

From: Marti King <martiking@msn.com>
Sent: Saturday, December 19, 2009 9:57 PM
To: ATR-Agricultural Workshops <agriculturalworkshops@usdoj.gov>
Subject: Comments

With companies like Monsanto and ADM buying their way into Congress, We The People are hard pressed to figure out what to do to reduce the influence of money on our food supply. Publicly funded elections would be a good start, but that is a dream. At the very least, we need to set a time limit of five or more years between the time lobbyists and government workers can take part in the revolving door that results in such close connections between regulators and the people supposedly being regulated.

We The People will be watching!

Sincerely,

M.J.King

Marti King

, 32174