Coordinated Tribal Assistance Solicitation: Fiscal Year 2014

“Through the Consolidated Tribal Assistance Solicitation we have made it easier for tribes to tap much-needed federal funding. We are making excellent progress in restoring a healthy government-to-government relationship with tribal nations, but we are far from finished with our work.” Associate Attorney General Tony West

In Fiscal Year 2010 The Department of Justice launched the Coordinated Tribal Assistance Solicitation (CTAS), which encompassed most of the Department's available Tribal government-specific grant programs. Through CTAS the Department has awarded over $436 million to hundreds of American Indian and Alaskan Native communities. The Tribes are using these funds to enhance law enforcement, bolster justice systems, prevent and control delinquency and strengthen the juvenile justice system, serve sexual assault and elder victims, and support other efforts to combat crime.

In an ongoing effort to build on the success of CTAS, DOJ asked Tribes how to further refine and improve CTAS. These responses and suggestions were incorporated into the FY 2014 solicitation.

How is the FY 2014 CTAS similar to the prior year solicitations?

This solicitation and application process will begin in December 2013 and will remain open for more than 90 days. The single application continues to include all available DOJ Tribal government-specific grant programs. The advantage of this coordinated process is that, when it reviews a Tribe's single application, the Department will have a better understanding of a Tribe's overall public safety needs. The grant-making components (the Office of Justice Programs (OJP), the Office of Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS), and the Office on Violence Against Women (OVW)) will then coordinate and collaborate in making award decisions that address these needs on a more comprehensive basis. Each Tribal government-specific competitive grant program is referred to as a “Purpose Area.” An applicant may select the Purpose Area(s) that best address its public safety, criminal and juvenile justice, and victimization needs. The DOJ grant-making components will make and administer multiple awards by Purpose Area, subject to available funding. Please remember that Tribes or Tribal consortia may be eligible for other, non-Tribal specific DOJ grant funding opportunities and may submit a separate application to any grant programs for which they may be eligible.

What changes were made to CTAS for Fiscal Year 2014?

Key changes include:

- The strategic planning program has been expanded. It also provides an opportunity for grantees to request funding in future years to implement a previously approved strategic plan.
- The Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA) will not award any planning or new construction grants under Purpose Area #4. Purpose Area #4 funding will be limited to the renovation of a facility or the completion of existing construction projects. Applicants interested in justice system planning efforts are encouraged to apply under Purpose Area #2.
- Applicable Purpose Areas have been updated to allow activities related to Tribal jurisdiction over non-Indian perpetrators of domestic violence on Tribal lands, as authorized through the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013.

Department and reviewers better understand each individual Tribe's needs.

Important demographics to include on this form are the Tribe's enrollment numbers; its current local population; the size of the reservation; the jurisdiction to be served; the unemployment rates; the crime victim services provided; the Tribe's governmental organizational structure; and the "remoteness" of the Tribe.

Crime Data: This section is designed to include data on the types of crimes common to the Tribe. If data is not available, anecdotal or alternative information about the problems identified is acceptable.

Tribal Law Enforcement Information: This data should illustrate the Tribe's current law enforcement capacity.

Tribal Facilities, Capacities and Capabilities: This section focuses on the Tribe's telecommunications technology, as well as the numbers of existing facilities such as courthouses, police stations, jails, treatment facilities, and emergency shelters.

Tribal Community & Justice Profile

Before applying for funding, applicants should review their community, public safety and justice systems to help identify gaps in services that the grant programs can address. The following areas highlight what eligible tribes need to consider as a part of their FY 2014 CTAS application.

Executive Summary: The Executive Summary is designed for the Tribes to identify which DOJ Purpose Area(s) they will apply for and if more than one is selected, how they fit together to address the overall justice and safety needs.

Tribal Narrative Profile: This profile helps illustrate the specific characteristics of a Tribe, the community strengths, resources, challenges and needs.

Demographic Form: This section is designed to capture unique characteristics of each Tribe to help the
