EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The requirement for this annual report originated in 31 USC Section 3718, Contracts for collection services, which focuses on the use of contracts in retaining private counsel to provide legal services, including representation in negotiation, compromise, settlement, and litigation, in the case of any claim of indebtedness owed the United States. This was amended in 1996 by the Debt Collection Improvement Act (PL 104-134).

Use of private counsels in the collection of debts owed the United States has grown since the initial pilot programs in 1986, when the Attorney General was empowered to retain at least four private counsel to sue Federal debtors in each of up to ten Federal judicial districts in a pilot program to run for three years, to currently using private counsel contracts in 19 Federal judicial districts with 39 law firms participating. The Debt Collection Improvement Act of 1996 expanded the use of private counsels by stating the Attorney General has permanent authority to contract with as few or as many private counsel in as many judicial districts as he deems appropriate.

Highlights of this report include:

- In FY 2011, over 17,000 claims, worth more than $6.5 billion were referred to the Department of Justice (Department). Of that amount, almost 10,000 claims, worth over $171,000,000 were handled by private counsels.
- The Department recovered over $5.1 billion in debts in FY 2011. For overall recoveries, 53 percent of the recoveries based on dollar value came from Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) cases, while, for private counsel cases, 51 percent of their recoveries came from Department of Education cases.
- 64 percent of the number of referrals to the Department were from the Department of Education. However, Education's referrals only accounted for about 5 ½ percent of the dollar amount referred to the Department.
- The remainder of the referrals originated from over 40 other federal agencies.
- HHS made up 11 percent of the referrals in number, but in dollar value HHS accounted for 38 percent of the more than $ 6.5 billion referred to DOJ.
- In FY 2011, 96 percent of the cases referred to private counsels came from the Department of Education.

  - (A) which were collected or were not collected or otherwise resolved during the 1-year period covered by the report;
  - (B) which were not collected or otherwise resolved under a contract terminated by the Attorney General during the 1-year period covered by the report; and
  - (C) on which the Attorney General terminated the private counsel's representation during the 1-year period covered by the report without terminating the contract with the private counsel under which the claims were referred.
