MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

I am pleased to provide the FY 2006 Statistical Year Book which summarizes the work of the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) for the past five years. EOIR, an agency of the Department of Justice, carries out its mission through three main organizational components: the Office of the Chief Immigration Judge (OCIJ); the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA); and the Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer (OCAHO).

In FY 2006, OCIJ supervised immigration judges located in 52 immigration courts throughout the United States. Immigration Judges travel to more than 100 other hearing locations to conduct proceedings. At each proceeding, a Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Assistant Chief Counsel represents the United States Government, while the respondent alien appears on his or her own behalf or retains an attorney at no expense to the Government.

The BIA, located in Falls Church, Virginia, conducts appellate reviews of decisions rendered by Immigration Judges. All published decisions of the Board are binding on Immigration Judges and on DHS, unless overruled or modified by the Attorney General or a Federal court. Unpublished decisions of the Board are binding on the Immigration Judge or the DHS with regard to the individual case at issue, unless overruled or modified by the Attorney General or a Federal court.

The third EOIR component, OCAHO, also is located in Falls Church. OCAHO resolves cases concerning employer sanctions, immigration-related employment discrimination, and document fraud.

EOIR collects information about aliens who appear in immigration courts and whose cases subsequently are appealed to the BIA. Both immigration court staff, located throughout the United States, and the BIA staff, record and update case information in EOIR's information processing systems.

The following report is intended to provide an introduction to the types of immigration matters processed by EOIR on a daily basis. Included in this report are data from FY 2002 - FY 2006. Data in this report have been updated, and thus may be slightly different from previously published Statistical Year Book data.

The accomplishments reported in the Statistical Year Book are the result of the effort and dedication demonstrated by EOIR staff members throughout the year.

FY 2006 HIGHLIGHTS

- Immigration court receipts increased by 20 percent between FY 2002 (290,400) and FY 2006 (348,216). However, receipts in FY 2006 decreased by 6 percent from FY 2005. (Figure 1, page B2)
- Immigration court completions increased by 34 percent between FY 2002 (273,787) and FY 2006 (365,851). Completions in FY 2006 increased by 4 percent from FY 2005. (Figure 1, page B2)
- Immigration Judge (IJ) decisions increased by 61 percent between FY 2002 (170,222) and FY 2006 (273,615). (Figure 4, page D1)
- Mexico, El Salvador, Honduras, Guatemala, and China were the leading nationalities of immigration court completions during FY 2006, representing 68 percent of the caseload. (Figure 6, page E1)
- Spanish was the most frequently spoken language for immigration court case completions during FY 2006. (Figure 8, page F1).
- Thirty-five (35) percent of aliens whose cases were completed in immigration courts during FY 2006 were represented. The representations rate for FY 2005 and FY 2006 would be 48 percent if failure to appear completions were removed from the data. (Figure 9, page G1)
- The overall failure to appear rate increased in FY 2006 (39%) from a five year low in FY 2003 (22%). The rate remained static from FY 2005 to FY 2006. (Figure 10, page H2)
- Asylum applications filed with the immigration courts decreased by 27 percent from FY 2002 to FY 2006. Nearly 90 percent of this decrease was in affirmative receipts. (Figure 13, page I1)
- In FY 2006, the Los Angeles, CA; Miami, FL; New York, NY; and San Francisco, CA immigration courts received 54 percent of the asylum applications filed with the courts. (Table 6, page I3)
- Seven nationalities were among the top ten nationalities granted asylum each year during the five-year period FY 2002-06: China, Colombia, Haiti, Albania, India, Indonesia, and Armenia. (Table 7, page J2)
- The grant rate for asylum applications increased to 45 percent in FY 2006. The grant rate was 51 percent for affirmative applications and 34 percent for defensive applications. (Figures 16, 17, and 18, pages K2 and K3)

- In FY 2006, 26 percent of proceedings completed at the immigration courts had applications for relief. (Figure 22, page N1)
- Twenty-nine (29) percent of FY 2006 immigration court completions involved detained aliens. (Figure 23, page O1)
- BIA had a 14 percent increase in receipts between FY 2002 (34,834) and FY 2006 (39,707) and a 12 percent decrease in completions during the same period. (Table 17, page T2)
- Mexico, China, Haiti, Colombia, and Guatemala were the leading nationalities of BIA IJ decision appeals completed in FY 2006, representing 53 percent of the caseload. (Figure 29, page V1)
- Seventy-one (71) percent of the BIA IJ decision appeals completed in FY 2006 were for represented aliens. (Figure 30, page W1)
- In FY 2006, 9 percent of IJ decisions were appealed to the BIA. The percent of IJ decisions appealed has decreased each year since 2003, when 17 percent of IJ decisions were appealed. (Figure 32, page Y1)

Immigration Courts: Total Matters Received and Completed

An alien charged by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) with a violation of immigration law is issued a charging document. The most common charging documents are the Notice to Appear (NTA) and the Notice of Referral to Immigration Judge. When the charging document is filed by DHS with the Immigration Court, jurisdiction over the case transfers from DHS to the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR), which has oversight over the 53¹ Immigration Courts located throughout the United States. Once an alien has been ordered removed by EOIR, DHS carries out the removal; EOIR does not maintain statistics on alien removals from the United States.

During court proceedings, aliens appear before an Immigration Judge, and either contest or concede the charges against them. In some instances, the Immigration Judge adjourns the case and sets a continuance date; for example, the judge may allow the alien time to obtain representation or to file an application for relief. After hearing a case, the Immigration Judge renders a decision. The Immigration Judge may order the alien removed, or may grant relief such as cancellation of removal, asylum, adjustment of status, etc. If the Immigration Judge decides that removability has not been established by DHS, he or she may terminate the proceedings.

In addition to proceedings, Immigration Judges consider other matters such as bonds and motions.

- Bond redetermination hearings are held when an alien in custody seeks release on his or her own recognizance, or seeks a reduction in the amount of bond. In some cases, bond redetermination hearings are held before EOIR receives the charging document from DHS. During bond redetermination hearings, the judge may decide to lower, raise, maintain, or eliminate altogether the bond amount set by DHS, or to change bond conditions.
- Additionally, either the alien or DHS may request by motion that a case previously heard by an Immigration Judge be reopened or reconsidered. Generally, aliens or DHS file motions to reopen or reconsider because of changed circumstances.

For the purposes of this Year Book, the term Immigration Court matters includes proceedings (deportation, exclusion, removal, credible fear, reasonable fear, claimed status, asylum only, rescission, continued detention review, NACARA, and withholding only), bond redeterminations, and motions. Receipts are defined as the total number of proceedings, bond redeterminations, and motions received by the Immigration Courts during the reporting period. Completions include Immigration Judge decisions on proceedings, bond redeterminations, and motions; other completions such as administrative closings and changes of venue.

¹Data in the Year Book is based on 52 Immigration Courts. The court at Headquarters serves to assist many of the Immigration Courts in the processing of their cases but is not credited with case completions.

	Receipts	Completions
FY 02	290,400	273,787
FY 03	299,197	296,120
FY 04	299,475	302,049

Figure 1

As shown in Figure 1 above, the number of immigration matters received by the Immigration Courts increased each year between FY 2002 and FY 2005. The increase in receipts from FY 2002 to FY 2005 was 27 percent. The decrease in receipts from FY 2005 to FY 2006 was 6 percent. Immigration matters completed increased from FY 2002 to FY 2006. The five year increase in completions was 34 percent.

While some courts showed increases in receipts over FY 2005 levels, others showed decreases. In Table 1, shown on page B3, courts with increases of 25 percent or more are shown in blue, and those with decreases of 25 percent or more are shown in red. The Immigration Court in Salt Lake City, Utah showed the largest percentage increase in receipts, up 147%. The Immigration Court in Fishkill, NY showed the largest decrease, down 59 percent.

Table 2 on page B4 provides a comparison of FY 2005 and FY 2006 completions. Courts with increases in completions of 25 percent or more are shown in blue, and those with decreases of 25 percent or more are shown in red. The Immigration Court in Salt Lake City, Utah had a significant increase in both receipts and completions.

Immigration Courts: Proceedings Received and Completed by Type

This section of the Statistical Year Book provides further details on proceedings by type. As noted previously in Tab B, proceedings, motions, and bond redeterminations make up the various types of matters considered by the Immigration Courts.

Until April 1, 1997, the two major types of proceedings conducted by Immigration Courts were exclusion proceedings and deportation proceedings. Individuals charged by the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) (now reorganized under the Department of Homeland Security (DHS)) as excludable were placed in exclusion proceedings. Exclusion cases generally involved a person who tried to enter the United States, but was stopped at the point of entry because INS found the person to be inadmissible. Deportation cases usually arose when INS alleged that an alien had entered the country illegally, or had entered legally, but then violated one or more conditions of his or her visa.

Rescission cases, a less common type of case, were also received by the Immigration Courts prior to April 1, 1997, and continue to be received today. In a rescission case, DHS issues a Notice of Intent to Rescind an individual's permanent resident status, and the individual has the right to contest the charge before an Immigration Judge.

Provisions of the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA), which became effective on April 1, 1997, established five new types of proceedings:

- Removal Proceedings. Under removal proceedings (which replaced exclusion and deportation proceedings), DHS must file a Notice to Appear (NTA) to initiate the proceedings.
- Credible Fear Review. Arriving aliens with no documents or fraudulent documents are subject to expedited removal by DHS. If an arriving alien who has been ordered removed under the expedited removal provisions expresses a "credible fear" of persecution, the alien is referred for an interview by an asylum officer. Aliens found by the asylum officer not to have a credible fear of persecution may request a review by an Immigration Judge. If the judge determines there is "credible fear", the judge will vacate the DHS order of expedited removal, and the alien will be placed in removal proceedings.
- Reasonable Fear Review. DHS has the authority to order the administrative removal of certain aggravated felons, and to reinstate orders of removal for aliens previously removed. If an alien who has been ordered administratively removed, or whose prior order of removal has been reinstated expresses a fear of returning to the country of removal, a DHS asylum officer makes a "reasonable fear" determination. Aliens found by the asylum officer not to have a reasonable fear of persecution may request a review by an Immigration Judge. If the judge determines there is “reasonable fear”, the alien will be placed in withholding only proceedings.

