The release is Monday and Marshall and Kelsey are tracking.

- FBI conducted a Beta release on Monday that gave 5 organizations (the Leadership Conference, American Jewish Committee, ADL, SPLC, Sikh Coalition, and the Arab American Institute) 24-hour access to the 2021 hate crime data.
- FBI is coordinating with OPA to conduct a press call at 8:30am on 12/12/23 before the data is released. FBI-CJIS, FBI-CID and someone from either OASG or CRT will participate in the call.
- FBI will publish a press release as the data is made public, targeting DOJ regulars and outlets that have made specific outreach concerning the hate crime data.
- FBI CJIS is preparing FAQs that will be linked to the web-site data. (They will share the FAQs with OPA, CRT, EOUSA, and OJP.)
- CRT will host a call with 10 or so civil rights stakeholders either the evening of the data release or the morning after.
- OJP within the coming days/weeks, OJP will publish a blog post outlining upcoming hate crime grant awards under the Till and Shepherd/Byrd programs.

Subject: Hate crime #s

At the ASG meeting this week, the team referred to a possible release of hate crime #s. They mentioned that this release could happen as early as Monday. The DAG asked for a proposal and plan, which I believe OASG is working on.

Are any of you tracking? Any idea whether the release would include a role for the DAG?

Thanks,
Tina

Hi, Tina

The release is Monday and Marshall and Kelsey are tracking. I previously gave them the following info:

- FBI conducted a Beta release on Monday that gave 5 organizations (the Leadership Conference, American Jewish Committee, ADL, SPLC, Sikh Coalition, and the Arab American Institute) 24-hour access to the 2021 hate crime data.
- FBI and OPA are coordinating a press call at 8:30am on 12/12/23 before the data is released. FBI-CJIS, FBI-CID and someone from either OASG or CRT will participate in the call.

Saeed,

On a related note, I noticed the 6 orgs included in the beta test this Monday. Were any LGBTQ or API specific groups included in the 24 hour access period? I do know that there is anticipation from these sectors on the data to be released. Any advanced work to socialize the results for these broad communities would likely be well received.

Hi, Aryele

The read-out concerning the hate crime discussion is below:

- DOJ leadership has been "fantastic" in speaking out against hate crimes.
- Collectively, the organizations want it made clear that they do not support the use of the death penalty in hate crime cases.
- They anticipate that the hate crime data for 2021 will be even more incomplete than normal.
- They want a high-level DOJ person (AG, DAG, ASG) to explain why the data is incomplete and what DOJ is doing to improve data collection in the future.
- They requested (and Lisa agreed to) a debrief with FBI, CRT, OJP, and EOUSA on what to do going forward to improve data collection.
- Hate crimes are an issue that will not be solved by data or enforcement.
- The orgs want to build on the WH United We Stand Summit.

ODAG WEEKLY TEAM MEMORANDUM

FROM: Civil Rights & Reform Team

DATE: December 9, 2022

1. High-Priority and Cross-Component Matters

A. FBI and CRT

- 2021 Hate Crime Data Release: FBI will release the 2021 Hate Crime data on Monday, December 12. Notably, 21.48% fewer agencies reported hate crimes than last year. There was an overall 11.62% drop in the number of reported hate crimes. Additionally, the numbers will show as follows:
 - Anti-Jewish (down 52.56%)
 - Anti-Black (down 22.22%)
 - Anti-Hispanic/Latino (down 16.25%)
 - Anti-Muslim (down 12.37%)
 - Anti-Sikh bias (up 140.45%)
 - Anti-AANHPI (up 15%)
 - Sexual Orientation (up 1.98%)

The Department's components have outlined the following plans surrounding the data release:

- FBI conducted a Beta release on 12/5 that gave five organizations (the Leadership Conference, American Jewish Committee, ADL, SPLC, Sikh Coalition, and the Arab American Institute) 24-hour preview access to the 2021 hate crime data.
- FBI and OPA are coordinating a press call at 8:30am on 12/12/23 before the data is released. FBI-CJIS, FBI-CID and someone from either OASG or CRT will participate in the call.
- FBI will publish a press release as the data is made public, targeting DOJ regulars and outlets that have made specific outreach concerning the hate crime data.
- FBI CJIS is preparing FAQs that will be linked to the web-site data. (They will share the FAQs with OPA, CRT, EOUSA, and OJP.)

