

From: Jessica Gosney <gosney.jessica@gmail.com>
Sent: Saturday, December 26, 2009 7:06 PM
To: ATR-Agricultural Workshops <agriculturalworkshops@usdoj.gov>
Subject: corporate control of food

Hello

I am citizen who is concerned about the state of America's food system. Two main facets worry me the most. Firstly, the centralized control of our food sources give very few companies enourmous power. Far too few companies are in conrtol of far too many aspects of the US's food landscape right now. It scares me that a near monopoly is held over the production of something so essential and basic. Secondly, the amount of govenmental food and agriculture subsidies that skew the market frustrate me. I don't want my taxes to go to paying a farmer to overproduce.

Thank you for listening.

Jessica Gosney
2201 Franklin Station Way Apt 207
Knoxville, TN 37916