I think it is unconscionable that one company like Monsanto has such control of food. I personally am concerned for the small farmer and the farmer in developing countries that are forced to buy seed every year.

Today we don't know what is in our food, what is injected into it! This is wrong.

It has been proven that small farms rather than large corporate farms will be able to feed the world..

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Healy