- CRT/CRS will post a link to the data on the Department's hate crimes web-portal.
- CRT will host a call with 10 or so civil rights stakeholders either the evening of the data release or the morning after.
- Within the coming days/weeks, OJP will publish a blog post outlining upcoming hate crime grant awards under the Till and Shepherd/Byrd programs.

B. BOP

- Compassionate Release: (b) (5), (b) (6), (b) (7)(C)

[REDACTED]

This week, BOP's General Counsel advised that the request is pending with his office, and they are preparing a recommendation memo to the Director. (b) (5)

[REDACTED]

- First Step Act Implementation:

- On November 17, Director Peters signed a new policy pertaining to the calculation of FSA time credits. Shortly before the policy issued, Sens. Durbin and Grassley sent a letter to BOP with questions about their implementation of time credits.

- (b) (5)

- We also continue to engage with BOP to discuss a new issue that has arisen in litigation (b) (5)

- SJC staff have reached out to schedule an FSA briefing for the week of December 19. (b) (6) will be the likely briefers, along with

staff from BOP. (b) (5)

- COVID Vaccination: BOP has provided an updated COVID vaccination status report (attached). Per the report:
 - 77.6% of staff have completed a primary series of vaccine shots. This represents a 0.2% decrease from the last report on 12/1/22.
 - 57.4% of current inmates have completed a primary series of vaccine shots. This represents a 1% decrease from the last report on 12/1/22.
 - 6.0% of current inmates have completed a primary series of vaccine shots and a bivalent booster. This represents a 0.7% increase from the last report on 12/1/22.
 - 30% of inmates have refused any vaccine.
 - 2.1% of vaccinated inmates have refused the bivalent booster.

2. Team Affirmative Projects

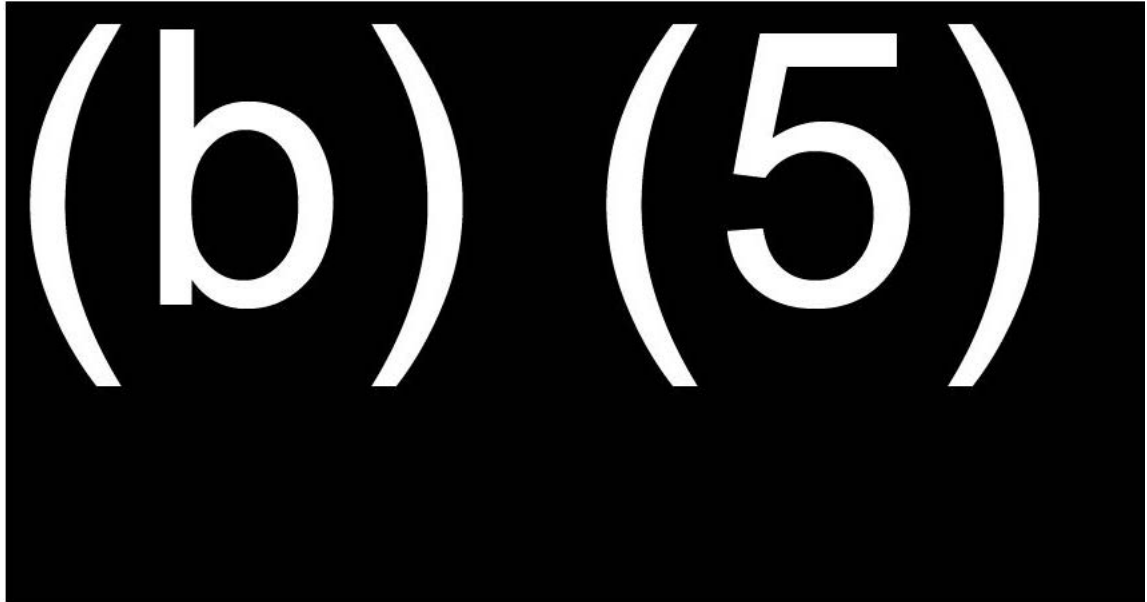

A. BOP

(b) (5), (b) (6)

- External Stakeholder Engagement:
 - On December 7, we attended a listening session with individuals who are currently living on home confinement. (b) (6), along with (b) (6) from OASG, attended the session. FAMM will bring several individuals who benefited from transfer to home confinement pursuant to the CARES Act.

