

From: WordsWorth Books & Co. [mailto:wordsworthboo[REDACTED]]
Sent: Friday, June 22, 2012 3:24 PM
To: Read, John [John.Read@ATR.USDOJ.gov]
Subject: Fw: Agency issue

Please see the letter below originally sent to the wrong address. David Cockcroft

WordsWorth Books & Co
5920 R St
Little Rock, AR 72207
501-663-9198
WordsWorth is now on Facebook!
Check us out at www.facebook.com/wordsworthbooks

----- Forwarded Message -----

From: WordsWorth Books & Co. <[wordsworthboo\[REDACTED\]](mailto:wordsworthboo[REDACTED])>
To: John.Read@usadoj.gov
Sent: Fri, June 22, 2012 2:20:47 PM
Subject: Agency issue

Dear Sir, WordsWorth Books has managed to survive for over 20 years competing against all comers including the big box retailers. It is Amazon and its predatory pricing tactics using books as loss leaders to lure customers away from local stores with deep roots in the community who also collect sales tax from their customers, while Amazon does not.

This is a shameful practice that is robbing State and local governments of much needed funds to support the services provided for the common good and well being of their citizens.

The agency issue is much the same. Please do not permit Amazon unbridled competitive advantages over small businesses like WordsWorth Books.

David Cockcroft
Treasurer

WordsWorth Books & Co
5920 R St
Little Rock, AR 72207
501-663-9198
WordsWorth is now on Facebook!
Check us out at www.facebook.com/wordsworthbooks