I am outraged and writing because of the lack of competition in agricultural markets. How can Monsanto control the majority of seeds in the US and threaten our farmers? Our food is not food anymore. It's grown and raised in ways that are detrimental to our environment and our health. Not to mention the inhumane treatment of animals. Animals were put on this earth to be consumed, but not to be raised in appalling conditions. Please consider what our agriculture markets have turned into and the altered non-whole foods they produce. Generations depend on the decisions that are made today.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

KRISTI ROSE
