Subject: Monsanto's Grip on Our Food Diversity

I am a small business owner who is very concerned about the quality and safety of my and my family's food.

I write to you begging that you help preserve the diversity that is required in farming and food production. Please help break the grip that Monsanto has on our farmer's abilities to grow their crops without the fear of contamination from Monsanto's genetically modified plants that are grown nearby.

Please protect our farmers and their plants.
