Dear DOJ,

I am writing this note because I am concerned about the lack of oversight for added chemicals in our foods.

Please work harder to provide more oversight regarding labeling, hormones, pesticides, and genetically modified foods. There needs to be a balance struck between the consumers and the producers. Producers deserve to be paid for their part and consumers deserve to make informed choices about their food. As a parent of a toddler, it is vital that I can make informed decisions regarding my child's food.

I appreciate your consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,

James Green