- Claimed Status Review. If an alien in expedited removal proceedings before DHS claims to be a U.S. citizen, to have been lawfully admitted for permanent residence, to have been admitted as a refugee, or to have been granted asylum, and DHS determines that the alien has no such claim, he or she can obtain a review of that claim by an Immigration Judge.
- Asylum-Only. An asylum only case is initiated when an arriving “crewman or stowaway” is not eligible to apply for admission into the United States, but wants to request asylum. These proceedings also cover Visa Waiver Program beneficiaries and individuals ordered removed from the United States on security grounds.

Additional types of proceedings include:

- Continued Detention Review. In response to a United States Supreme Court decision in Zadvydas v. Davis, a new type of proceeding was established regarding the continued detention of aliens who are subject to final orders of removal. In these cases the alien has already been ordered removed, but DHS is unable to effect the removal (e.g., lack of a travel document, no diplomatic relations with the receiving country, etc). The only issue for the Immigration Judge to decide in Continued Detention Review cases is whether or not the alien should remain in custody.
- NACARA. Certain aliens may apply for suspension of deportation or cancellation of removal under section 203 of the Nicaraguan Adjustment and Central American Relief Act (NACARA).
- Withholding Only. A previous removal/deportation/exclusion order has been reinstated by DHS or the alien has been ordered removed (administratively) by DHS (based upon a conviction for an aggravated felony) and the alien expresses a fear of persecution or torture and that claim is reviewed by an asylum officer. The asylum officer has concluded that the alien has a reasonable fear of persecution or torture or an Immigration Judge conducted a Reasonable Fear proceeding and found that “reasonable fear of persecution or torture” exists. The IJ’s Reasonable Fear findings automatically initiates a Withholding Only hearing.

Table 3 shows all types of proceedings received by the Immigration Courts between FY 2002 and FY 2006. Receipts of deportation and exclusion cases have declined since FY 2002 because these types of proceedings were no longer initiated by INS (now DHS) after 1997.

Table 4 shows all types of proceedings completed by the Immigration Courts for the period FY 2002 to FY 2006. Note that proceedings completed do not reflect only Immigration Judge decisions. These numbers include other completions such as transfers and changes of venue. As shown in Tab D, "other completions" accounted for 16 percent of the proceedings completed in FY 2006.

Immigration Courts: Proceedings Completed by Disposition

After a hearing, the Immigration Judge either renders an oral decision, or reserves the decision and issues it at a later date. In rendering a decision, the Immigration Judge may order the alien removed from the United States, grant some form of relief, or terminate the proceedings if removability has not been established by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) .

In addition to decisions, there are other possible proceedings outcomes which are reported here as “other” completions. Some cases are administratively closed and the Immigration Judge does not render a decision on the merits. Administrative closures are counted as “other” completions, as are cases transferred to a different hearing location or granted a change of venue.

Figure 4 provides a breakdown of proceedings from FY 2002 to FY 2006 by type of completion – either through an Immigration Judge decision or through an “other” completion, such as an administrative closure or change of venue. Between FY 2002 and FY 2005, the number of cases counted as “other” completions have decreased each year. There was a slight increase (1 percent) from FY 2005 to FY 2006. In FY 2002, “other” completions accounted for approximately 25 percent of total completions and in FY 2006 they accounted for only 16 percent of total completions.

Figure 5 provides a breakout of decisions by disposition type. Immigration Judges first decide whether or not the charges against an alien should be sustained. If the charges are not sustained or where the alien has established eligibility for naturalization, the judge terminates the case.¹ If charges are sustained, the judge decides whether to order the alien removed from the United States or to grant relief. In some cases, the Immigration Judge may permit the alien to depart the United States voluntarily. Orders of voluntary departure are included as removals. There are also a few Immigration Judge decisions classified as “other” decisions. For example, an Immigration Judge may permit an alien in proceedings to withdraw his or her application for admission.

¹ Termination decisions increased by close to 70% between FY 2005 and FY 2006. This increase may be due in part to recent regulatory and ICE policy changes with regard to 8 CFR §§ 245, 1001.1 and 1245 prescribing authority to USCIS to adjudicate applications for adjustment of status from arriving aliens and the use of prosecutorial discretion for individuals with viable forms of relief available to them through USCIS affirmative processing. See Interim Rule, Eligibility of Arriving Aliens in Removal Proceedings To Apply for Adjustment of Status and Jurisdiction To Adjudicate Applications for Adjustment of Status at 71 FR 27585, 27592 (Friday, May 12, 2006).

Between FY 2002 and FY 2005, the percentage of aliens ordered removed increased from 79 percent to 84 percent, in FY 2006 the percentage decreased to 80 percent.

Immigration Courts: Proceedings Completed by Nationality

Immigration Court staff record in EOIR's data system the nationality of aliens who appear before Immigration Judges. Data in this section provide information on the predominant nationalities for completed proceedings.

In FY 2006, the top 10 nationalities accounted for approximately 80 percent of all proceedings completed as shown in Figure 6. A total of 215 nationalities were represented in the FY 2006 Immigration Judge completions. Mexico and Central American countries are consistently among the predominant nationalities of immigration court completions. Table 5 provides information on the top 25 nationalities each year for the period FY 2002 through FY 2006. For the five-year period, nine of the top ten nationalities remained the same: Mexico, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Haiti, Cuba, China, Colombia, and Brazil.

Immigration Courts: Proceedings Completed by Language

Figure 7 below shows a breakdown of FY 2002 Immigration Court proceedings completed by language. Of 211 languages spoken in court proceedings during FY 2002, 83 percent were in the following five languages: Spanish, English, Mandarin, Foo Chow, and Creole.

Figure 8 below shows comparable data for FY 2006. Although four of the top five languages were the same, there was more diversity in languages in FY 2006. A total of 252 different languages were spoken in court proceedings in the Immigration Courts during FY 2006. The top five languages accounted for 90 percent of the proceedings completed in FY 2006.

FY 2006 highlights include:

- Spanish language cases were 70 percent of the total caseload, an increase of 9 percent since FY 2002.
- In the “Other” category, Foo Chow, Russian, and Arabic represented the three most frequently spoken languages.
- The number of different languages used in court proceedings has increased by 19 percent over FY 2002.

Immigration Courts: Proceedings Completed by Representation Status

The Immigration and Nationality Act states that individuals in removal proceedings before an Immigration Judge may be represented by counsel, but at no expense to the Government. Prior to representing an alien before the Immigration Court, representatives must file a Notice of Appearance with the court.

Many individuals in removal proceedings are indigent and cannot afford a private attorney. Some seek free or pro bono representation, while others proceed without counsel on their own, or pro se. Of great concern to EOIR is the large number of individuals appearing pro se. Immigration Judges, in order to ensure that such individuals understand the nature of the proceedings, as well as their rights and responsibilities, must take extra care and spend additional time explaining this information. An individual may ask for a continuance of a proceeding to obtain counsel.

As shown in Figure 9, less than half of the aliens whose proceedings were completed during the period FY 2002 – FY 2006 were represented. The percentage of represented aliens for FY 2002 to FY 2006 ranged from 35 percent to 48 percent. However, the significant drop in representation rate in FY 2005 and FY 2006 is directly related to the increased failures to appear over this same period. The representation rate for FY 2005 and FY 2006 would be 48 percent if failure to appear completions were removed from the data.

	Represented	Unrepresented	Total

Figure 9

Immigration Courts: Failures to Appear

When an alien fails to appear for a hearing, the Immigration Judge may conduct an in absentia (in absence of) hearing and order the alien removed from the United States. Before the Immigration Judge orders the alien removed in absentia, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Assistant Chief Counsel must establish by clear, unequivocal, and convincing evidence that the alien is removable. Further, the Immigration Judge must be satisfied that notice of time and place of the hearing were provided to the alien or the alien's representative. A failure to appear does not always result in an in absentia order. In some instances, the Immigration Judge may administratively close the case without ordering the alien removed in absentia. Since most administrative closures relate to failures to appear, we have included those figures in calculating the failure to appear rates below.

Figure 10, on the following page, compares Immigration Judge decisions and administrative closures with failures to appear. Of the Immigration Judge decisions rendered in FY 2006, 39 percent involved aliens who had failed to appear. Failure to appear rates were fairly consistent each year from FY 2002 to FY 2004. In FY 2005 the rates nearly doubled and remained at this level in FY 2006. The large increase in the failure to appear rate had a direct effect on the total completions for the fiscal year.

In FY 2005, 106,841 aliens failed to appear compared to the previous high in FY 2004 of 54,263, this represents a 97 percent increase. It should also be noted that 52 percent (55,893) of the failure to appear completions in FY 2005 occurred in Harlingen and San Antonio, Texas, compared to 41 percent (45,268) in FY 2006.

The immigration court workload is dependent on actions taken by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS). The DHS' long standing policy known as "catch and release" was designed to release non-Mexican aliens apprehended at entry on their own recognizance. This policy resulted from DHS' and the now defunct INS' insufficient capacity to detain all aliens apprehended at entry. In recent years, due to this policy, the failure to appear rate has increased dramatically at the immigration courts. This has caused a subsequent increase in in absentia removal orders being issued by the immigration judges. In August 2006, DHS abolished this policy.

