SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 58—URGING THE UNITED STATES TO SEEK A GLOBAL CONSENSUS SUPPORTING A MORATORIUM ON TARIFFS AND ON SPECIAL, MULTIPLE, AND DISCRIMINATORY TAXATION OF ELECTRONIC COMMERCE

Mr. WYDEN (for himself, Mr. LEAHY, and Mr. BAUCUS) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

S. RES. 58

Whereas electronic commerce is not bound by geography and its borders are not easily discernible;

Whereas transmissions over the Internet are made through packet-switching, making it impossible to determine with any degree of certainty the precise geographic route or endpoints of specific Internet transmissions and infeasible to separate interstate from interstate, and domestic from foreign, Internet transmissions;

Whereas inconsistent and inadministrable taxes imposed on Internet activity by sub-national and national governments threaten not only to subject consumers, businesses and other users engaged in interstate and foreign commerce to multiple, confusing and burdensome taxation, but also to restrict the growth and continued technological maturation of the Internet itself;

Whereas the complexity of the issue of domestic taxation of electronic commerce is compounded when considered at the global level of almost 200 separate national governments;

Whereas the First Annual Report of the United States Government Working Group on Electronic Commerce found that fewer than 10 million people worldwide were using the Internet in 1995, that more than 140 million people worldwide were using the Internet in 1998 and that more than one billion people worldwide will be using the Internet in the first decade of the next Century;

Whereas information technology industries have accounted for more than one-third of real growth in United States Gross Domestic Product over the past 3 years;

Whereas information technology industries employ more than seven million people in the United States, and by 2006, more than one-half of the United States workforce is expected to be employed in industries that are either major producers or intensive users of information technology products and services;

Whereas electronic commerce among businesses worldwide is expected to grow from $43 billion in 1998 to more than $1.3 trillion by 2003, and electronic retail sales to consumers worldwide are expected to grow from $8 billion in 1998 to more than $108 billion by 2003;

Whereas the Internet Tax Freedom Act of 1998 enacted a policy of technological neutrality and non-discrimination toward taxation of electronic commerce, and stated that United States policy should be to seek bilateral, regional and multilateral agreements to remove barriers to global electronic commerce;

Whereas the World Trade Organization, at its May 1998 Ministerial Conference, adopted a declaration that all 132 member countries "will continue their current practice of not imposing customs duties on electronic transmissions";

Whereas the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development and industry groups issued a joint declaration at its October 1998 Ministerial meeting on Global Electronic Commerce supporting the principles of technological neutrality and non-discrimination and opposing discriminatory taxation imposed on the Internet and electronic commerce;

Whereas the Committee on Fiscal Affairs of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development has stated that neutrality, efficiency, certainty and simplicity, effectiveness and fairness, and flexibility are the broad taxation principles that should be applied to electronic commerce;

Whereas the United States has issued joint statements on electronic commerce with

Australia, the European Union, France, Ireland, Japan, and Korea providing that any taxation of electronic commerce should be neutral and nondiscriminatory; and

Whereas a July 1999 United Nations Report on Human Development urged world governments to impose "bit taxes" on electronic transmissions; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Congress—

(1) urges the President to seek a global consensus supporting—

(A) a permanent international moratorium on tariffs on electronic commerce; and

(B) an international ban on special, multiple, and discriminatory taxation of electronic commerce and the Internet;

(2) urges the President to instruct the United States delegation to the November 1999 World Trade Organization ministerial in Seattle to seek to make permanent and binding the moratorium on tariffs on electronic transmissions adopted by the World Trade Organization in May 1998;

(3) urges the President to seek adoption by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development and implementation by the group's 29 member countries of an international ban on special, multiple, or discriminatory taxation of electronic commerce and the Internet; and

(4) urges the President to oppose any proposal by any country, the United Nations, or any other multilateral organization to establish a bit tax on electronic transmissions.

● Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, I am pleased to be joined by Senators LEAHY and BAUCUS to introduce today a resolution calling for an international ban on tariffs and on special, multiple and discriminatory taxes on electronic commerce and the Internet. Representative COX, with whom I have collaborated in the past on Internet-related matters, is introducing a companion resolution in the House of Representatives.

The resolution urges the President to seek a global consensus supporting a permanent international moratorium on tariffs on electronic commerce, and an international ban on special, multiple, and discriminatory taxation of electronic commerce and the Internet. The resolution urges the President to pursue the ban on tariffs through the World Trade Organization—particularly at the WTO Ministerial meeting that will be held in Seattle this November, and to pursue the moratorium on discriminatory, special, and multiple taxes on global e-commerce through the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. These positions reinforce the efforts of the U.S. Trade Representative at the WTO and of the U.S. negotiators at the OECD.

In the Internet Tax Freedom Act, enacted during the last Congress, we challenged the concept of 30,000 U.S. tax jurisdictions swamping online consumers and entrepreneurs with a crazy quilt of discriminatory taxes. But this problem is small potatoes compared to the prospect of thousands of additional discriminatory tax regimes Americans might face in nearly 200 countries around the world.

We are not going to sit by while the booming, global e-market becomes a
