

From: T. Jefferson Parker [mailto:tjpark<sup>[REDACTED]</sup>] ]
Sent: Monday, June 25, 2012 2:31 PM
To: Read, John
Subject: publishing lawsuit

Dear Mr. Reed,

Please use the power of your department to prosecute the many criminals who deserve it, not American publishers trying to survive. Publishers are the engines of our intellectual advancement and the underwriters of our literature. They set prices so they can make a profit, like anyone else.

Don't prosecute an imagined monopoly at the expense of a real one in the making – Amazon.

Sincerely,

T. Jefferson Parker