FY 06	102,834	6,879	109,713	280,494	39%

The following figures show EOIR data on failures to appear by detention status: non-detained aliens and aliens released on bond or recognizance. Failures to appear for detained cases occur infrequently, generally only because of illness or transportation problems, and are not broken out in the following figures.

Figure 11 shows a comparison of the number of failures to appear with the number of Immigration Judge decisions for non-detained aliens. The non-detained category is made up of aliens who were never detained. The failure to appear rate for this population has increased each year from FY 2002 to FY 2005. From FY 2005 to FY 2006 the rate stayed the same, which is consistent with the overall rate depicted in Figure 10.

FY 05	97,858	60%	162,276
FY 06	100,551	60%	168,285

Failures to appear for aliens released on bond or on their own recognizance are shown in Figure 12; for the five-year period, the failure to appear rate for these cases has decreased annually from FY 2002 to FY 2006. During the same period the failure to appear rates for non-detained aliens has increased.

Immigration Courts: Asylum Cases Received and Completed

An important form of relief that aliens may request is asylum. Aliens request asylum if they fear harm if returned to their native country or if they have suffered harm in the past. To be granted asylum, an alien must demonstrate past persecution or a well-founded fear of persecution based on the alien’s race, religion, nationality, political beliefs, and/or membership in a particular social group.

There are two ways that aliens may request asylum: “affirmatively,” by completing an asylum application and filing it with a Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Asylum Office; or “defensively” by requesting asylum before an Immigration Judge. Aliens who file affirmatively with DHS, but whose requests for asylum are not granted, may be placed in removal proceedings and referred to the appropriate Immigration Court for further review of the case.

FY 05	35,880	16,619	162	52,661
FY 06	37,104	16,780	548	54,432

As shown in Figure 14 below, asylum receipts declined by 30 percent from FY 2002 to FY 2005. From FY 2005 to FY 2006 receipts have increased slightly.

Asylum completions increased by 23 percent from FY 2002 to FY 2003. From FY 2003 to FY 2006 completions have declined by 15 percent.

In FY 2006, the Los Angeles, CA; Miami, FL; New York, NY; and San Francisco, CA Immigration Courts received 54 percent of asylum filings. In FY 2006, half of the Immigration Courts had more receipts than completions. However, all four of the largest courts completed more cases than they received and overall completions outnumbered receipts by over 3,600 cases.

Immigration Courts: Asylum Grants by Nationality

This section provides information on asylum grants by nationality. Figure 15 displays the top ten nationalities granted asylum in FY 2006. In FY 2006, the top 10 nationalities accounted for 60 percent of all asylum grants. A total of 148 nationalities were represented among cases granted asylum in FY 2006. Table 7 provides information for comparative purposes on the top nationalities granted asylum for the period FY 2002 to FY 2006. Seven nationalities were represented among the top ten nationalities granted asylum each year during the five-year period: China, Colombia, Albania, India, Haiti, Armenia, and Indonesia. For more complete information on asylum data by nationality see: <http://www.usdoj.gov/eoir/eoia/FY06AsyStats.pdf>.

Immigration Courts: Disposition of Asylum Cases

During removal proceedings, an alien may request asylum as relief from removal. The Immigration Judge must then decide whether to deny or grant an alien's application for asylum. If the asylum applicant fails to appear for a scheduled court hearing, the application is considered abandoned. In other instances, the asylum applicant chooses to withdraw his or her application for asylum. EOIR tracks each of these possible outcomes as completed cases: grants, denials, withdrawals, and abandoned applications for asylum.

A substantial number of closed cases do not fall into one of the four categories listed above, and are counted as "other" asylum completions, e.g., change of venue to another court. Further, in some instances, an alien with a pending asylum claim may apply for and be granted some other type of relief besides asylum, and this is also recorded as an "other" completion.

The Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA) provided that refugee status or asylum could be granted to as many as 1,000 applicants annually whose claims were based on coercive population control (CPC). IIRIRA amended the Immigration and Nationality Act to include opposition to coercive population control methods to be considered as a political opinion. Immigration Judges began granting asylum based on CPC in FY 1997. An alien who was eligible for a grant of asylum based on coercive population control methods received a grant conditioned on an administrative determination by the Department of Homeland Security that a number was available. Effective May 11, 2005, under the Real ID Act, the annual cap was lifted on asylum grants based on coercive population control methods.

Figure 16 provides the asylum grant rate for the past five years. The grant rate is calculated as a percentage of asylum claims decided on the merits, i.e., grants (including conditional grants) and denials. The number of aliens granted asylum increased from FY 2002 to FY 2003 but the grant rate remained 37 percent. From FY 2002 to FY 2005 the grant rate stayed fairly consistent. The grant rate showed a significant increase from FY 2005 to FY 2006. If the grant rate were calculated as a percentage of all 58,040 asylum completions (as opposed to only the claims decided on the merits), it would be significantly lower, e.g., 23 percent for FY 2006 as opposed to 45 percent.

There is some difference in the grant rates depending on whether the asylum application was filed affirmatively or defensively. From FY 2002 to FY 2006, grant rates for affirmative asylum claims were higher than grant rates for defensive claims. Figures 17 and 18 show the grant rates for affirmative and defensive asylum claims. In a few instances, (187 grants and 161 denials) data was incomplete, and it was unclear whether the claim was affirmative or defensive.

Figure 19 illustrates graphically all asylum case completions. The number of denials increased from FY 2002 to FY 2003, but have decreased since FY 2003. The number of asylum grants increased from FY 2002 to FY 2003 then declined from FY 2003 to FY 2005. There was a slight increase in grants from FY 2005 to FY 2006. In FY 2006, the number of asylum grants was 22 percent higher than the number of grants in FY 2002.

An applicant for asylum also is an applicant for withholding or removal under section 241(b)(3) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. Whereas asylum is a discretionary form of relief, withholding of removal is a mandatory form of relief that the Immigration Judge must grant if the applicant is found to have a clear probability of persecution in his or her country of origin, based on, race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular social group, or political opinion, provided no mandatory bars apply. This form of protection fulfills United States' treaty obligations as signatory to the 1967 United Nations Protocol Relating to the Status of Refugees (1967 Protocol). The 1951 United Nations Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees (Refugee Convention) and the 1967 Protocol require contracting states to ensure that no refugee be returned to a country where his or her life would be threatened due to one of the five protected grounds for refugee status.

Asylum seekers can only apply for withholding of removal in an immigration court. A determination regarding this form of protection is made only if the applicant is denied asylum. Applicants granted this form of relief may not be returned to the country of feared persecution. However, they may be sent to a third country provided that country will allow their entry.

Figure 19-A below depicts the Asylum Withholding Grant Rate. Cases that had grants for both Asylum and Withholding were omitted for withholding because they have previously been counted as an asylum grant.

Immigration Courts: Expedited Asylum Cases

There are two ways that aliens may request asylum: “affirmatively,” by completing an asylum application and filing it with a Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Asylum Office; or “defensively” by requesting asylum before an Immigration Judge. Aliens who file affirmatively with DHS, but whose requests for asylum are not granted, are placed in removal proceedings and referred to the appropriate Immigration Court for a hearing.

Asylum regulations implemented in 1995 called for asylum applications to be processed within 180 days after filing. The Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act (IIRIRA) of 1996 reiterated that time frame and calls for the administrative adjudication of an asylum application within 180 days of the application filing date, absent exceptional circumstances. This process is time sensitive because the asylum applicant may not apply for employment authorization until 150 days after filing, and DHS then has 30 days to grant or deny employment authorization. The applicant can only be granted employment authorization if the asylum application has not been decided within 180 days of filing, provided there are no delays caused by the alien. Consequently, expedited processing of asylum applications occurs when (1) an alien files “affirmatively” at a DHS Asylum Office and the application is referred to EOIR within 75 days of filing; or (2) an alien files an asylum application “defensively” with EOIR.

As shown in Figure 20 below, the number of expedited asylum cases have decreased each year from FY 2002 to FY 2006. From FY 2002 to FY 2005 both expedited asylum receipts and total asylum receipts consistently decreased.

Immigration Courts: Convention Against Torture

In 1999, the Department of Justice implemented regulations regarding the United Nations Convention Against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (Convention Against Torture) (CAT). Under these regulations, aliens in removal, deportation, or exclusion proceedings may claim that they “more likely than not” will be tortured if removed from the United States. The regulation provides jurisdiction to the Immigration Courts to hear these claims, and provides jurisdiction to the BIA to hear appeals from the Immigration Courts’ decisions regarding CAT claims.

There are two forms of protection under the 1999 regulations:

- The regulation established a new form of withholding of removal which is granted to an alien who establishes that he or she would be tortured in the proposed country of removal.
- The second protection concerns aliens who would be tortured in the country of removal, but who are barred from withholding of removal. These aliens may be granted deferral of removal, a less permanent form of protection than withholding of removal, and one that is more easily and quickly terminated if it becomes possible to remove the alien.

As shown in Table 9 below, the Immigration Courts adjudicated 31,364 CAT applications during FY 2006. Of those, 578 CAT cases were granted, the majority of which were granted withholding.

The grant rate for CAT cases was approximately 4 percent in FY 2006. This percentage is calculated based only on grants and denials, and does not consider abandoned applications, withdrawn applications, or other case closures.

Immigration Courts: Proceedings Completed with Applications for Relief

Some aliens who are found deportable may be eligible for relief from removal. Aliens apply for various forms of relief by completing the appropriate application. Specific types of relief for aliens in proceedings are discussed in other sections of this Year Book. Asylum is addressed in more detail in Tabs I, J, K, and L. Other applications for relief are addressed in Tab R. Tab M provides information about protection afforded certain aliens under the United Nations Convention Against Torture. For the purpose of this Year Book, voluntary departure (discussed in Tab Q) is not considered an application for relief.

