

Sean C. Lindsay

Sean Lindsay is a member of the Law Department at Qwest Communications International Inc., where his work includes antitrust-related matters and commercial litigation. He has worked in-house for 12 years at several telecommunications companies based in Denver, Colorado. He began his career in 1990 in private practice, also emphasizing antitrust and litigation. He attended graduate school and law school at the University of Chicago, and before that, college at Brigham Young University.