(b) (5), (b) (6)

- Inmate Trust Accounts/IFRP NPRM:

3. Items Coming Our Way

A. OJP

- 2022 Review and Revalidation of the First Step Act Risk Assessment Tool: The First Step Act requires the Department to review, validate, and publicly release the BOP risk and needs assessment system – the Prisoner Assessment Tool Targeting Estimated Risk and Needs (PATTERN) – on an annual basis. This document is the third review and revalidation report. (b) (5)

It analyzes a cohort of FY 2018 BOP releases and evaluates PATTERN for its predictive accuracy, dynamic validity, and racial and ethnic neutrality, as mandated by the FSA. It also expands upon the prior analyses by including one-, two-, and three-year recidivism outcomes, assessing what proportion of change in risk scores and levels are influenced by the current age item, and providing additional descriptive information on individual items, risk scores and levels, and outcomes by race and ethnic group. Finally, this report provides an update on actions taken by NIJ and DOJ in the past year and the ongoing efforts to review and improve PATTERN. (b) (5)

(b) (5)

- Literature Review and Data Analysis on Deaths in Custody: This report on deaths in custody as an initial step to respond to the study requirement articulated under the Death in Custody Reporting Act (DCRA) of 2013. (b) (5)

This first study summarizes what is currently known from the research literature and available data on deaths in custody and provides the foundation for the additional information collection and analyses that will be undertaken as part of the broader second study and report. The report reviews existing research and data focused on the prevalence, patterns, and contexts of deaths in custody, discusses their limitations, and presents findings from a new exploratory analysis of data on mortality in correctional institutions. The analysis links decedent data reported by correctional institutions to data from jail and prison censuses that include information about facility characteristics and practices. The analysis serves as an initial step in exploring factors associated with deaths in correctional institution (b) (5)

B. Multiple Components

- Blueprint for Addressing Online Harassment and Abuse and potential Executive Order: The Presidential Memorandum on Establishment of the White House Task Force to Address Online Harassment and Abuse calls for a “blueprint (Initial Blueprint) outlining a whole-of-government approach to preventing and addressing technology-facilitated gender-based violence, including concrete actions that executive departments, agencies, and offices have committed to take to implement the Task Force’s recommendations.” In October, the Gender Policy Council (GPC) suggested DOJ deliverables for the blueprint and this week, has presented new suggestions “to address survivor and stakeholder priorities.” Additionally, WHCO has advised that GPC is developing an Executive Order to complement the Initial Blueprint. They have requested a conversation about these suggestions ASAP. Early next week, we will convene OVW, CRT, OJP, CEOS, and CCIPS to discuss the Department's position on the suggestions and the potential EO.

C. ATJ

- ATJ Quarterly. During ATJ's quarterly, they shared with you copies of their proposed internal and external organizational chart. The chart is in Exec Sec (it is currently with OLC for review).
- LAIR – Executive Director. The AG approved and announced the appointment of Ms. Yang-Green at today's Principal-Level Convening.
- LAIR - Annual Report. The Attorney General and White House Counsel are required to co-author an annual report on LAIR's work. The report is going through informal interagency review. I expect an informal copy will be ready for your review next week. I believe a formal version expected through Exec Sec near the end of the month. The goal is to clear by early January.

D. BOP

- Home Confinement Rule and Guidance. (b) (5)

home confinement should remain there unless they do something (substantive) which violates the terms of their confinement. (b) (5)

- CBP Bus Deployment. (b) (5)

(b) (5)

- Report on BOP's Use of Restrictive Housing. Section 16(b)(1) of the Criminal Justice Reform EO requires DOJ to produce a report on BOP's use of restrictive housing. (b) (5)

This is for the meeting later today with the 10 +/- leaders of the civil rights groups? Who from FBI will join? Right now the meeting is AAG Clarke, Saeed Mody, Johnathan Smith, me.

