Mongolia: Selected sections of the Mongolian criminal code in force in 1992, 1996 and 1999; selected sections of the "criminal adjective law of Mongolia" in force in 1996 and 1999
Research Directorate, Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada, Ottawa

In 14 February 2007 correspondence, a researcher at the National Legal Center in Ulaanbaatar, Mongolia provided the following sections of Mongolian legislation:

- Sections 87 and 88 of the Mongolian criminal code, which would have been in force in February 1996;
- Section 94 of the Mongolia criminal code, which would have been in force in May 1999;
- Section 111 of the Mongolian criminal code, which would have been in force in January 1992;
- Section 111 of the Mongolian criminal code, which would have been in force in January 1999; and
- Section 117 of the Mongolian criminal code, which would have been in force in February 1996.

In the same correspondence, the Researcher indicated that Mongolia does not have a "criminal adjective code" (National Legal Center of Mongolia 14 Feb. 2007).

Please consult the attached document for the selected sections of the Mongolian criminal code, which were translated by the Translation Bureau, Multilingual Translation Division, Public Works and Government Services Canada.

This Response was prepared after researching publicly accessible information currently available to the Research Directorate within time constraints. This Response is not, and does not purport to be, conclusive as to the merit of any particular claim for refugee protection.
