I am writing because I am concerned with the egregious corruption taking place with every aspect of our life, specifically our food supply.

The best thing you could do is stay completely out of it and allow people to buy whatever food they want. You pass laws that benefit big agri-business such as Monsanto. these laws are passed under the guise of protecting us when all you're really doing is assuring them of making a lot of money at the expense of our liberties and our health.

big agri makes tons of money growing Frankenfoods devoid of nutrition that also require toxic chemicals that further sicken those who consume them, then throw money at the government to pass laws requiring real food growers to implement the same expensive, unnecessary, and toxic practices all to make money and handicap the competition to make even more money.

the use of chemical pesticides, fungicides etc..as well as the irradiation of our foods is only necessary when food is grown unnaturally and artificially. i have no problem with a farmer wanting to grow his food this way, but do have a problem when laws are passed to favor this farmer and therefore impede other farmers who do it differently to fairly compete.

do a little research and you'll see. a great place to start is the raw milk issue. it's a perfect example of how corrupt and tyrannical our government has become. the only protection we need from the government, is in the protection of our liberties. that's it. i'll take responsibility over what i buy and eat.