If FBI wants to join, could we see your talking points for the meeting? Our aim was just to TB with them using the same talking points from this morning, but shorter, and answer their questions.

Invitees will be (we've added one or two other, like Maya from AAI):

- ADL—Jonathan Greenblatt (b) (6) and Eileen Hershenov (b) (6)
- SPLC—Margaret Huang (b) (6) and Michael Lieberman (b) (6)

Good morning Saeed,
I hope you are well.
Hope you got some time away during the holiday season.

Two things, please.
First, I wanted to make sure you had seen this very welcome Washington Post editorial (below) which endorses one of our principal policy priorities for the Biden administration and the next congress: making federal funds contingent on police agencies reporting their hate crime data to the FBI.

As we have discussed, I'd love to brainstorm a path forward on this – perhaps starting with a roundtable convening with key stakeholders?
Happy to help you arrange that early in 2023, if you're up for it.

Second, can I introduce Darcy Hirsh, the talented Associate Vice President for Public Affairs and Government Relations for the Jewish Federations of North America.
I bet you're familiar with JFNA, but, if not, they are the umbrella organization for more than a 100 large city Jewish communities across the country. They coordinate social services and public affairs for Jewish communities. JFNA is the most important, most influential domestic Jewish organization in the US.

Darcy is helping to lead JFNA's response to antisemitism and hate crimes, working to complement the community's highly successful advocacy on behalf of FEMA NPSGs with hate crime prevention and response initiatives.

Glad to connect you two. Darcy can help JFNA play an important role on these issues.

All best for a good and healthy 2023.

Michael

THE POST'S VIEW

Opinion

Is crime going up, down or sideways? Don't ask the FBI.

By the Editorial Board

December 27, 2022 at 3:46 p.m. EST

Skip Article

The FBI released what seemed to be good news earlier this month, announcing that the agency had counted 7,262 instances of hate crimes in 2021 — a drop from 8,263 the year before. In fact, outside experts said, hate crimes might actually have trended sharply higher last year; the Center for the Study of Hate and Extremism charted a 21 percent surge in hate crimes in 20 states over the same period. One reason for the discrepancy: The FBI relies on state and local police departments to report crime numbers to the federal government, and only 11,883 of 18,812 law enforcement agencies submitted their 2021 hate-crimes data. The nation's two largest cities, New York and Los Angeles, were among the non-reporters.

FBI crime data is supposed to give the public, criminal justice researchers and law enforcement agents hard numbers so that they have more than just instinct and anecdote — and the claims of demagogic politicians — to characterize what is happening on the country's streets and elsewhere. Real numbers provide insights into what is working and what is not. They also show how often police respond to crime with force, against what types of people and in what situations. But voluntary compliance from state and local departments falls well short of what is necessary.

This is not the first time the FBI has struggled to collect reliable criminal justice statistics. The Post has tracked fatal police shootings since 2015, painstakingly sorting through news and social media reports, local law enforcement records and other sources. The Post has found that police shoot and kill about 1,000 people every year — including 1,084 over the past 12 months. Black Americans are killed at a much higher rate than White Americans, the victims skew young, and nearly all are male. Further, the number of fatal police shootings has been rising in recent years, The Post's tally shows.

Yet the FBI has reported a decline between 2015 and 2021. The FBI's records contain only about one-third of the 7,000 fatal police shootings The Post counted during that period.

In other words, the statistics provided voluntarily by local law enforcement agencies underplay both the scale of the problem and the urgency of taking measures to address it — for instance, by updating use-of-force guidelines and investing in de-escalation training. The FBI has embarked on a broad effort to track fatalities and serious bodily injury committed by law enforcement officers, plus instances in which police officers fire their weapons. Yet the bureau almost had to shut down the program for lack of response from local police departments.

All of this is despite Congress having passed laws in 1994 and 2014 to improve federal crime data collection.

True, in any given year, smaller police departments might have seen no hate crimes, police use-of-force incidents or other notable events to report, so they might not see a need to inform the FBI. Doing so takes time and resources; the FBI estimates it consumes 38 minutes to report every incident to its police use-of-force database. Police departments complain that the FBI's transition to a new crime reporting system, which asks for more details, has made complying harder.

