Please accept my submission in favor of food production reform. It's been a long time coming as I remember the demise of family farms in the '70's. As it stands now, things just won't work the way Monsanto et al want it to. It's just bad science, not to mention sociopathic. We can impose standards of sanity in every sense of the word, protect the integrity of our food and everything connected to it. They'll be ok.