Figure 22 provides information on the percent of cases where the alien filed an application for relief. Generally, cases with no applications for relief are processed faster and expend fewer court resources.

Typically, courts along the United States border, courts co-located with the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) detention facilities, and courts which handle Institutional Hearing Program cases involving criminal aliens receive fewer applications for relief. Courts with a low percentage of applications for relief (10 percent or less) are shown in red. Courts where 60 percent or more of the completions involved applications for relief are shown in blue.

Immigration Courts: Proceedings Completed for Detained Cases

Under the Immigration and Nationality Act, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) has authority to detain an alien pending a decision on whether or not the alien is removable. Immigration Courts conduct hearings for both detained and non-detained aliens, and EOIR maintains data on the custody status of aliens in proceedings.

Detention locations include DHS Service Processing Centers (SPCs), DHS contract detention facilities, state and local government jails, and Bureau of Prisons (BOP) institutions. For the purpose of this Year Book, Institutional Hearing Program (IHP) cases are considered detained cases (IHP is discussed further in Tab P). Figure 23 below provides a comparison of detained completions to total proceedings completed. Although the number of detained completions has increased each year since FY 2002, the percent of detained completions decreased from 34 percent to 29 percent.

Overall, Immigration Courts located in three border States – Texas, California, and Arizona – accounted for 60 percent of the detained completions in FY 2006. Courts in those three states are highlighted in blue in Table 13.

Immigration Courts: Institutional Hearing Program Case Processing

The Institutional Hearing Program (IHP) is a cooperative effort between EOIR; the Department of Homeland Security (DHS); and various Federal, State, and municipal corrections agencies. The goal of the IHP is to complete proceedings for incarcerated criminal aliens serving federal or state sentences prior to their release from prison or jail. This allows DHS to remove aliens with final orders expeditiously after release from incarceration.

In FY 2006, DHS filed charging documents with the Immigration Courts for incarcerated aliens in 75 different institutions. Immigration Judges and court staff traveled to these institutions to conduct IHP hearings.

Figure 24 provides information on IHP receipts and completions for FY 2002 - FY 2006. IHP receipts declined by 15 percent from FY 2002 to FY 2006, including a 20 percent decrease from FY 2005 to FY 2006. IHP completions decreased by 22 percent from FY 2002 to FY 2006. Both receipts and completions peaked in FY 2005.

Immigration Courts: Immigration Judge Grants of Voluntary Departure

Under certain circumstances, an Immigration Judge may allow an alien to depart the United States voluntarily. An alien allowed to depart voluntarily concedes removability, but is not barred from future re-entry. Failure to depart within the time granted subjects the alien to a fine, and makes the alien ineligible for voluntary departure and several forms of relief for a ten-year period.

Prior to the completion of proceedings, aliens may request voluntary departure in lieu of removal. The Immigration Judge has discretion to grant up to 120 days for the alien to depart voluntarily if the alien is able to pay for his or her removal, and if he or she is not removable as an aggravated felon or a terrorist.

Immigration Judges also have discretion in certain cases to grant voluntary departure in lieu of removal at the conclusion of proceedings. If the judge finds that the alien has been present in the United States for one year immediately preceding the issuance of the Notice to Appear, has been a person of good moral character for the past five years, is not removable under aggravated felony or terrorist grounds, and has the means to depart the United States and intends to do so, the Immigration Judge may grant up to 60 days for the alien to depart voluntarily. Aliens allowed to depart voluntarily are not barred from re-entry.

Voluntary departure is considered a form of removal, not a type of relief. Immigration Judge decisions on proceedings (as discussed in Tab D) include grants of voluntary departure under removal. Table 14 shows the percentage of removal orders that are grants of voluntary departure.

Immigration Courts: Applications for Relief other than Asylum

Although asylum is the most common form of relief requested before an Immigration Judge, other forms of relief are also granted to eligible aliens. (See Tabs I-L for information on asylum, and Tab M for information on protection granted under the Convention Against Torture.)

This tab describes other forms of relief such as adjustment of status; suspension and cancellation; and Section 212(c) relief. The Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act (IIRIRA) of 1996 provided a new form of relief called cancellation of removal. Cancellation of removal was intended to replace the former Immigration and Nationality Act Section 212(c) waiver and suspension of deportation. Table 16 on page R3 provides information on relief granted under the following provisions:

- Adjustment of Status is a type of relief from deportation, removal, or exclusion, for an alien who is eligible for lawful permanent resident status based on a visa petition approved by the Department of Homeland Security. Normally, the visa petition has been filed by a United States citizen spouse.
- Prior to the passage of IIRIRA, Section 212(c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act provided relief from deportation for long-term lawful permanent residents who had committed a crime. In order to be eligible to apply for 212(c) relief, an applicant had to show that he or she had been a lawful permanent resident for at least seven years, had served less than five years of a sentence if the underlying crime was classified as an aggravated felony, had been rehabilitated, and had no other criminal record. If an applicant in exclusion or deportation proceedings is able to establish these factors, the immigration judge has discretion to grant relief under 212(c).
- Suspension of Deportation is another pre-IIRIRA form of discretionary relief. Certain aliens in deportation proceedings who have maintained continuous physical presence in the United States for specific periods of time, and have met the other statutory requirements may be granted suspension of deportation and adjustment of status to that of lawful permanent resident. The total number of adjustments to lawful permanent resident status under suspension of deportation or cancellation of removal is limited to a 4,000 annual cap under IIRIRA. Applicants for suspension of deportation who applied for this relief prior to the implementation of IIRIRA, or who meet certain conditions of the Nicaraguan Adjustment and Central American Relief Act (NACARA) are not subject to the cap.

- As noted above, Cancellation of Removal is a form of relief provided by IIRIRA. There are two IIRIRA provisions addressing cancellation of removal:
 - Permanent Residents. Under the first provision, a lawful permanent resident facing removal on criminal grounds who has been lawfully admitted for permanent residence for at least five years, and who has resided continuously in the United States for seven years after a lawful admission may request cancellation, provided he or she has no aggravated felony convictions.
 - Nonpermanent Residents. Under the second provision, applicants physically present in the United States for a continuous period of ten years who have not been convicted of a criminal offense may seek cancellation of removal and adjustment of status to permanent resident alien. The applicant must demonstrate exceptional and extremely unusual hardship to a citizen or lawful permanent resident alien spouse, parent or child. IIRIRA limits to 4,000 annually the total number of adjustments to lawful permanent resident status under suspension of deportation or cancellation of removal. Applicants for cancellation of removal who meet certain conditions are not subject to the cap.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Total Cases Received and Completed

The Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) has nationwide jurisdiction to hear appeals from certain decisions rendered by Immigration Judges or certain Department of Homeland Security (DHS) officials. Published BIA decisions are binding on all DHS officers and Immigration Judges unless modified or overruled by the Attorney General or a Federal court. Unpublished decisions of the BIA are binding on the Immigration Judge or the DHS with regard to the individual case at issue unless overruled or modified by the Attorney General or a Federal court.

The majority of cases reviewed by the BIA involve decisions made by Immigration Judges in removal, deportation, or exclusion proceedings, and for the purposes of this Statistical Year Book are referred to as Immigration Judge (IJ) appeals. These appeals are filed directly with the BIA in Falls Church, VA, and must be filed within 30 days of the IJ decision.

Other types of cases over which the BIA has jurisdiction include appeals of certain DHS decisions involving (1) family-based visa petitions adjudicated by DHS officials; (2) fines and penalties imposed upon carriers for violations of immigration laws; and (3) bonds set subsequent to an Immigration Judge's ruling. For the purposes of this Statistical Year Book, appeals from these DHS decisions are referred to as DHS decision appeals.

As shown in Figure 25 on page S2, BIA case receipts have increased by 14 percent from FY 2002 to FY 2006. BIA Case completions have decreased by 12 percent from FY 2002 to FY 2006. Completions outnumbered receipts each year from FY 2002 to FY 2006. Both receipts and completions show a decrease from FY 2005 to FY 2006.

In response to a growing caseload, the BIA has initiated a variety of management and regulatory improvements to increase efficiency while maintaining due process guarantees. In late FY 2000, the BIA's Streamlining Initiative was launched. Published regulations allowed for noncontroversial cases that met specified criteria to be reviewed and adjudicated by a single Board Member. In February 2002, the Department of Justice proposed a regulatory amendment to address additional procedural changes at the BIA. The regulation, which became final in September 2002, imposes time frames for the adjudicatory process at the BIA.

FY 04	43,066	48,705
FY 05	42,727	46,343

As noted earlier, BIA handles two types of cases: those generated from an IJ decision, and those generated from a DHS decision. Figures 26 and 27 below provide information on the types of cases received and completed by the BIA. Appeals of IJ decisions make up the bulk of the BIA's work.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Cases Received and Completed by Type of Case

The Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) has nationwide jurisdiction to hear appeals from certain decisions rendered by Immigration Judges or the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) officials. The BIA has jurisdiction over the following types of cases arising from Immigration Judge (IJ) decisions:

- Case appeals from the decisions of Immigration Judges in removal, deportation, and exclusion proceedings at the court level;
- Appeals filed from the decisions of Immigration Judges on motions to reopen proceedings;
- Motions to reopen cases already decided by the BIA;
- Appeals pertaining to bond, parole, or detention; and
- Interlocutory appeals relating to important jurisdictional questions regarding the administration of the immigration laws or recurring problems in the handling of cases by Immigration Judges.