But “none this year” results are crucial if the FBI is to compile an accurate and comprehensive report. Police departments that have a sense of what is happening within their areas would also benefit from seeing what is happening down the road — or across the country.

Congress should intervene once again. Federal appropriations to help police departments report their crime numbers are an obvious place to start. At the same time, Congress should condition the large number of various crime-fighting grants it sends to state and local governments on departments reporting their numbers. Bills such as 2021's George Floyd Justice and Policing Act, which passed the House but got nowhere in the Senate, would have created such a system. Federal legislators should also eliminate any confusing or duplicative reporting requirements that place an unnecessary burden on police departments.

Ultimately, however, the federal government has only so much leverage. Most police funding comes from state and local governments. Some departments get scant federal money at all. So state governments should also step in, requiring their police departments to submit crime data to the FBI — or to them directly, to be forwarded to the FBI.

A trustworthy set of statistics is a foundational tool with which to begin figuring out just how big of a problem crime, police use of force and related issues are in the United States — and how to tackle them.

Good morning Saeed,

Thanks for separating the response to Darcy and me to ask about the roundtable.

I'd love to find time tomorrow morning for a quick check in between us – 9, 9:30 or 10 would work for me.

For a broader roundtable conversation, we will want to involve Nadia and hate crime coalition leaders. I can work on arranging that for Thursday or maybe next week. Who would you want to participate from Justice for such a discussion?

We can talk more about this tomorrow, if you still have time.

Let me know, please.

Thanks.

Subject: [EXTERNAL] follow up from our conversation

Saeed,
Thanks for making time to talk this morning.

I see Vanita's session at the 91st Winter meeting for USCM (below) – so many participants! I imagine her focus will be on what the Justice Department is doing and can do to help, but it would be great to use a bit of her time to elevate what Mayors can do to improve hate crime data collection.

Mayors that signed the Compact from United We Stand committed to

- Members will also encourage the collection of data on such crimes and the reporting of this data to the FBI.
- Mayors will encourage residents – both victims and witnesses – to report hate crimes to local authorities and/or community-based organizations and provide the tools as possible and appropriate to facilitate such reporting, including hotlines and online tools.

As you and I have discussed, reporting hate crime is a two-way street. Law enforcement must be trained to identify, report, and respond – be ready and willing to report and respond. And victims need to have trust in police that would enable them to report – and language access to systems to report.

One way to make progress on both is to have every police department adopt a publicly-posted policy on their website that they will treat hate crime effectively and seriously. No need to invent one, the IACP's model policy is excellent. Here's the focal point:

POLICY

This agency shall employ all necessary resources and vigorous law enforcement action to identify and investigate hate crimes and to support the prosecution of hate crime perpetrators. Any acts or threats of violence, property damage, harassment, intimidation, or other crimes or incidents motivated in whole or in part by hate and improper bias and designed to infringe upon the rights of individuals are viewed very seriously by this agency and will be given high priority. Also, recognizing the particular fears and distress typically suffered by victims and targets of hate crimes, the potential for reprisal and escalation of violence, and the far-reaching negative consequences of hate crimes and hate incidents on the community, this agency shall be mindful of and responsive to the safety concerns of victims and their families and the broader community.

Second, here's the letter we recently sent to the Mayor and Police Superintendent of Chicago about a Proud Boys-affiliated officer who lied about his involvement with the group. We cite a couple different ways the federal government and state government are addressing white supremacy in policing. Hope this is helpful.

More follow up soon.
Thanks.
Michael

Combating Hate and Extremism and the Violence They Fuel

10:45 AM-11:45 AM

Mayor David Holt

City of Oklahoma City

Mayor Ron Nirenberg

City of San Antonio

The session will focus on the situation related to hate and extremism in cities and what mayors can do to combat them, and also include an update on the threat landscape, a discussion of issues relating to the hate crimes reporting system, and what mayors can do to increase reporting, and assistance available from ADL on implementing the Mayors' Compact to Combat Hate and Extremism, which Oklahoma City Mayor David Holt announced at the White House United We Stand Summit held in September.

