

From: sarahm[REDACTED] [mailto:sarahm[REDACTED]]
Sent: Sunday, June 24, 2012 9:40 AM
To: Read, John[John.Read@ATR.USDOJ.gov]
Subject: Amazon redux

Dear John Read,

As an amendment to my email of yesterday, I must say that Amazon is a boon to authors and would-be readers of out-of-print books: listing the books, offering sellers for them, and, through their Advantage Program, offering a way for authors to sell their own. Used booksellers, as well as authors and the reading public, gain from this.

This does not mitigate the need to consider the effects of Amazon on the bookselling and publishing worlds.

Sincerely yours,

Sarah Lamstein
www.sarahlamstein.com