US Department of Justice

Dear US Department of Justice:

The fact that Mon Santo hasn't been shut down a dozen times by now is all the evidence I need that the Justice Department is either impotent or corrupt. Throughout the US the EPA considers roughly 75 locations unfit for human life, Mon Santo is responsible for the majority of them, yet their corporate wing remains in their suites instead of behind bars. I implore you to do the job you should have long since done.

Sincerely,

Christian Blackburn
