appointed by the administration, Republican president, has told us. That ought to be respected."

According to Schiff, the documents in question are so sensitive that not only should the public not be allowed to see them, but even other members of Congress should be restricted.

"We have been told by the FBI and Justice Department that some of this material not only shouldn't be shared with the public, but shouldn't be shared even with other members of the Congress outside of the Gang of Eight," Schiff said.

Hello, Tash. I wanted to advise DOJ, as a courtesy, that today I was invited to talk to HJC staff about declassification of the Page FISAs et al., and that I intend to do so on Thursday at 11 AM Eastern Time. It will be via telephone and of course will be entirely unclassified. Thanks, and I hope you are well.

Office of the Director of National Intelligence
Washington, D.C. 20511

The Honorable Rod J. Rosenstein
Deputy Attorney General of the United States
United States Department of Justice

The Honorable Christopher Wray
Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
935 Pennsylvania Avenue, Northwest
Washington, D.C. 20535

Dear Director Coats, Deputy Attorney General Rosenstein, and Director Wray:

We write to express profound alarm at President Donald Trump's decision on September 17, 2018 to intervene in an ongoing law enforcement investigation that may implicate the President himself or those around him. The action he has taken, to direct your agencies to selectively disclose classified information that he believes he can manipulate publicly to undermine the legitimacy and credibility of the Special Counsel's investigation, is a brazen abuse of power. Any decision by your offices to share this material with the President or his lawyers will violate longstanding Department of Justice policies, as well as assurances you have provided to us.

On June 5, 2018, we first wrote to Deputy Attorney General Rosenstein and Director Wray to express deep concern that the President and his legal team sought to abuse the President's power to interfere with the Special Counsel's ongoing investigation and undermine the Department of Justice and Federal Bureau of Investigation's lawful and appropriate activities. We underscored that providing the White House and the President's lawyers access to classified information and investigatory material of the utmost sensitivity – including information related to the Special Counsel's investigation that implicates the President's own campaign and associates – would grossly violate our system of checks and balances, fundamental norms, and long-standing, well-founded, and established procedure. Absent an indictment, moreover, the subjects of federal investigation should not be able to access law enforcement or related national security information for any reason.

On June 27, 2018, we wrote again to memorialize the verbal assurance you provided us that DOJ and FBI would not provide the White House or any of the President's attorneys with access to sensitive information briefed to a small group of designated Members.

On July 12, 2018, we also wrote to Director Coats to express alarm that this information was being made more broadly available within the Congress, in direct contravention of your assurances. In this letter, we noted that during our meetings with all of you on these sensitive matters we discussed at great length the importance of protecting sources and methods and ongoing investigations. As you recall, all of the meetings' attendees agreed that the information discussed was among the most sensitive type of information and should be protected accordingly. Director Coats' July 13, 2018 written response to our letter, moreover, underscored his agreement that protecting sources and methods must be a top concern.

Pursuant to the President's order, announced yesterday evening in a White House press statement, DOJ stated publicly that a declassification review process has been triggered, that DOJ and FBI are "already working with the Director of National Intelligence," and that this review would be "conducted by various agencies within the intelligence community, in conjunction with the White House Counsel [...]." The involvement of the White House Counsel, or any component of the White House, is highly improper and profoundly troubling. President Trump and the White House should not be given access to any sensitive law enforcement or national security information related to an ongoing federal investigation examining conduct by the President, his campaign, or his associates.

In light of the assurances you provided, we request an immediate briefing to the Gang of Eight from you prior to any disclosure of the affected material by your agencies to anyone at the White House. Among other issues of concern, we will need you to clarify in person:

- the exact review process that will be undertaken, including the White House's role in and visibility into this process and the specific White House officials expected to be involved;
- your agencies' proposed redactions and plans to protect investigative equities and sources and methods, including efforts to mitigate harm that may result from these disclosures; and
- how you intend to comply with statutes binding on the President and executive branch officers and employees, including the Privacy Act.

Your agencies' review, and any communication with the White House on the substance of the material, should not proceed further until you have briefed the Gang of Eight in person.

Thank you for your immediate attention and we appreciate meeting as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

Nancy Pelosi

Yeah it's a mess bc many reporters thought the tweets meant the IG is reviewing the declassification/redactions.

<http://www.foxnews.com/politics/2018/09/22/congressional-sources-blind-sided-by-trump-decision-to-back-off-fisa-declassification.html>

Three congressional sources told Fox News they were "blind-sided" and "demoralized" by President Trump's decision to back away from the immediate declassification of Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA) records related to former aide Carter Page.

They said they hope Trump will reconsider in light of new allegations against Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein that have since emerged.

