Dear USDOJ.gov,

I am a nutritionist in private practice and see everyday how are food source is harming the American people. Our food industry must be accountable to us for the quality of food that is brought to the market in more than one way. It must ensure fair wage to farmers, factory workers, and farm workers. It must be accountable to the human practices with regards to animals and the way they are treated and slaughtered, the type of food and drugs that are given to the animals, and the additives and preservatives in foods. It must reveal the ingredients (all the ingredients) on packaging, and the way in which the food was grown, i.e. GE foods, cloned animals, etc. This is imperative to the health of not only our people but the well being of human beings globally. It is my belief that our food source along with our health care industry is killing people and harming their quality of life. Please take a stand for change and justice in our food industry today.

Sincerely,

Gay Riley, MS, RD, CCN, NASM-CPT