The BIA also has jurisdiction to review appeals arising from certain decisions rendered by DHS officials. These types of appeals are listed below. Until FY 2000, when a revised regulation was published regarding detention of aliens with removal orders, BIA also had jurisdiction to review custody determinations (bonds) for aliens with final orders of removal. The BIA has jurisdiction to review IJ decisions in continued detention review cases.

- Family-based visa petitions adjudicated by DHS district directors or regional service center directors;
- Waivers of inadmissibility for non-immigrants under the §212(d)(3) of the Immigration and Nationality Act; and
- Fines and penalties imposed upon air carriers for violations of immigration laws.

As shown in Table 16, there was a decrease in Appeals received from IJ decisions while there was an increase in appeals received from DHS decisions from FY 2005 to FY 2006 . The data in Table 17 also shows a decrease in Appeals completed from IJ decisions while there was an increase in appeals completed from DHS decisions for the same time period. For both receipts and completions there was a significant increase from FY 2002 to FY 2006 in appeals from DHS.

Table 16 provides a breakdown of the types of cases received by the BIA between FY 2002 and FY 2006.

Board of Immigration Appeals: Pending Caseload

Figure 28 below depicts the age of the BIA's pending caseload. The number of BIA pending cases have decreased from the end of FY 2005 to the end of FY 2006. At the end of FY 2005, there were 33,063 cases pending at the BIA. By the end of FY 2006, the number of pending cases had been reduced to 27,918 cases. The age of pending cases has also decreased. At the beginning of FY 2006, cases filed before FY 2005 accounted for 18 percent of the pending caseload. At the end of FY 2006 they accounted for less than 2 percent of the pending caseload. The cases filed in FY 2005 decreased from 82 percent of total pending at the beginning of FY 2006 to 20 percent of total pending at the end of FY 2006.

Board of Immigration Appeals: IJ Decision Appeals Completed by Nationality

This section provides information on appeal completions by nationality. Only completions of Immigration Judge (IJ) decision appeals are included in these data; we have not included appeals of Department of Homeland Security (DHS) decisions. In FY 2006, the top 10 nationalities accounted for 67 percent of all completions as shown in Figure 29. A total of 187 nationalities were represented in the FY 2006 completions. Data in Table 18 compares the predominant nationalities for completed Immigration Judge appeals in fiscal years 2002-2006. For the five-year period, seven nationalities ranked among the top ten each year: Mexico, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Colombia, India, and China. FY 2003 was the only year where Mexico did not rank first in BIA IJ decision appeal completions, it was outranked by China.

Board of Immigration Appeals: IJ Decision Appeals Completed by Representation Status

The Immigration and Nationality Act states that individuals who have appealed the decision in their removal proceedings may be represented by counsel, but at no expense to the Government. Before representing an alien before the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA), representatives must file a Notice of Appearance with the BIA.

Many individuals who file appeals with the BIA are indigent and cannot afford a private attorney. Some seek free or pro bono representation, while others proceed without counsel on their own, or pro se. The percentage of represented appellate cases completed is higher than the percentage of represented cases at the Immigration Court level.

As shown in Figure 30, the representation rate increased from FY 2002 to FY 2003. A gradual decrease occurred from FY 2003 to FY 2005. There was a slight increase in FY 2006 where 71 percent of appellate cases completed by the BIA involved a represented alien. Only appeals of IJ decisions are included in these data.

Board of Immigration Appeals: IJ Decision Appeals Completed for Detained Cases

Under the Immigration and Nationality Act, DHS has authority to detain an alien pending a decision on whether or not the alien is removable. EOIR maintains data on the custody status of aliens in proceedings. The Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) handles detained cases (including aliens in the Institutional Hearing Program (IHP)) as priority cases.

Depicted in Figure 31 is the number of Immigration Judge (IJ) case appeal decisions between FY 2002 and FY 2006 along with the number of Immigration Judge case appeal decisions that involved detainees. The figures for detained appeal decisions also include IHP cases.

Figure 31

FY 05	3,572	27,365	13%
FY 06	3,434	23,543	15%

Table 19 shows a breakdown of total detained case appeals completed by the BIA, and of those, the number who were serving sentences at an IHP location. In FY 2006, 18 percent of detained BIA completions involved aliens whose removal orders had been issued prior to their release from a Federal, State, or municipal corrections facility. From FY 2002 to FY 2006 the percentage of IHP completions has declined each year. This drop in the percentage of IHP completions is caused by a decrease in the number of IHP completions and the total detained completions staying fairly consistent.

Immigration Courts and Board of Immigration Appeals: Immigration Judge Decisions (Proceedings) Appealed

The majority of cases reviewed by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) involve decisions made by Immigration Judges in removal, deportation, or exclusion proceedings. Either the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) or the alien may file an appeal. Appeals must be filed within 30 days of the Immigration Judge's decision. Only a relatively small percentage of Immigration Judge decisions are appealed to the BIA. Figure 32 below compares Immigration Judge decisions with the number of aliens who appealed their decisions to the BIA for fiscal years 2002 through 2006. All other figures and tables in Tabs S-X reflect cases (which can involve multiple aliens). In this instance, reporting on aliens who appealed is a more accurate representation of appeal rate.

Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer Total Cases Received and Completed

The Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer (OCAHO) is headed by the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer, who is responsible for the general supervision of Administrative Law Judges. OCAHO's Administrative Law Judges hear cases and adjudicate issues arising under provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act relating to:

- Unlawful hiring, recruiting, or referring for a fee, or continued employment of unauthorized aliens, and failure to comply with employment verification requirements;
- Immigration-related unfair employment practices; and
- Document fraud.

Complaints may be brought by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), the Department of Justice Office of Special Counsel for Immigration Related Unfair Employment Practices, or private litigants.

Figure 33 provides information on the number of cases received and completed by OCAHO between FY 2002 and FY 2006. Completions may include cases received in a prior fiscal year.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Disclaimer

This Glossary has been compiled as an addendum to the FY 2006 Statistical Year Book of the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR). Its intent is to define terms as they are used in the Year Book, and is strictly informational in nature. These terms may have further meaning in the context of other immigration matters. This Glossary is not intended, in any way, to be a substitute for a careful study of the pertinent laws and regulations. This Glossary does not carry the weight of law or regulation. This Glossary is not intended, nor should it be construed in any way, as legal advice, nor does it extend or limit the jurisdiction of EOIR as established by law and regulation.

Abandoned

If an applicant for relief fails to appear for a court hearing, or fails to provide any required information within the time frame allowed without good cause, the application is considered abandoned. In addition, if an applicant fails to timely file an application for relief, the Immigration Judge may deem that application waived.

Accredited Representative

A non-attorney who is authorized to practice before the Immigration Courts, the Board of Immigration Appeals, and/or the Department of Homeland Security. In order to be an accredited representative, one must be affiliated with a “recognized” non-profit, religious, charitable, or social service organization, and meet other qualifying criteria. See Recognized Organization.

Adjustment of Status

A type of relief from deportation, removal, or exclusion for an alien who is eligible for Lawful Permanent Resident status based on a visa petition approved by the Department of Homeland Security. The status of an alien may be adjusted by the Attorney General, in his discretion, to that of a lawful permanent resident if a visa petition on behalf of the alien has been approved, an immigrant visa is immediately available at the time of the alien’s application for adjustment of status, and the alien is not otherwise inadmissible to the United States.

Administrative Closure

Administrative closure of a case is used to temporarily remove the case from an Immigration Judge’s calendar or from the Board of Immigration Appeal’s docket. Administrative closure of a case does not result in a final order. It is merely an administrative convenience which allows the removal of cases from the calendar in appropriate situations. A case may not be administratively closed if opposed by either of the parties.

Administrative Law Judges

Administrative Law Judges (ALJs) in the Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer (OCAHO) preside over hearings and adjudicate issues arising under provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, as amended, relating to (1) employer sanctions for the unlawful hiring or continued employment of unauthorized aliens, or the failure to comply with employment eligibility verification requirements, (2) immigration-related document fraud, and (3) immigration-related unfair employment practices based on certain national origin or citizenship status discrimination. OCAHO ALJs are required by statute to have special training in employment discrimination issues.

Affirmative Asylum Application

An asylum application initially filed with the Department of Homeland Security, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services. Contrast Defensive Asylum Application.

Aggravated Felony

As defined by section 101(a)(43) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, as amended, aggravated felony includes, but is not limited to, murder; rape or sexual abuse of a minor; drug trafficking; firearms or explosive materials trafficking; money laundering; crimes of violence for which the term of imprisonment, even if suspended, is at least one year or more; theft or burglary; demands for ransom; child pornography; gambling; tax fraud; prostitution; transportation for prostitution purposes; commercial bribery; counterfeiting; forgery; stolen vehicle trafficking; obstruction of justice; perjury; bribery of a witness; and failure to appear to answer for a criminal offense.

Appeal from Decision of an Immigration Judge

In an appeal from a decision of an Immigration Judge, the appealing party, which could be an alien, the Department of Homeland Security, or both, states why he or she disagrees with the Immigration Judge's decision. By filing an appeal, the appealing party asks the Board of Immigration Appeals to review the Immigration Judge's decision.

Appeal from Decision of a Department of Homeland Security (DHS) District Director

In an appeal from a decision of a DHS U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services' District Director, the respondent states why he or she disagrees with a District Director's decision. By filing an appeal, the respondent asks the Board of Immigration Appeals to review the District Director's decision.

Application for Relief

Aliens may request a number of forms of relief or protection from removal such as asylum, withholding of removal, protection under the Convention Against Torture, adjustment of status, or cancellation of removal. Many forms of relief require the alien to fill out an appropriate application.