Trump agreed on Friday to delay the release of key files related to the investigation into Russian meddling in the 2016 elections, urging the inspector general to review the documents on an "expedited basis" amid Justice Department concerns their publication may have a "negative impact" on the probe.

Two sources with direct knowledge of the House Republicans' records request said the declassification of the Page surveillance renewal from June 2017, signed by Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein, would answer many questions about the so-called "insurance policy" discussed by former FBI agent Peter Strzok and FBI lawyer Lisa Page in mid-August 2016. (Their texts have come under intense scrutiny over recent months, amid allegations that they reflect a coordinated agency strategy to damage Trump.)

The sources said the members were careful to identify records with limited national security interests, and FBI/Justice Department concerns about exposing sources and methods were "overblown" and consistent with the department's steps earlier this year to temporarily block the release of the FISA memos.

They added that the text messages on the phones of former FBI Director James Comey, former Deputy Director Andrew McCabe, DOJ official Bruce Ohr, Strzok and

Page - ordered for release - were exchanged on non-secure lines, and for that reason should not contain sources methods or classified information.

If they do, then the parties have been "grossly negligent" in handling national security information, the sources said.

The sources note The New York Times' bombshell report on Rosenstein this week – it said he had talked of wearing a wire in talks with Trump, and of building support to remove him via the 25th Amendment – offer more evidence that the probe of Russian election meddling had shifted to an obstruction case against the president, even though the investigation by May 2017 had not found collusion between his 2016 campaign and Russia.

Fox News reported earlier this week that texts between Strzok and Page two hours after Comey's firing are under fresh congressional scrutiny after Page's recent testimony to Senate investigators.

Two hours after Comey's termination became public on May 9, 2017, Strzok, a now-former FBI agent, texted Page, his then-colleague and lover: "We need to open the case we've been waiting on now while Andy is acting."

"Andy" is a reference to McCabe who temporarily took over the bureau with Comey's firing by Trump until Christopher Wray was confirmed as director in August 2017.

Page, a former FBI attorney, replied to Strzok: "We need to lock in (redacted). In a formal chargeable way. Soon."

Strzok concurred. "I agree. I've been pushing and I'll reemphasize with Bill." "Bill" is believed to be Bill Priestap, the head of the FBI's counterintelligence division.

COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS

<http://appropriations.senate.gov>

September 19, 2018

The Honorable Christopher Wray
Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
935 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20535-0001

Dear Director Wray,

I write today to express concern over risks to the safety of the men and women in our law enforcement and intelligence communities and to the independence of the Department of Justice, including the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), following President Trump's recent order to "immediately" declassify selective portions of documents and text messages related to the investigation of Russian interference in the 2016 presidential election.

Such a declassification presents a clear risk to exposing highly-sensitive information that was gathered to provide the legal basis for the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act application on former Trump campaign aide, Carter Page. As you well know, the U.S. Intelligence Community (USIC) often faces profound dangers in collecting such intelligence and providing this information to the U.S. Government. Up until the President's September 17th order, there has always been the implicit understanding that sources and methods will not be released for political purposes, which puts lives at risk. This order has the potential to have a further chilling effect on information-sharing agreements between agencies of the USIC and their foreign partners.

I am also concerned that President Trump's order threatens to obstruct the ongoing investigation by Special Counsel Robert Mueller into the Kremlin's election interference and disrupt the FBI's ability to maintain independence. President Trump's decision to personally insert himself into the investigative process constitutes a dangerous attempt to infringe upon the impartiality of the Department of Justice and the FBI.

I urge you to make every attempt during this process to ensure that any documents released do not expose the sources and methods of intelligence collection or impede ongoing investigations.

To ensure that the safety of FBI employees and the independence of your investigations remain at the forefront of any review or release of materials, I respectfully request a response to the following questions:

1. Has Attorney General Sessions recused himself from this matter? If so, who is in charge of the review at the Department?
2. Were you consulted before the President publicly released this order?
3. Would compliance with President Trump's order result in the release of information related to any ongoing investigations or intelligence operations or compromise any sources and methods used by the USIC?
4. What steps are being taken to ensure that sensitive information or personally identifiable information is not released or attributed to any current or former FBI employees during this process?
5. What steps are you taking to ensure the independence of the current investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 presidential election or any other related investigation in light of the President's order?

Finally, I request that you brief members of the Commerce, Justice, Science, and Related Agencies subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee on the process and results of the completed declassification review prior to releasing the declassified information to the general public. I know we are both concerned that this information will ultimately reach the hands of America's adversaries, as well.

I thank you for your attention to this matter, and request that you respond by October 1, 2018.

Sincerely,

Jeanne Shaheen
United States Senator

CC: The Hon. Jeff Sessions, Attorney General, U.S. Department of Justice
The Hon. Rod Rosenstein, Deputy Attorney General, U.S. Department of Justice
