I am writing because I am concerned about the lack of competition in agricultural markets.

Why do the non-organic fruits and vegetables which I purchase frequently have petroleum-type odors on the surface of the fruit or vegetable, and why is there no label telling me where that odor comes from? Why also is there no information readily-available which tells me which genes in the produce have been modified for which reasons?

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

Bev & Ed Benner