Hi, Hayne –

I spoke to Michael Liberman from SPLC this morning, and we were discussing how valuable it would be to have the groups connect with OJP. They have a lot of communications with CRT, but I think there is an opportunity to increase the communications between OJP and the groups directly.

I wanted to see if you had a few minutes to chat further and whether this might be a useful connection for me to help make. I'm thinking about the presentation that is happening at 4 pm today (I won't be able to attend in person unfortunately) and how great it would be for groups to get a version of that on OJP's work.

Talk to you soon,

Good morning Saeed,
I hope you are well.

Two things, please.

First, you may have heard from Nadia – we and other Leadership Conference and Hate Crime Coalition groups have been invited to a White House listening session on antisemitism tomorrow. Good, finally, to be involved.

Second, this is adjacent to your work, but I wanted you to see this letter we sent about Chicago Police Department failing to fire a Proud Boys-affiliated officer, who lied to the FBI about this.

We are trying to move them to act beyond this one officer, to adopt a policy against such active participation, along the lines of boundaries set by the president's EO, the DoD Instruction, and work moving forward in Minnesota and Washington state.

Thanks to you both. I was thrilled we were able to make this connection, and I think we should be meeting regularly.

I'd love to talk early next week to get some more thoughts on the public awareness campaign.

I've already spoken to United Against Hate coordinators about using the networks we're building there to push out information on our grants. Also, appreciate the suggestion to do a fact sheet on the grants that we could pass along to our law enforcement and stakeholder partners.

I loved the idea of publicizing more of our FY22 grantees for the various reasons we discussed and was glad to hear that OJP was already working on it.

Saeed,
Thanks for helping to arrange that call with OJP folks. It was a really productive conversation, which I hope will lead to more frequent conversations and more extensive collaboration.

Two things we discussed after you left for other meetings.

1. How stakeholder involvement in crafting both the FBI hate crime training guide and the DoJ/HHS Raising Awareness document improved them – and enabled us to rave about how good they are.
2. How central and important a role in elevating the importance and availability of these grants the US Attorneys, through their United Against Hate initiative, could play. The hate crime coalition members will do our part, but to have all 94 US Attorneys across the country involved, too, would be great.

Again, thanks.

Subject: Knowledge Lab Federal Interventions Dashboard

Date: Wed, 01 Mar 2023 15:16:09 -0500

Importance: Normal

Dear Colleagues:

As leading civil rights stakeholders, your voices and support are critical to the U.S. Department of Justice's ongoing efforts to advance Constitutional policing in our nation. Last April, many of you joined me in Los Angeles to announce the launch of the National Law Enforcement Knowledge Lab. The Knowledge Lab serves as a one-stop shop for reliable guidance, modern policies, and best practices for fair and impartial policing.

Today, I am pleased to share the public release of a new major deliverable from the Knowledge Lab, the Federal Interventions Dashboard. The Dashboard is now live at: <https://leknowledgelab.org/federal-interventions-dashboard/>. This dashboard is designed to provide user-friendly, easily digestible information on federal Civil Consent Decrees and Settlement Agreements between the Justice Department and local and state government entities where there were allegations of unconstitutional policing practices.

The dashboard includes information regarding the types of federal pattern-and-practice investigations involving law enforcement agencies, the reforms agreed upon in civil consent decrees and settlement agreements, and other information that can help promote meaningful discussion on police reform and organizational improvements. We recognize that consent decrees and settlement agreements—and the investigations that precede them—are both labor intensive and highly tailored to the specific agency. However, many of these lessons learned may be applicable in different ways to agencies across the country. The information in this dashboard is provided as a resource to users interested in learning about these engagements and what practices were found to be problematic from a civil liberties perspective. Law enforcement leaders may use this information to supplement their ongoing efforts to improve their practices.

In the coming months, the Lab will release additional resources, training and technical assistance opportunities, and toolkits related to policing's most pressing operational issues, such as responding to individuals in mental health crisis, the constitutionally appropriate use of stops and searches, and use of force. I am grateful to all of you for your support of these efforts and encourage you to share the Lab's resources with your membership and constituents. We also welcome your feedback on critical issues the Lab needs to address in the future. Thank you for your partnership and support; the change we seek is not possible without it.

Sincerely,
Vanita