Asylum

An alien may be eligible for asylum if he or she can show that he or she is a "refugee." The INA defines a refugee as any person who is outside his or her country of nationality or, in the case of a person having no nationality, is outside any country in which such person last habitually resided, and who is unable or unwilling to return to, and is unable or unwilling to avail himself or herself of the protection of that country, because of persecution or a well-founded fear of persecution on account of race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular social group, or political opinion. Aliens generally must apply for asylum within one year of arrival in the United States. In the absence of exceptional circumstances, final administrative adjudication of the asylum application, not including administrative appeal, must be completed within 180 days after the date the application is filed.

Asylum Grants

An asylum grant allows the alien to remain in the United States and provides certain benefits and derivative asylum status for any spouse or child. An asylee can apply to the Department of Homeland Security for lawful permanent resident status under INA section 209(b) after he or she has been physically present in the United States for a period of one year after the date of the asylum grant.

Asylum-only Proceedings

Certain aliens are not entitled to a removal hearing under section 240 of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, as amended, (INA), yet these aliens are entitled to an asylum-only hearing before an Immigration Judge. If an alien who is not entitled to a removal hearing under section 240 of the INA requests asylum (and has not been granted asylum by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), if eligible), DHS will file a Form I-863, Notice of Referral to an Immigration Judge, with the Immigration Court. The Immigration Judge may not consider forms of relief other than asylum, withholding of removal, and Convention Against Torture. Aliens eligible for asylum-only hearings include crewmen, stowaways, Visa Waiver Program beneficiaries, and those ordered removed from the United States on security grounds. Asylum-only cases will be heard, to the maximum extent practical, within the same time frame as asylum claims in removal cases, i.e, within 180 days. The Board of Immigration Appeals has jurisdiction over appeals from Immigration Judge decisions in asylum-only cases. See Withholding-only Proceedings.

B

Board of Immigration Appeals

The Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) is the highest administrative body for interpreting and applying immigration laws. The BIA has been given nationwide jurisdiction to hear appeals from certain decisions rendered by Immigration Judges and by Department of Homeland Security (DHS), U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services' District Directors in a wide variety of proceedings in which the U.S. Government is one party and the other party is either an alien, a citizen, or a business firm. In addition, the BIA is responsible for the recognition of organizations and accreditation of representatives requesting permission to practice before the BIA, the Immigration Courts, and/or DHS.

Bond

The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) may detain a respondent who is in removal or deportation proceedings and may condition his or her release from custody upon the posting of a bond to ensure the respondent's appearance at the hearing. The amount of money set by DHS as a condition of release is known as a bond. A bond may be also set by an Immigration Judge as a condition for allowing a respondent to voluntarily leave the country.

Bond Redetermination Hearing

When the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) has set a bond amount as a condition for release from custody, or has determined not to release the alien on bond, the respondent has the right to ask an Immigration Judge to redetermine the bond. In a bond redetermination hearing, the Judge can raise, lower, or maintain the amount of the bond, however, the INA provides that bond of at least $1,500 is required before an alien may be released. In addition, the Immigration Judge can eliminate the bond; or change any of the conditions over which the Immigration Court has authority. The bond redetermination hearing is completely separate from the removal or deportation hearing. It is not recorded and has no bearing on the subsequent removal or deportation proceeding. The respondent and/or DHS may appeal the Immigration Judge's bond redetermination decision to the Board of Immigration Appeals.

C

Cancellation of Removal

There are two different forms of cancellation of removal:

(A) Cancellation of removal for certain lawful permanent residents who were admitted more than five years ago, have resided in the United States for seven or more years, and have not been convicted of an aggravated felony. See section 240A(a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, as amended. Application for this form of discretionary relief is made during the course of a hearing before an Immigration Judge.

(B) Cancellation of removal and adjustment of status for certain nonpermanent resident aliens who have maintained continuous physical presence in the United States for 10 years and have met all the other statutory requirements for such relief. See section 240A(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, as amended. Application for this form of discretionary relief is made during the course of a hearing before an Immigration Judge. The status of an alien who is granted cancellation of removal for certain nonpermanent resident aliens is adjusted to that of an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence.

Case

In an immigration proceeding before an Immigration Judge, a "case" involves one alien.

In an appeal before the Board of Immigration Appeals, a "case" involves one lead alien and may also include other family members.

In a proceeding before an Administrative Law Judge in the Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Office, a "case" involves a complainant and a respondent. In cases brought under Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) section 274A and section 274C, the complainant is the Department of Homeland Security, and the respondent is an employer.

In INA section 274B cases, the complainant is either the Office of Special Counsel for Immigration-Related Unfair Employment Practices or an individual employee, and the respondent is an employer. An employee is a U.S. citizen or an alien authorized to work in the United States.

Change of Venue

Immigration Judges, for good cause shown, may change venue (move the proceeding to another Immigration Court) only upon motion by one of the parties, after the charging document has been filed with the Immigration Court. The regulation provides that venue may be changed only after one of the parties has filed a motion to change venue and the other party has been given notice and an opportunity to respond.

Claimed Status Review

If an alien in expedited removal proceedings claims under oath to be a U.S. citizen, to have been lawfully admitted for permanent residence, to have been admitted as a refugee, or to have been granted asylum, and the Department of Homeland Security determines that the alien has no such claim, he or she can obtain a review of that claim by an Immigration Judge.

Coercive Population Control

The Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act (IIRIRA) of 1996 provided that those who have a well-founded fear of persecution or have suffered persecution on account of Coercive Population Control (CPC) policies can now qualify as refugees. Previously, up to a total of 1,000 refugee admissions and asylum grants were made each fiscal year to applicants who raised claims based on CPC. If applicants for asylum met the criteria for a CPC grant, they were given conditional asylum and were given a final grant of asylum when a number became available. Effective May 11, 2005, under the REAL ID Act, the annual cap was lifted on asylum grants based on CPC. See Conditional Asylum Grants.

Completions

Within the context of the Office of the Chief Immigration Judge, a matter is considered completed once an Immigration Judge renders a decision. Proceedings may also be completed for other reasons, such as administrative closures, changes of venue, and transfers.

For matters before the Board of Immigration Appeals, a case is considered completed once the Board renders a final decision.

For matters before the Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer, a case is completed when the Administrative Law Judge issues a final decision disposing of all remaining issues and the time for appeal has ended.

Conditional Asylum Grants

Section 207(a)(5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, as amended by the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996, provided that for any fiscal year no more than 1,000 aliens could be admitted as refugees or granted asylum pursuant to a determination that the alien was or would be persecuted for resistance to coercive population control methods. An alien who was eligible for a grant of asylum based on coercive population control methods received a grant conditioned on an administrative determination by the Department of Homeland Security that a number was available. Effective May 11, 2005, under the REAL ID Act, the annual cap was lifted on asylum grants based on coercive population control methods. See Coercive Population Control.

Continuance

The adjournment of a proceeding to a subsequent day or time.

A proceeding established in response to the 2001 Supreme Court's decision in Zadvydas v. Davis, in which the Immigration Judge decides whether or not the alien should remain in custody.

Convention Against Torture

On March 22, 1999, the Department of Justice implemented regulations regarding the United Nations' Convention Against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (Convention Against Torture or CAT). Under this regulation, aliens in removal, deportation, or exclusion proceedings may claim that they "more likely than not" will be tortured if removed from the United States. Among other things, the regulation provides jurisdiction to the Immigration Courts and the Board of Immigration Appeals for reviewing these claims. See Deferral of Removal and Withholding-only Proceedings.

Credible Fear Review

If an alien seeking to enter the United States has no documents or no valid documents to enter, but expresses a fear of persecution or torture, or an intention to apply for asylum, that alien will be referred to a Department of Homeland Security asylum officer for a credible fear determination. If the asylum officer determines that the alien has not established a credible fear of persecution or torture and a supervisory asylum officer concurs, the alien may request review of that determination by an Immigration Judge. That review must be concluded as expeditiously as possible, to the maximum extent practicable within 24 hours, but in no event later than seven days after the date of the determination by the supervisory asylum officer. No appeal to the Board of Immigration Appeals may be taken from the Immigration Judge's decision finding no credible fear of persecution or torture. If the Immigration Judge determines that the alien has a credible fear of persecution or torture, the alien will be placed in removal proceedings to apply for asylum.

Custody Status

Whether an alien is in actual custody (detained) or is at liberty. This Year Book describes three custody categories: detained, non-detained (EOIR has no record of the alien having been detained), and released (detained, then released on bond, recognizance, or some other condition).

D

Decision

A determination and order arrived at after consideration of facts and law, by either an Immigration Judge, the Board of Immigration Appeals, or the Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer.

Defensive Asylum Application

An asylum application initially filed with the Immigration Court after the alien has been put into proceedings to remove him or her from the United States. Contrast Affirmative Asylum Application.

Deferral of Removal

If an Immigration Judge concludes that it is more likely than not that a removable alien will be tortured in a country, but the alien is ineligible for withholding of removal under the Convention Against Torture (CAT), the alien's removal will be deferred. The alien's removal is deferred only to the country in which it has been determined that the alien is likely to be tortured. However, the alien may be removed at any time to another country where he or she is not likely to be tortured. In addition, deferral of removal is effective only until it is terminated. The major difference between deferral of removal and withholding of removal is that there is a streamlined termination process for deferral of removal.

Denials

When an Immigration Judge denies an alien's application for relief from removal.

