

From: whirlwind@ronan.net
Sent: Tuesday, January 12, 2010 12:43 AM
To: ATR-Agricultural Workshops <agriculturalworkshops@usdoj.gov>
Subject: Comment

Vickie Hitchcock
p.o. box 435
pablo, MT 59855-0435

January 12, 2010

US Department of Justice

Dear US Department of Justice:

Thank you for the opportunity to submit comments in advance of the Department of Justice's workshops on "Agriculture and Antitrust Enforcement Issues in Our 21st Century Economy."

As an organic consumer, I am particularly concerned about Monsanto's control over the seed supply.

By buying seed companies and aggressively patenting life, Monsanto has gained control over as much as 90 percent of seed genetics. This is anti-competitive behavior that skews markets and subjects farmers and consumers to the unchecked power of a company that can raise prices at will.

But, my main concern is that, while Monsanto has acquired a diverse store of seed genetics, they are only making available a few seeds that are genetically modified to be dependent on their chemicals.

The vast bounty of food crops that farmers have cultivated and improved upon over the last 10,000 or so years should not be allowed to be bought up and put out of commission by a company bent on whittling down food varieties to a few pesticide-dependent genetically modified crops.

The most devious part of Monsanto's business model is that their Frankenseeds can cross-pollinate with organic and traditional varieties, destroying their unique characteristics and infecting them with genetically engineered chemical dependence or even "Terminator" or "Traitor" technology that renders seeds sterile, a literal death sentence for seeds maintained through conventional breeding.

The same way we protect animal species from extinction, we should protect plant species, especially the tens of thousands of food varieties, from companies like Monsanto that are consciously eliminating them.

I urge you to please include in your investigation a consideration of the importance keeping seeds, the foundation of human life, at least in the marketplace, if not in the public domain where they truly belong. Are these people even for real? are they, can they even be called human?

these monstrosities cannot be allowed to do this, this country has gone absolutely crazy. it has put the the almighty worship of molloch the golden calf, over every thing including the life of the planet itself, and evidently our politicians are too stupid to stop them and those like them, or do they simply not care while they're enjoying payoffs? this is a crime of the highest order against humanity, the planet, and god. it should not be a difficult decision to come to on this matter, its time for some sanity to be restored to our country which is one country pretending to be another. i would like to suggest that you keep in mind what the bible has to say about things of this nature. the sins of omission will not be forgiven you

Sincerely,

Vickie Hitchcock
406-675-0118