

From: Barry Greenstein <whpcs@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, December 18, 2009 10:12 AM
To: ATR-Agricultural Workshops <agriculturalworkshops@usdoj.gov>
Subject: Comments

I am writing because I am concerned about the lack of competition in agricultural markets.

Monsanto is not just any company. They are a company that threatens the future of food supplied to the world for all time. Monsanto wants to own every seed that is sold for food in the world. They are using genetic technology that inserts viruses into seed stock in order to implant specific genes into their seeds (round-up ready). It is painfully obvious that this company has no regard for actual food that is grown on this planet, otherwise they would not need to monopolize the seed market with their genetically modified products. How can any company win the right to patent life? This is an outrage and I personally denounce this corporation based on the principles of existence alone. If nothing is done to curtail this powerful company's agenda to control the world's food market, we will look back and realize that we made a mistake in judgement for greed's sake that is irreversible, and we will never have the opportunity to truly live the way God and the universe intended. Please stop this corporate monopoly now!

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

Barry Greenstein

, 08754