Department of Homeland Security (DHS)

On March 1, 2003, DHS absorbed the functions of the former Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), among other agencies. Three major components of DHS have functions which relate closely to the Executive Office for Immigration Review. U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) processes all immigrant and non-immigrant benefits, incorporating the adjudication and naturalization functions of the former INS. U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) is charged with the enforcement of federal immigration laws, and includes functions of the former investigations and detention and removal components of INS. U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) absorbed the border patrol and inspections functions of the former INS. See Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Deportation Proceedings

Prior to April 1, 1997, a deportation case usually arose when the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) (now Department of Homeland Security) alleged that a respondent entered the country illegally by crossing the border without being inspected by an immigration officer. Deportation cases also occurred when INS alleged that a respondent entered the country legally with a visa but then violated one or more conditions of the visa. When INS became aware of a respondent believed to be deportable, they issued a charging document called an Order to Show Cause (OSC). An OSC is the charging document that was used prior to April 1, 1997. A deportation proceeding actually began when the OSC was filed with an Immigration Court. In such proceedings, the Government, represented by INS, had to prove that a respondent was deportable for the reasons stated in the OSC. As of April 1, 1997, deportation and exclusion proceedings were replaced by removal proceedings. Contrast Exclusion and Removal Proceedings.

Detained

The Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) maintains data on the custody status of aliens in proceedings. Detained aliens are those in the custody of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) or other entities. For the purpose of this Year Book, EOIR also includes in its statistical data on detained aliens, the number of incarcerated aliens in the Institutional Hearing Program. Immigration Court hearings for detained aliens are conducted in DHS Service Processing Centers, contract detention facilities, State and local government jails, and Bureau of Prisons institutions. See Custody Status.

Detention of an Alien

The confinement of an alien by the Department of Homeland Security or other entities.

Disposition

In immigration proceedings, the latest ruling on an alien's removability.

District Director (DD)

Under the former Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), the District Director (DD) was the highest ranking immigration official in each of the INS's 30+ districts. The INS was transferred out of the Department of Justice to the Department of Homeland Security on March 1, 2003. The DDs are located organizationally under the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services. The DD has the delegated authority to grant or deny most applications and petitions, except those that are specifically delegated to asylum officers.

Exclusion Proceedings

Prior to April 1, 1997, an exclusion case involved a person who tried to enter the United States but was stopped at the port of entry because the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) (now Department of Homeland Security) found the person to be inadmissible. The INS District Director could either detain the applicant or "parole" the applicant into the country; i.e., release from detention and allow to remain free until completion of the hearing. In either case, the applicant technically had not entered the country as a matter of law. Beginning April 1, 1997, deportation and exclusion proceedings were replaced by removal proceedings. Contrast Deportation and Removal Proceedings.

Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR)

The Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) was created on January 9, 1983, through an internal Department of Justice (DOJ) reorganization which combined the Board of Immigration Appeals with the Immigration Judge function, which was previously performed by Special Inquiry Officers of the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) (now Department of Homeland Security). The Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer (OCAHO) was added in 1987. EOIR is responsible for adjudicating immigration cases. Specifically, under delegated authority from the Attorney General, EOIR interprets and administers federal immigration laws by conducting immigration court proceedings, appellate reviews, and administrative hearings. EOIR consists of three components: the Office of the Chief Immigration Judge, which is responsible for managing the numerous immigration courts located throughout the United States where Immigration Judges adjudicate individual cases; the Board of Immigration Appeals, which primarily conducts appellate reviews of Immigration Judge decisions; and the Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer, which adjudicates immigration-related employment cases. EOIR is committed to providing fair, expeditious, and uniform application of the nation's immigration laws in all cases.

Expedited Asylum

Asylum regulations implemented in 1995 mandated that asylum applications be processed within 180 days after filing either at a Department of Homeland Security (DHS), U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services, Asylum Office or at an Immigration Court. The Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA) reiterated the 180-day rule. Consequently, expedited processing of asylum applications occurs when (1) an alien files "affirmatively" at an Asylum Office on or after January 4, 1995, and the application is referred to the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) by DHS within 75 days of the filing; or (2) an alien files an application "defensively" with EOIR on or after January 4, 1995.

F

Failure to Appear

A failure to appear is when either party to a proceeding does not arrive or make an appearance at a court proceeding. Failure to appear by the respondent may result in either an in absentia order of removal or an administrative closure. See In Absentia.

Filing

A filing occurs with the actual receipt of a document by the appropriate Immigration Court, the Board of Immigration Appeals, or the Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer.

Fines and Penalties

Certain provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act render individuals and carriers liable for transporting unauthorized aliens in the United States. Fines may be assessed by certain Department of Homeland Security officials. The respondent is notified in writing of the decision and, if adverse, of the reasons for the decision. The respondent may appeal this decision to the Board of Immigration Appeals.

Fiscal Year

A 12-month period for which an organization plans the use of its funds. In the U.S. Government, the fiscal year runs from October 1 through September 30.

G

Grant of Relief

When an Immigration Judge or the Board of Immigration Appeals awards a form of relief for which the alien has applied.

Grant of Motion

There are many types of motions in immigration proceedings. However, only two types are tracked in the Statistical Year Book: motions to reopen and motions to reconsider. A motion to reconsider is granted when an Immigration Judge or the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) allows a reconsideration of the decision based on a possible error in law or fact, or a change in the law. A motion to reopen is granted when an Immigration Judge or the BIA allows a proceeding to be reopened because of new facts or evidence in a case.

I

Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA)

Among other things, IIRIRA focused on enforcement of immigration laws by streamlining the procedures that were previously required to remove aliens from the United States. To date, IIRIRA made the most extensive and significant changes to the immigration laws of the United States since the 1952 enactment of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 (INA)

The INA consolidated previous immigration laws into one coordinated statute. As amended, the INA provides the foundation for immigration law in effect today. The INA deals with the immigration, temporary admission, naturalization, and removal of aliens.

Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS)

Until its transition to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) on March 1, 2003, INS was the agency responsible for administering immigration and nationality laws relating to the temporary admission, immigration, naturalization, and removal of aliens. Specifically, INS inspected aliens to determine their admissibility into the United States, adjudicated requests of aliens for benefits under the law, guarded against illegal entry into the United States, removed aliens in this country who were in violation of the law, examined alien applicants seeking to become citizens, and enforced immigration-related employment verification and document fraud laws. See Department of Homeland Security.

Immigration Court

Each Immigration Court is staffed with one or more Immigration Judges who conduct immigration hearings. An administrative control Immigration Court is one that creates and maintains Records of Proceedings for Immigration Courts within an assigned geographical area. Management functions of the Immigration Court are supervised by a Court Administrator.

Immigration Judge

The term Immigration Judge means an attorney whom the Attorney General appoints as an administrative judge within the Executive Office for Immigration Review, qualified to conduct specified classes of proceedings, including exclusion, deportation, removal, asylum, bond redetermination, rescission, withholding, credible fear, reasonable fear, and claimed status review. Immigration Judges act as independent decision-makers in deciding the matters before them. Immigration Judge decisions are administratively final unless appealed or certified to the Board of Immigration Appeals, or if the period by which to file an appeal lapses.

Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 (IRCA)

Among other things, IRCA addressed the problem of undocumented aliens by imposing sanctions on employers of illegal aliens, and legalizing the status of certain undocumented entrants who had arrived prior to January 1, 1982. The Immigration and Naturalization Service (now Department of Homeland Security) also was provided with significant new resources to enforce the immigration laws through IRCA. IRCA also created protections for workers against discrimination based on citizenship status and national origin.

In Absentia

A Latin phrase meaning “in the absence of.” An in absentia hearing occurs when an alien fails to appear for a hearing and the Immigration Judge conducts the hearing without the alien present and orders the alien removed from the United States. An Immigration Judge shall order removed in absentia any alien who, after written notice of the time and place of proceedings and the consequences of failing to appear, fails to appear at his or her removal proceeding. The DHS must establish by clear, unequivocal, and convincing evidence that the written notice was provided and that the alien is removable. See Failure to Appear.

Inadmissible

The Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA) replaced the term “excludable” with the term “inadmissible.” Section 212 of the Immigration and Nationality Act defines classes of aliens ineligible to receive visas and ineligible for admission. Aliens who, at the time of entry, are within one of these classes of inadmissible aliens are removable.

Institutional Hearing Program (IHP)

The Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 requires the Attorney General to expeditiously commence immigration proceedings for alien inmates convicted of crimes in the United States. To meet this requirement, the Department of Justice established the IHP where removal hearings are held inside correctional institutions prior to the alien completing his or her criminal sentence. The IHP is a collaborative effort between the Executive Office for Immigration Review and the Department of Homeland Security and various Federal, State, and local corrections agencies throughout the country.

Interlocutory Appeals

An interlocutory appeal is an appeal taken to the Board of Immigration Appeals from a preliminary ruling of an Immigration Judge before the Judge renders a final decision in the case. Common examples include rulings on the admissibility of evidence or requests to change venue.

L

Lawful Permanent Resident (LPR)

An alien who has been conferred permanent resident status.

M

Matters

Matters before the Immigration Courts and the Board of Immigration Appeals include all proceedings, bond redeterminations, and motions to reopen or reconsider.

Motion

A motion is a formal request from either party (the alien or the Department of Homeland Security) in proceedings before the Immigration Court, or the Board of Immigration Appeals, to carry out an action or make a decision. Motions include, for example, motions for change of venue, motions for continuance, motions to terminate proceedings, etc. Only motions to reopen or reconsider are currently tracked and reported in this Statistical Year Book.

N

Nationality

For purposes of the EOIR Statistical Yearbook, nationality indicates the country that the alien is from.

Nicaraguan Adjustment and Central American Relief Act of 1997 (NACARA)

Under section 202 of NACARA, certain nationals of Nicaragua and Cuba in the United States were eligible to adjust their immigration status to become lawful permanent residents. In addition, section 203 of NACARA provides special rules regarding applications for suspension of deportation and cancellation of removal by certain Guatemalan, Salvadoran, and particular former Soviet bloc nationals.

Non-detained

The status of an alien who is not in the custody of the Department of Homeland Security or the Institutional Hearing Program. See Released.

Notice to Appear (NTA)

The document (Form I-862) used by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to charge an alien with being removable from the United States. Jurisdiction vests and proceedings commence when an NTA is filed with an Immigration Court by DHS. Prior to the enactment of the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996, the charging document was known as an Order to Show Cause.

Notice of Intent To Rescind

In a rescission case, the Department of Homeland Security issues a Notice of Intent to Rescind an individual's permanent resident status, and the individual has the right to contest the charge in rescission proceedings. See Rescission Proceedings.

O

Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer (OCAHO)

OCAHO has jurisdiction over three types of cases arising under the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, as amended: (1) employer sanctions for the unlawful hiring or continued employment of unauthorized aliens; (2) immigration-related unfair employment practices; and, (3) immigration-related document fraud. OCAHO is headed by a Chief Administrative Hearing Officer who provides overall program direction, articulates policies and procedures, establishes priorities and administers the hearing process presided over by Administrative Law Judges (ALJs). OCAHO also conducts administrative review of ALJs' decisions in the areas of employer sanctions and document fraud, and may modify or vacate those ALJ decisions. Complaints are brought by the Department of Homeland Security, the Office of Special Counsel for Immigration-Related Unfair Employment Practices, or private individuals as prescribed by statute.

Office of the Chief Immigration Judge (OCIJ)

OCIJ provides overall program direction, articulates policies and procedures, and establishes priorities for Immigration Judges. In FY 2005, 214 Immigration Judges were located in 53 Immigration Courts throughout the Nation. The Chief Immigration Judge carries out these responsibilities with the assistance and support of two Deputy Chief Immigration Judges and eight Assistant Chief Immigration Judges. See Immigration Judge.

P

Pro Bono

A Latin phrase meaning “for the public good.” In a legal context, this phrase means legal representation done or performed free of charge. Because aliens in removal proceedings are not entitled to publicly-funded legal assistance, some attorneys offer their services on a pro bono basis.

Pro Se

A Latin phrase meaning that the party represents him or herself in legal proceedings without an attorney or representative.

Proceeding

The legal process conducted before the Immigration Court and Board of Immigration Appeals.

R

Reasonable Fear Review

Reasonable Fear Review proceedings are available to aliens who have been ordered removed by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) under section 238 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) (covering aliens who are not lawful permanent residents and have been convicted of an aggravated felony) and under section 241(a)(5) of the INA (covering aliens who are the subjects of previously issued final orders of removal). Under this process, an alien who has been ordered removed by DHS and expresses a fear of persecution or torture will have his or her claim screened by an asylum officer. If the asylum officer determines that the alien has not established a reasonable fear of persecution or torture, the alien may request a review of that determination by an Immigration Judge. No appeal to the Board of Immigration Appeals may be taken from the Immigration Judge’s finding that an alien does not have a reasonable fear of persecution or torture. If an Immigration Judge determines that the alien has a reasonable fear of persecution or torture, the alien will be placed in withholding-only proceedings.

Receipts

The number of judicial filings received by the Executive Office for Immigration Review. For the Immigration Courts, receipts include bond redetermination hearings, proceedings, and motions. For the Board of Immigration Appeals, receipts include case, bond, motion, and interlocutory appeals, as well as certain appeals of Department of Homeland Security decisions. For the Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer, receipts represent the number of new complaints filed.

Recognized Organization

A non-profit religious, charitable, social service, or similar organization formally recognized by the Board of Immigration Appeals as such under the provisions of 8 C.F.R. section 1292.2. See Accredited Representative.

Reconsider, Motion to

Aliens may request, by motion, the reconsideration of a case previously heard by an Immigration Judge or the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA). A motion to reconsider either identifies an error in law or fact in a prior proceeding or identifies a change in law and asks the Immigration Judge or BIA to re-examine its ruling. A motion to reconsider is based on the existing record and does not seek to introduce new facts or evidence.

Released

A released alien is an individual who was detained at some point during proceedings and subsequently was released on bond or on their own recognizance.

Relief from Removal

In hearings before an Immigration Judge, an alien may be able to seek relief from removal. Various types of relief may be sought, including asylum, withholding of removal, protection under the Convention Against Torture, cancellation of removal, or adjustment of status. Many forms of relief require the alien to fill out an appropriate application.

Removable

The Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act (IIRIRA) of 1996 replaced the terms “excludable” and “deportable” with the umbrella term “removable.” An alien may be found to be removable from the United States by an Immigration Judge or the Board of Immigration Appeals. Additionally, some aliens are determined to be removable by the Department of Homeland Security, e.g., in expedited removal or administrative removal proceedings. Only aliens found removable by the Executive Office for Immigration Review are reported in this Year Book.

Removal Proceedings

An Immigration Court proceeding begun on or after April 1, 1997, seeking to either stop certain aliens from being admitted to the United States or to remove them from the United States.

A removal case usually arises when the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) alleges that a respondent is inadmissible to the United States, has entered the country illegally by crossing the border without being inspected by an immigration officer, or has violated the terms of his or her admission. The DHS issues a charging document called a Notice to Appear and files it with an Immigration Court to begin a removal proceeding.

Reopen, Motion to

Aliens may request, by motion, the reopening of a case previously heard by an Immigration Judge or the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA). A motion to reopen asks an Immigration Judge or the BIA to consider new and previously unavailable facts or evidence in a case.

Represented

A represented individual has an attorney or accredited representative act as his agent in proceedings before the Immigration Courts or the Board of Immigration Appeals.

Rescission Proceedings

A less common type of proceeding is related to rescinding lawful permanent resident status. If, within five years of granting adjustment of status, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) discovers that the respondent/applicant was not entitled to lawful permanent resident (LPR) status when it was granted, DHS issues a Notice of Intent to Rescind. If the respondent/applicant requests a hearing before an Immigration Court, DHS will file the Notice with the Immigration Court, and the proceeding to rescind the individual's LPR status commences. As with deportation cases, the Government has the burden of proof to show that rescission is warranted. If an individual loses LPR status, he or she then is usually subject to removal proceedings. Although rescission proceedings still exist after April 1, 1997, the DHS may also place an LPR into removal proceedings. An order of removal is sufficient to rescind the alien's status. See Notice of Intent to Rescind.

Respondent

A party to an immigration proceeding against whom charges have been lodged and findings may be made.

S

Suspension of Deportation

Suspension of Deportation was a discretionary form of relief for certain aliens in deportation proceedings who had maintained continuous physical presence in the United States for seven years and had met the other statutory requirements for such relief. See former section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, as amended. Application for this relief was made during the course of a hearing before an Immigration Judge. The status of an alien who was granted this relief was adjusted to that of an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence. In 1997, the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 replaced suspension of deportation with cancellation of removal. See Cancellation of Removal, Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA).

T

Termination A termination is a type of completion in which a case is closed by an Immigration Judge or the Board of Immigration Appeals without a final order of removal or deportation. A case is terminated when the respondent is found not removable as DHS charged.

U

Unrepresented

An individual in proceedings may represent himself or herself before an Immigration Court or the Board of Immigration Appeals instead of being represented by an attorney or accredited representative. See Pro Se.

V

Visa Petition

A visa petition is the first step toward obtaining lawful permanent residence for a foreign-born individual or family. It is usually filed by a U.S. citizen, lawful permanent resident, or employer on behalf of an alien. Visa petitions filed by individuals present in the United States are adjudicated by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and, once approved, may be revoked or revalidated by DHS under certain circumstances. (Visa petitions filed by individuals outside the United States are adjudicated by the Department of State.) In some instances, if a visa petition that was filed with DHS is denied or revoked, or the revalidation of a visa petition is denied, an appeal may be taken to the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA). For visa petition appeals within the BIA's jurisdiction, DHS is initially responsible for management of the appeal, including the briefing process. The BIA's role in the appeal process does not begin until the completed record is received from DHS.

Voluntary Departure

Voluntary departure is the departure of an alien from the United States without an order of removal. The departure may or may not have been preceded by a hearing before an Immigration Judge. An alien allowed to voluntarily depart concedes removability but is not barred from seeking admission at a port of entry in the future. Failure to depart within the time granted results in a fine and a 10-year bar against the alien applying for several forms of relief from removal.

W

Withdrawal of an Appeal

An appealing party may, at any time prior to the entry of a decision by the Board of Immigration Appeals, voluntarily withdraw his or her appeal.

Withdrawal of an Application for Relief

An alien in proceedings may, at any time prior to a decision in his or her case, voluntarily withdraw any application for relief filed on his or her behalf.

Withholding of Removal

Pursuant to section 241(b)(3) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, an alien may not be removed to a particular country if the alien can establish that his or her life or freedom would be threatened in that country because of the alien's race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular social group, or political opinion. A request for asylum is deemed to include a request for withholding of removal under the applicable regulations.

Withholding-only Proceedings

An alien in administrative removal proceedings under section 238 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) (covering aliens who are not lawful permanent residents and have been convicted of an aggravated felony) and aliens subject to reinstatement of removal under section 241(a)(5) of the INA are now able to apply for withholding of removal under section 241(b)(3) of the INA, as well as under Article 3 of the Convention Against Torture, after a screening process by a Department of Homeland Security asylum officer. In a withholding-only proceeding, an Immigration Judge may only consider the alien's application for withholding of removal under section 241(b)(3) of the INA and the Convention Against Torture pursuant to 8 C.F.R. section 1208.16. The Board of Immigration Appeals has jurisdiction over appeals from Immigration Judge decisions in withholding-only cases. See Asylum-only Proceedings.
